UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN FRANCISCO DIVISION

AMCO INSURANCE COMPANY,
Plaintiff,
v.
EUREKA OXYGEN COMPANY,
Defendant.

Case No. 10-cv-01257 NC

ORDER GRANTING ELLEBRECHT'S
MOTION TO EXCLUDE REFERENCES TO "COOKING EQUIPMENT"

Re: Dkt. No. 102

Jury Trial: May 7, 2012

Janice Ellebrecht moves to exclude from trial any references to her alleged failure to properly inspect and maintain her cooking equipment, because such a claim of negligence is vague and overly broad based on the third-party complaint that Eureka brings against her. Eureka opposes the motion, arguing that evidence of Ellebrecht's failure to maintain her cooking equipment is relevant and probative of the claims at issue, and that Ellebrecht provides no legal authority in support of her motion. Because the only cooking equipment at issue in this case is the deep fat fryer and the fire-suppression system on the fryer, Ellebrecht's motion is GRANTED.

Ellebrecht notes that Eureka's third-party complaint against her states that she was negligent because she allegedly failed to turn off the deep fat fryer in her restaurant before she left for the night. Ellebrecht's Mot. at 2, Dkt. No. 102. Ellebrecht argues that Eureka improperly contended in the parties' joint pretrial statement that Ellebrecht failed to properly maintain her

1 “restaurant cooking equipment,” because until the date on which the pretrial statement was filed,
2 no party had suggested that Eureka’s negligence claims against Ellebrecht concerned any cooking
3 equipment other than the deep fat fryer. Id. at 2. Ellebrecht adds that none of the experts in the 4 case discussed the maintenance or inspection of Ellebrecht’s cooking equipment generally. Id. at 5 3.

6 Eureka responds that its claims of negligence against Ellebrecht have been both “specific
7 and broad,” and that it has always claimed that Ellebrecht caused the fire. Eureka’s Resp. at 3,
8 Dkt. No. 107. Eureka argues that none of the experts in the case have testified that “there was no
9 evidence of problems with the cooking equipment itself,” and that Ellebrecht and her experts put 10 cooking equipment at issue by testifying about a possible gas leak and various components of the 11 deep fat fryer. Id. at 3-6. Finally, Eureka argues that it would be prejudiced if references to 12 Ellebrecht’s inspection and maintenance of her cooking equipment are excluded from trial, as 13 such references are relevant to and probative of the ultimate issues in the case. Id. at 6.

14 The Court finds that, based on the operative pleadings, the only cooking equipment at 15 issue in this case is the deep fat fryer and the fire-suppression system on the fryer. In Eureka’s
16 third-party complaint against Ellebrecht, Eureka alleges that Ellebrecht was negligent with 17 respect to the deep fat fryer. See Dkt. No. 6 ¶ 6. Although Eureka incorporates by reference in its 18 third-party complaint AMCO’s allegations of negligence against Eureka, these allegations are 19 limited to the deep fat fryer and the fire-suppression system on the fryer. See Dkt. No. 1 ¶¶ 7-9.
20 Because Eureka has not established that cooking equipment other than the fryer or the fire-
21 suppression system on the fryer has ever been at issue, any references to “cooking equipment”
22 generally will be excluded from trial under Federal Rule of Evidence 403, as such references are 23 very likely to mislead the jury or waste time.

24 IT IS SO ORDERED.
