INTRODUCTION

- Plaintiff brings this action on behalf of himself and other similarly situated 1. businesses and persons in California and nationwide who were contacted by Yelp regarding the option to advertise on Yelp and were subsequently subject to the manipulation of the reviews of their businesses during the four years prior to the commencement of this lawsuit, through the final resolution of this lawsuit. This class action challenges Defendants' unfair and unethical conduct in promoting, marketing, and advertising its website as maintaining nonbiased reviews, and Defendants' unfair and unlawful conduct directed towards businesses and their owners.
- Defendant's website allows users to post reviews of businesses. Users are able to 2. rank businesses using a star rating of one (1) to five (5) stars with five (5) stars being the highest. The business is then given an overall star rating based on the total number of user reviews. Defendant's website draws over 25 million people each month, who are able to search for and review the public ratings of businesses.1
- Defendant's website represents that "Yelp is the fun and easy way to find, review, 3. and talk about what's great - and not so great, in your area," that Yelp is "Real People. Real Reviews," and that its purpose is to "connect people with great local businesses."
- Defendant allows business owners to set up free accounts, however, Defendant 4. makes money by selling advertisements to local businesses. Yelp states on its website that "[p]aying advertisers can also promote a favorite review at the top of their Yelp page, but can never change or re-order other reviews." Defendant also states that, "Yelp has an automated filter that suppresses a small portion of reviews -it targets those suspicious ones you see on other sites."
- Users who posted reviews on Defendant's website are required to maintain an 5. account. When logged into his or her personal profile, the user is able to view reviews he or she has posted even if Yelp's system has removed them from the public review page for the business. Accordingly, the posting user may not realize that his or her review has been removed by Yelp.

<sup>1/</sup> Defendant's website states that "As of December 2009, more than 26 million people visited Yelp in the past 30 days."

6. Defendant offers for free, and thereby induces businesses to sign up for a Yelp business account. A Yelp Business account allows a business to post offers, announcements, business information and photos, message customers, and respond to reviews. Yelp further offers businesses with Yelp accounts the opportunity to designate the business under certain Yelp search categories, which allow Yelp users to search for the business under the applicable category. After a business promotes itself on Yelp, the business begins to receive reviews.

- 7. Upon information and belief, once a business is actively receiving reviews on Yelp, Yelp starts to manipulate the overall rating and presentation of the business by deleting positive reviews from business page or/and posting negative reviews on the top of the review page.
- After the overall rates or/and presentation of a business decline, Defendant will contact the businesses and offer it the opportunity to purchase advertising. Upon information and belief, Defendant induces businesses to pay for "Yelp's Targeted Advertising program" in amounts ranging from $300 to $1,000 per month. In exchange, Yelp offers to put the business's review page at the top of a Search Result and on the business's competitor's review pages, promising the business that it will receive approximately 600 to 3,600 page shows per month. Upon information and belief, if the business declines Yelp's offer, Yelp continues to manipulate the overall rating by removing most of positive reviews, which causes the business's overall star rating to fall. As the result, there are fewer Yelp users viewing the business page.
- 9. Upon information and belief, once a business's reviews are manipulated by Yelp, the business itself is impacted either by a loss of revenue or by the requirement of paying hundreds of dollars each month for advertising on Yelp.
- 10. Defendant maintains that reviews may only be removed from Yelp if: 1) A user removes the review; 2) Yelp removes the review for violating the Review Guidelines or Terms of Service; or 3) "The review may have been suppressed by Yelp's automated software system. This system decides how established a particular reviewer is and whether a review will be shown based on the reviewer's involvement on Yelp. While this may seem unfair to you, this system is designed to protect both consumers and businesses alike from fake reviews (i.e., a malicious review from a competitor or a planted review from an employee). The process is entirely automated to avoid human bias, and it affects both positive and negative reviews. It's important to note that these reviews are not deleted (they are always shown on the reviewer's public profile) and may reappear on your business page in the future."

