Dear Jeremy:

The following is a detailed explanation of the approved use of retired players for the upcoming video games per our discussion at E3. The Addendum that was signed last July was a three year Agreement that granted Electronic Arts the right to use the images and identities of the players listed in Attachments A and B (both documents were sent with the Addendum). For all retired players that are not listed in either Attachment A or B, their identity must be altered so that it cannot be recognized. Regarding paragraph 2 of the pending License Agreement between Electronic Arts and Players Inc, a players' identity is defined as his name, likeness (including, without limitation, number), picture, photograph, voice, facsimile signature and/or biographical information. Hence, any and all players not listed in Attachment A or B cannot be represented in Madden 2002 with the number that the player actually wore, and must be scrambled.

Along those same lines, the only active players that can be included in the licensed product, are those players who have given their licensing rights to Players Inc. Substituting a players name with their jersey number is not acceptable. If a player has not given his rights to Players Inc, his identity, as defined above, cannot be used within the game. If you have any questions regarding this matter, please contact me at (202) 496-2865.

Sincerely,

LaShun Lawson

STIPULATION REGARDING TESTIMONY OF JOEL LINZNER

1 Defendants National Football League Players Association and National Football
2 League Players Incorporated d/b/a/ Players Inc (collectively, "Defendants"), and Plaintiffs
3 Bernard Paul Parrish, Herbert Anthony Adderley, and Walter Roberts III (collectively, 4 "Plaintiffs"), hereby respectfully submit this Stipulation regarding the timing of testimony of 5 third-party witness Joel Linzner of Electronic Arts, Inc., ("EA") and the authenticity and/or 6 admissibility of specific evidence relating to EA:

7 STIPULATION

8 WHEREAS, Joel Linzner, an employee of Electronic Arts, Inc. ("EA"), has been 9 deposed in this matter;

10 WHEREAS, Mr. Linzner is within the subpoena power of this Court and has been 11 subpoenaed by Plaintiffs to appear at the trial beginning October 20 and to testify during 12 Plaintiffs' case in chief;

13 WHEREAS, counsel for EA has advised counsel for the parties that Mr. Linzner
14 has a long scheduled trip to Europe planned for the week of October 20, but will return on 15 October 27; and

16 WHEREAS, Mr. Linzner is identified on Defendants' Pretrial Disclosures as a 17 witness Defendants expect to call.

18 NOW THEREFORE the parties, through their respective counsel, hereby stipulate 19 that:

- 20 (1) Plaintiffs shall withdraw their subpoena on Mr. Linzner requiring his 21 appearance on October 20;
- 22 (2) Plaintiffs shall withdraw any and all other subpoenas previously served 23 upon EA (including the subpoena requiring EA to produce certain 24 documents and things on October 20), and Plaintiffs agree that they will 25 not seek to issue any other subpoena directed at EA or any EA witness in 26 connection with their case in chief in this matter, with the parties reserving
27 their respective rights in connection with Plaintiffs' ability to call an EA 28 witness in a rebuttal case, if any;
- (3) Notwithstanding the above, Plaintiffs shall serve Mr. Linzner with a new subpoena requiring his appearance at 8:00 a.m. on October 29, 2008;

- (4) The parties agree that Mr. Linzner’s testimony may be taken out of order, and Plaintiffs may call him as a witness on October 29, and the parties shall work with the Court to schedule his testimony efficiently on that day. Mr. Linzner shall be called as a witness only once during the trial, and Plaintiffs may examine him first, but Defendants' examination of Mr. Linzner shall not be limited by the scope of Plaintiffs' examination and may cover any subject that is otherwise permissible;
- (5) Defendants agree that Plaintiffs may read or play video excerpts from the deposition of Mr. Linzner during their case in chief as though he were “unavailable” under Rule 804(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, and Defendants shall be allowed to counter-designate excerpts;

