MOTION OF DEFENDANT AT&T
 CORP. TO FILE UNDER SEAL
 DEFENDANT AT&T CORP.'S
 MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF FILING DOCUMENTS UNDER
 SEAL [DKT. 30-32]

[Civ. L.R. 7-11, 79-5]

Courtroom: 6, 17th Floor
 Judge: Hon. Vaughn R. Walker

Filed concurrently:
 1. Declaration of Bruce A. Ericson
 2. Proposed Order

1 NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO FILE DOCUMENTS UNDER SEAL

2 TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

3 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Northern District of California Civil 4 Local Rules 7-11 and 79-5, defendant AT&T CORP. (“AT&T”) hereby moves the Court
5 for an Order allowing it to file under seal Defendant AT&T Corp.’s Memorandum in 6 Support of Filing Documents Under Seal [Dkt. 30-32] (the “Confidential Memorandum”).
7 AT&T respectfully submits that good cause exists for filing the Confidential Memorandum 8 under seal.

9 This motion is based on the following Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the 10 Declaration of Bruce A. Ericson in Support of Motion of Defendant AT&T Corp. to File 11 Under Seal Defendant AT&T Corp.’s Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of 12 Filing Documents Under Seal filed herewith (“Ericson Decl.”) and the documents in the 13 Court file.

14 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

15 I. INTRODUCTION.

16 This action arises from plaintiffs’ allegations that AT&T assists the government in 17 carrying out a surveillance program to prevent terrorist attacks on the United States. In 18 support of a motion for preliminary injunction that plaintiffs filed on April 5, 2006,
19 plaintiffs filed under seal the declaration of a former AT&T employee. The employee’s 20 declaration attaches three documents containing confidential, proprietary information (the 21 “Confidential Documents”) that he took from AT&T. The plaintiffs also filed on April 5, 22 2006 their Notice of Motion and Administrative Motion to Lodge Documents with the 23 Court Pursuant to Civil Local Rules 7-11 and 79-5 (“Plaintiffs’ Administrative Motion”) in 24 which plaintiffs argue that the Confidential Documents, and the preliminary injunction
25 papers that rely upon them (“Lodged Documents”, see Dkts. 30-32), should be made 26 publicly accessible.

27 The Confidential Documents were taken outside of the discovery process. They 28 contain confidential and proprietary AT&T information, which constitutes trade secrets.

1 AT&T therefore has filed the Confidential Memorandum in response to Plaintiffs’
2 Administrative Motion in support of its argument that the Lodged Documents remain under 3 seal. The Confidential Memorandum describes in detail the nature and content of the 4 Lodged Documents and that of the declaration of James W. Russell (filed under seal, see 5 Dkt. 42, “Confidential Russell Declaration”), which itself analyzes the Lodged Documents
6 and the impact publicly filing them would have on AT&T and its customers. As a 7 consequence, the Confidential Memorandum contains highly sensitive information that, if 8 disclosed, could result in harm to AT&T and to its customers—harm completely unrelated 9 to the allegations in plaintiffs’ complaint. Putting the Confidential Memorandum in the 10 public record would undermine the purpose of the Confidential Motion.

11 II. ARGUMENT.

12 Northern District Civil Local Rule 79-5(b) provides that counsel seeking to file 13 documents under seal may file a motion under Local Rule 7-11 and may lodge with the 14 Court documents for which sealing is requested. Civil Local Rule 79-5(a) provides that the 15 Court may order documents sealed if they are “privileged or protectable as a trade secret or 16 otherwise entitled to protection under the law” AT&T has lodged the Confidential
17 Memorandum that is the subject of this motion in the manner provided for in Civil Local 18 Rule 79-5(b). There is good cause for filing it under seal.

