Scot,

Following up on Geoff's message, I wanted to touch base with regard to the trial start date. We've requested that you agree to a start date of November 8 because David Boies has another trial that is now expected to last until or even shortly after November 1. As stipulated last week, the trial will still conclude within the originally scheduled six week window. Schedules presumably have long been set based on the six-week trial period, and we are not departing from that.

Even if you do not agree with this reasoning, I would hope you would reconsider your position if nothing else as a matter of professional courtesy to a fellow litigator.
Thanks,
Steve