- 11. Relying on Defendants' representations that reviews would not be removed from Yelp unless one of the three criteria was met, businesses and/or their owners declined Yelp's solicitation that the businesses buy advertisements. Upon information and belief, once a business declines Yelp's advertisement offer, Yelp manipulates the reviews of the business.
- 12. Upon information and belief, to further induce businesses to advertise, Yelp offers businesses the opportunity to manipulate reviews in exchange for the business's purchase of advertisements. To ensure this placement, and to ensure that Yelp will not manipulate reviews in a way that adversely impacts business, a business owner pays for advertisements.
- 13. As a result, business owners who were contacted by Yelp suffered injury in fact by either paying for advertising or losing business if they did not.

THE PARTIES

- 14. Plaintiff Boris Levitt, a resident of San Mateo County, owns a business called Renaissance Furniture Restoration, which is located in San Francisco, California.
- 15. Defendant Yelp is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in San Francisco, California. Yelp is licensed to do, and is doing, business in California and throughout the United States. At all relevant times, Yelp offered its services to businesses and persons nationwide.
- 16. Plaintiff is unaware of the true names and capacities of DOES 1-100, inclusive, but is informed and believes, and thereon alleges, that each of the DOE Defendants is responsible for the acts and obligations, and or should be subject to and bound by the declarations and judicial determinations sought herein. When Plaintiff learns the true names and capacities of DOE Defendants, it will amend this Complaint accordingly.

VENUE AND JURISDICTION

17. Jurisdiction and venue is proper in San Francisco County because Defendant maintains its principal place of business in this county.

GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

- 18. At all relevant times, Defendant made its review and advertising services available to business owners nationwide.
- 19. Defendant's website contains language explicitly stating that user business reviews will only be removed as a result of user conduct or if an automated nonbiased software system removes the reviews. Defendant's website also contains language explicitly stating that it will not remove negative reviews or move a review to the bottom of the webpage if a business pays for advertising.
- 20. Upon information and belief, Defendant's representations regarding the removal and placement of reviews are false.
- 21. Upon information and belief, business reviews are subject to manipulation by Defendant.
- 22. Upon information and belief, whether Defendant manipulates the reviews of businesses depends on whether a business or person pays for advertising on Yelp.
- 23. Upon information and belief, Defendant's manipulation of reviews caused Plaintiff and the Class injuries as set forth below.

Plaintiff's Experience with Yelp

- 24. On or about May 13, 2009, Plaintiff contacted Yelp to inquire about why a positive review of his business disappeared.
- 25. On or about May 13, 2009, "Kris" from Yelp User support wrote Plaintiff back and included the following explanation:

 We decided early on that Yelp wasn't going to be another anonymous review site where everyone is given credibility whether they've earned it or not. We created an automated system that decides how much trust to instill in a particular reviewer. If the reviewer isn't involved with Yelp, it's awfully hard for our software to have much confidence in the reviewer and so it may not display that review. It's important to note that these reviews are not deleted (they are always shown on the reviewer's public profile) and may reappear on your business listing page in the future. While this is may seem unfair to you, please know that this system is also in place to try to protect you from an untrustworthy review from a malicious competitor. While not perfect, we are committed to improving our site to keep Yelp useful for both consumers and businesses alike. We created a blog that explains our practices in more detail; please take a look here: http://officialblog.yelp.com/2009/02/9-myths-about-yelp.html

- 26. That same day, Plaintiff responded to the Yelp message, and requested that Yelp restore the positive review. Plaintiff also noted that the customer who posted the review had inquired about why it had disappeared.
  - 27. Kris responded and included the following response:

Because the system is totally automated, unfortunately I don't have the ability to evaluate or reinstate specific reviews. However I will be sending your information to our engineering team so that they can make sure everything is working properly. They are always refining our system and sometimes it does misfire. I'm sorry I can't be of more direct assistance but wanted you to know that we're taking your feedback to heart as we continue to improve the system.

- 28. In July 2009, Plaintiff was contacted twice by phone by a female Yelp sales representative who wanted Plaintiff to purchase advertising from Yelp.
- 29. During the second telephone conversation, the sales representative told Plaintiff that his business was doing very well on Yelp because in July alone his business had 261 Yelp page views, but that Plaintiff's business would have an even greater number of Yelp page views if Plaintiff paid Yelp at least $300.00 a month to advertise. In response, Plaintiff told the sales representative that he felt that he did not need to advertise on Yelp because there was a high volume of users reviewing his business page, and his business had an overall rating of 4.5 stars. He also asked the sales representative if Yelp could restore the 5-star review that had disappeared during last several months.

