Re: Don Nelson

Dear Mark,

As you know, Don claims that the Club breached the agreement that you and he made when you asked him to resign, by not paying $200,000 annually to which he would have been entitled.

In any case, Don asserts that the written Agreement had been breached when he was not permitted to function as General Manager and later as Coach, and as well that the Consultant provision was breached.

Floyd has been gracious and intelligent as we discuss Don's issues, and I would only ask that you give him the authority to settle this amicably. You and Don are both strong individuals, and haven't always agreed, but together you resurrected a franchise like never before. You should both be proud and continue a constructive professional relationship into the coming years. Don will always wish the best of success for you and Donnie as you continue, and he therefore asks for your consideration here.

Very truly yours,

John D. O'Connor,
Attorney for Don Nelson