- (7) Defendants agree to the authenticity of a document attached as Exhibit “B” hereto (EA000153-56) evidencing an email chain between and among EA personnel and employees of the Defendants spanning from June 2005 to August 2005, and, without waiving any other objection Defendants may have as to the admissibility of all or any portion of such document, and without waiving Plaintiffs’ right to seek to offer such email chain into evidence in their case in chief, that the portions of the email chain in the document that constitute emails from LaShun Lawson constitute statements by an employee of a party within the scope of her employment within the meaning of FRE 801(d)(2)(D), and that the portions of the email chain in the document that constitute emails from EA personnel were communications made within the scope of such person’s duties for EA;
- (8) Defendants agree that the list of Madden NFL games attached as Exhibit “C” are authentic and admissible in evidence and that such games may be used by Plaintiffs at any time during their case in chief.

to the
Stipulation Regarding Testimony Of Joel Linzner

May 31, 2001

Jeremy Strauser
Electronic Arts -- Tiburon
2301 Lucien Way, Suite 395
Maitland, FL 32751

Dear Jeremy:

The following is a detailed explanation of the approved use of retired players for the upcoming video games per our discussion at E3. The Addendum that was signed last July was a three year Agreement that granted Electronic Arts the right to use the images and identities of the players listed in Attachments A and B (both documents were sent with the Addendum). For all retired players that are not listed in either Attachment A or B, their identity must be altered so that it cannot be recognized. Regarding paragraph 2 of the pending License Agreement between Electronic Arts and Players Inc, a players' identity is defined as his name, likeness (including, without limitation, number), picture, photograph, voice, facsimile signature and/or biographical information. Hence, any and all players not listed in Attachment A or B cannot be represented in Madden 2002 with the number that the player actually wore, and must be scrambled.

Along those same lines, the only active players that can be included in the licensed product, are those players who have given their licensing rights to Players Inc. Substituting a players name with their jersey number is not acceptable. If a player has not given his rights to Players Inc, his identity, as defined above, cannot be used within the game. If you have any questions regarding this matter, please contact me at (202) 496-2865.

Sincerely,

LaShun Lawson

NFL Player, "NFL" as his team, the correct year and the correct record.
No name, no team, no uniform number.

I assume we can still do Team and Year, but we need to remove name and number.

We can refer to Dan Marino as "Dolphins QB", but for year it will be left blank.

Does this work?

Subject: NFL Record Book (in Madden) question

We are designing a feature in Madden where there will be a living record book with all the pre-set NFL records, by game, by season and by career.
As you progress in your career you can break these records with players in the game, but from a default starting point we would like to use the real NFL records. Obviously many records are held by players no longer in the league. Our legal group has come back and said that we can legally display this information, including the record holder's name and info since it is factual real-world data. However before proceeding I wanted to run this by you.

What do you think? I know that Players INC doesn't want us to include any retired players "in the game" - but in this case given that it is factual, real word information that is readily available, our hope is that you would agree with us that this particular feature is made much stronger by including the text display of the record data. To confirm, this is text display only as you would see in an actual record book, newspaper or online.

Let me know when you can.

Thanks.

EXPERT REPORT OF
DANIEL A. RASCHER

13 I. QUALIFICATIONS

14 I am Director of Academic Programs for the Sport Management Master's Program and 15 Associate Professor at the University of San Francisco ("USF"). I teach courses in sport economics 16 and finance to graduate students. I am also a Managing Partner of OSKR, LLC, an economic 17 consulting firm specializing in applying economic analysis to complex legal issues as well as 18 President of SportsEconomics, LLC, ("SportsEconomics") an economic, finance, and marketing
19 research consulting firm focused on the sports industry. Formerly, I was an Assistant Professor at USF
20 and an Assistant Professor at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. I was also previously 21 Principal at LECG, LLC, a provider of expert economic consulting and testimony.

22 I received a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of California at Berkeley. I have 23 published numerous articles in the field of sports economics and finance and have worked on dozens of 24 projects involving the sports industry and other industries. My curriculum vitae is attached to this 25 report in Appendix B.

1 that the development of customer loyalty and brand value is partially based on historical teams and
2 players.² Additionally, in the Madden football video game by Electronic Arts, Inc. ("EA"), it is 3 possible to use retired players in the game,³ which indicates that there is value to EA in having the 4 retired players in the game. In fact, correspondence from Andy Feffer, COO of the NFLPA, 5 indicates that the NFLPA/NFLPI received money for this value, albeit at below market rates.⁴ As 6 another example, retro-themed jerseys helped drive the sale of NFL merchandise in 2006, which
7 demonstrates the continued popularity of the NFL's past.⁵ Along these lines, Sports Illustrated
8 recently featured a story on "How Johnny Unitas and Raymond Berry Invented the Modern NFL."⁶

9
10 2) Do the NFLPA/NFLPI LM-2 documents reflect the licensing revenues that have actually been paid to players?