- 30. At the time Plaintiff was contacted by the sales representative, he had seven (7) 5-star reviews, one (1) 4-star review, and one (1) 1-star review.
- 31. Two days after Plaintiff's conversation with Yelp's employees where he declined to purchase advertising from the Yelp sales representative, six (6) out of the seven (7) 5-star reviews were removed from his business page leaving Plaintiff with an overall star-rating of 3.5 stars. As a result, during the month of August, Plaintiff's business Yelp page received only 158 page views as opposed to the 261 page views Plaintiff's business experienced in July of 2009. Since then Plaintiff's business revenues experienced a decline that corresponded almost directly to the decline in page views.
- 32. In addition, and following Plaintiff's decision to decline to purchase Yelp advertising, Defendant removed Plaintiff's business from the categories of services he had designated on his business account and restricted him to one and only one category. Upon information and belief, if Plaintiff had advertized with Yelp as a paying customer, the restriction would have been lifted.
- 33. Since Plaintiff declined to purchase advertising from Yelp, every 5-star review that has been posted by Plaintiff's clients on his Yelp business page has been removed 2-3 days after the Yelp user has posted his or her review of Plaintiff's services. As of the filing of this Complaint, ten (10) out of eleven (11) of the 5-star reviews have been removed from Plaintiff's business's Yelp review page.

Other Businesses and Person's Experiences with Yelp

34. Upon information and belief, Defendant manipulated the reviews for hundreds of other businesses after a person or business spoke to a Yelp customer service representative about advertising on Yelp, as it can be seen on Yelp's own review page, where hundreds of business owners and Yelp users express their opinion about Yelp.

not subject to Defendant's manipulation.

- 40. Typicality: Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the Class, and Plaintiff has no interests that are adverse or antagonistic to the interests of the other members of the Class.
- 41. Adequacy of Representation: Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the other members of the Class. Plaintiff is committed to prosecuting this Class Action and has retained competent counsel experienced in litigation of this nature.
- 42. Superiority of Class Action: A class action is superior to other available means for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. Individual joinder of all Class Members is not practicable, and questions of law and fact common to the Class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members of the Class. Each Class Member has been damaged and is entitled to recovery by reason of Defendants' unfair business practices, misleading advertisements, and misrepresentations. Class action treatment will allow those similarly situated persons to litigate their claims in the manner that is most efficient and economical for the parties and the judicial system.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff Boris Levitt prays for relief as follows:

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

(Violation of Business & Professions Code § 17200 et seq.)

(Plaintiff Levitt v. Defendant Yelp! Inc.)

- 43. Plaintiff incorporates by reference paragraphs 1 through 42 inclusive, as though fully set forth herein.
  - 44. Plaintiff asserts this cause of action on behalf of himself and the Class.
- 45. California Business & Professions Code § 17200 et seq. prohibits unfair competition that is any unfair, unlawful or a fraudulent business practice.
- 46. Defendant made deceptive statements and misrepresentations on its website and through its customer service representatives regarding the fact that Yelp reviews were not manipulated by Yelp or the employees of Yelp.

- 47. Defendant offered to or did in fact manipulate the reviews of businesses following the offer of advertising to each of the Class members in violation of public policy.
- 48. Defendant unlawfully attempted to and or did in fact commit extortion by unlawfully using fear (the removal of positive yelp reviews) to induce the Class members to pay for advertising on Yelp.
- 49. Accordingly, Defendant has violated Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq., proscription against engaging in unfair and unlawful business practices and Plaintiff and the Class members are entitled to injunctive relief and equitable relief in the form of restitution and disgorgement of all earnings, profits, compensation and benefits Defendant obtained as a result of such unfair and unlawful business practices.
- 50. As a result of the conduct described above, Defendant has been and will be unjustly enriched at the expense of Plaintiff and the Class. Specifically, Defendant has been unjustly enriched by receiving substantial monies and profits from advertisements paid for by business owners hoping to avoid negative manipulations of their reviews.