19 This Court has the power to seal records to protect confidential and proprietary 20 business information. Both federal and California law recognize that courts should protect 21 trade secrets or other confidential commercial information by reasonable means, and that 22 allowing the filing under seal of documents containing such information is one of these 23 means. See Civil Local Rule 79-5(a); Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c)(7) and (8) (a court may enter an 24 order protecting the confidentiality of “a trade secret or other confidential research, 25 development or commercial information,” including a direction that documents or 26 information be filed under seal); Cal. Civ. Code § 3426.5 (“a court shall preserve the 27 secrecy of an alleged trade secret by reasonable means, which may include granting 28 protective orders in connection with discovery proceedings, holding in-camera hearings,

1 sealing the records of the action, and ordering any person involved in the litigation not to 2 disclose an alleged trade secret without prior court approval”).

3 Though the courts recognize a general right to inspect and copy public records and 4 documents, including judicial records, the Supreme Court has stated that this right is 5 limited. “It is uncontested, however, that the right to inspect and copy judicial records is 6 not absolute. Every court has supervisory power over its own records and files, and access 7 has been denied where court files might have become a vehicle for improper purposes.”
8 Nixon v. Warner Communications, Inc., 435 U.S. 589, 598 (1978). In discussing examples 9 of improper purposes, the Court in Warner Communications indicated that courts are not to 10 serve as “sources of business information that might harm a litigant’s competitive 11 standing.” Id. As the Ninth Circuit has put it,

12 The law, however, gives district courts broad latitude to grant protective 13 orders to prevent disclosure of materials for many types of information, 14 including, but not limited to, trade secrets or other confidential research, 15 development, or commercial information. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c)(7).
16 Rule 26(c) authorizes the district court to issue “any order which justice 17 requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden.” The Supreme Court has interpreted this language as conferring “broad discretion on the trial court to decide when a protective order is appropriate and what degree of protection is required.”
Seattle Times Co. v. Rhinehart, 467 U.S. 20, 36 (1984).

18 Phillips v. General Motors Corp., 307 F.3d 1206, 1211 (9th Cir. 2002) (emphasis in 19 original).

20 As the Confidential Memorandum explains, publicly filing the Lodged Documents
21 in this action would harm AT&T’s competitive standing by disclosing proprietary processes 22 and techniques developed through investment of substantial AT&T resources. Allowing 23 public access to the Lodged Documents would make the Court a “vehicle for improper 24 purposes” in other ways as well. As the Confidential Russell Declaration explains, making 25 the Lodged Documents public would expose AT&T to a variety of physical and electronic 26 threats, including disruption of service, interception of data and theft of AT&T customer
27 information. Exposure to these threats would harm both AT&T and its customers. Ericson 28 Decl. ¶ 5.

1 The Lodged Documents contain detailed non-public information about critical 2 communications infrastructure operated by AT&T. Id. ¶ 3. The information contained in 3 the Lodged Documents is confidential and proprietary, and has value to AT&T not 4 generally known to the public or AT&T’s competitors. Id. ¶ 4. AT&T takes great care in 5 preserving the confidentiality of the Confidential Documents. Id. ¶ 5. Public disclosure of 6 their contents would endanger AT&T’s ability to provide services and carry out its business
7 activities. Id. The Confidential Memorandum describes the contents of the Lodged 8 Documents in great detail. Publicly filing it would injure AT&T in the same way that 9 publicly filing the Lodged Documents would. Id. ¶ 6.

10 In Nixon, the Supreme Court asserted that “the decision as to access is one best left 11 to the sound discretion of the trial court, a discretion to be exercised in light of the relevant 12 facts and circumstances of the particular case.” Nixon, 435 U.S. at 599. In Phillips, the 13 Ninth Circuit said much the same thing. Phillips, 307 F.3d at 1211. The relevant facts and 14 circumstances of this case argue for sealing the Confidential Memorandum. Doing so will 15 protect the interests of both AT&T and those that rely on its services.

1 III. CONCLUSION.

2 For the foregoing reasons, AT&T submits that good cause exists for the filing of the 3 Confidential Memorandum under seal and respectfully requests that the Court so order.