11 From the detail in the LM-2's, I have been able to determine what the NFLPA reported as total
12 gross licensing revenue received in each year, 2003-2007, and the amounts paid to players.⁷ For 13 example, in 2007, the total group licensing revenue received, as reported on the NFLPA's LM-2, was 14 $49.8 million, and the total amount disbursed to players was reported as $26.9 million. I have 15 summarized the five years from 2003 – 2007 in Exhibit 1 in Appendix A.

16 To understand the actual division of the NFL players' licensing revenue, I reviewed

25 ⁷ In determining this figure, I have distinguished "Royalties," which I have assumed is Group Licensing
26 revenue from "Player Marketing," which I have assumed is licensing revenue for five or fewer players. See 27 Deposition of Glenn M. Eyrich, February 12, 2008 ("Eyrich Deposition"), pp. 64 – 69. See also notes to 28 Exhibit 1 for more detail.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT OF
DANIEL A. RASCHER

10 This report is submitted pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(e)(2) and this Court's 11 standing orders for the purpose of identifying additional material identified since the filing of my 12 previous reports and/or deposition.¹ I have previously submitted two expert reports, one on May 23
13 ("Expert Report") and a reply report ("Reply Report") on July 26, and identified the materials on 14 which I relied for the opinions expressed in those reports. Since then, I have identified sources that 15 provide additional support for my previously stated opinions. This supplemental report identifies 16 those sources, which are also documented in Appendix A.

15 _____
16 ¹ My understanding of this rule is that any additions or changes to the information an expert relied upon in an expert
17 report or during deposition must be disclosed by the time the party's pretrial disclosures under Rule 26(a)(3) are due.
18 Counsel informs me that this deadline has been extended to August 27, 2008.

1 First, since I filed my two expert reports, I performed an econometric analysis based on data
2 which I had previously used in my academic work showing the relationship between past Super Bowl
3 victories and team's licensing rankings. This analysis (along with the supporting materials) was 4 disclosed prior to my deposition, and I was asked questions about it and its underlying sources by 5 Defendants' counsel during my deposition.

6 Second, I have been provided with a summary exhibit of 581 class members whose names and 7 numbers do not appear in the Madden 2007, but for whom a near-substitute (un-named players with 8 virtually the same height, weight, years of service, team, and position) is included in the game. I
9 did not prepare this list, but I have reviewed the list generally for accuracy. I have also reviewed
10 the underlying materials that were used to create it, including (i) the 2007 Madden Game for the 11 PC; (ii) the retired player GLAs produced by Defendants in this case and (iii) several books used for 12 statistical reference: (a) the ESPN Pro Football Encyclopedia (second edition),² and Total Football
13 II: The Official Encyclopedia of the National Football League.³ I rely upon this list to the extent
14 that it supports and expands on the points raised in my Expert Report and in that section of my 15 Reply Report in which I referenced sixteen such players with near-substitutes included in the game.⁴
16 The list provides further support for my opinion that retired players' identities (or, in the case of

17 ² Pete Palmer is recognized as an accepted authority in the sports industry and his books, including, The ESPN Pro
18 Football Encyclopedia, are cited to by peer-reviewed economics and business literature. I have spoken with Doug
19 Drinen, the person responsible for the www.pro-football-reference.com website, a website relied on in my July 26th
20 report, and he confirmed that the statistical information on his website was taken directly from the ESPN Pro Football Encyclopedia.

³ Total Football II: The Official Encyclopedia of the National Football League., Matthew Silverman (Managing Editor), edited by Bob Carroll, Michael Gershman, David Nofi, John Thorn, and the Elias Sports Bureau. HarperCollins Publishers, 1999. This encyclopedia relies on work by the Elias Sports Bureau, as well as archival research in hundreds of libraries. Moreover, Jim Gigliotti of NFL Properties "cycballcd every word" (page vii) and the National Football League was "an active participant in its creation." (page 1).
