

EXHIBIT Q

Find friends. Download demos. Join the conversation.

Join Now Login

- PLAYSTATION.BLOG
- PLAYSTATION.BLOG SHARE

QUICK UPDATES // <http://twitter.com/PlayStation/statuses/24037741452> // PSB on Twitter

Mar
28

PS3 Firmware (v3.21) Update

Posted by Patrick Seybold // Sr. Director, Corporate Communications & Social Media

The next system software update for the PlayStation 3 (PS3) system will be released on April 1, 2010 (JST), and will disable the “Install Other OS” feature that was available on the PS3 systems prior to the current slimmer models, launched in September 2009. This feature enabled users to install an operating system, but due to security concerns, Sony Computer Entertainment will remove the functionality through the 3.21 system software update.

In addition, disabling the “Other OS” feature will help ensure that PS3 owners will continue to have access to the broad range of gaming and entertainment content from SCE and its content partners on a more secure system.

Consumers and organizations that currently use the “Other OS” feature can choose not to upgrade their PS3 systems, although the following features will no longer be available;

- Ability to sign in to PlayStation Network and use network features that require signing in to PlayStation Network, such as online features of PS3 games and chat
- Playback of PS3 software titles or Blu-ray Disc videos that require PS3 system software version 3.21 or later
- Playback of copyright-protected videos that are stored on a media server (when DTCP-IP is enabled under Settings)
- Use of new features and improvements that are available on PS3 system software 3.21 or later

For those PS3 users who are currently using the “Other OS” feature but choose to install the system software update, to avoid data loss they first need to back-up any data stored within the hard drive partition used by the “Other OS,” as they will not be able to access that data following the update.

Additional information about PS3 firmware updates, including v3.21 (once it becomes available), can be found here:
<http://us.playstation.com/support/systemupdates/ps3/index.htm>

PS3 owners who have further questions should contact Consumer Services:
<http://us.playstation.com/support/ask/>
800-345-7669 (800-345-SONY)

Tagged // firmware, ps3

Filed: Firmware, PlayStation 3, PlayStation Hardware

■ ■ (Average: 1.53 out of 5)

From my perspective, Sony is clearly *able* to remove features from its products, but it's a terrible PR move.

On the other hand, hackers like Geohot shouldn't be flaunting these hacks (at the very least it would be a nice courtesy to let sony know ahead of time so they can formulate a patch that lets people keep the otherOS setting while not allowing people to "hack" the console any further).

So I think in this situation both SONY and Geohot have committed grievous errors and should both be blamed severely (albeit for slightly different reasons as discussed above)

184

Pathard | March 28th, 2010 at 7:15 pm

Sweet! :D

185

Sakimori X | March 28th, 2010 at 7:15 pm

I was really hoping for 3D support... :(

186

Tratious | March 28th, 2010 at 7:15 pm

oh well, I don't use it anyway so I don't care about it.

187

thechampion116 | March 28th, 2010 at 7:16 pm

Sorry to intrude BUT,

I'm telling you all these people posting right now and complaining don't use or won't use the feature anyways.

You didn't lose anything except now your trying to be cool on the internet.

This was obviously implemented to stop hacking and is the right move by a company running a business that needs to stop piracy.

188

NotSoSilent | March 28th, 2010 at 7:16 pm

How long till 3.30 Firmware that will remove BC from the earlier ps3 models? You marketed the Ps3 as an alternative to a PC and now you are going to take away a feature and not put one in its place? Bait and switch sony, now you are becoming as bad as Microsoft.

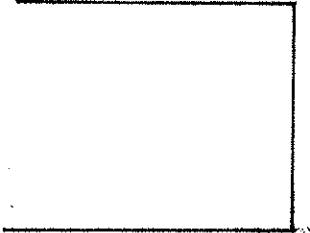

189

DKSM | March 28th, 2010 at 7:17 pm

Come on people. Think before you all make yourself look foolish.

190

Loki_d20 | March 28th, 2010 at 7:19 pm

Gotta love how the least used feature of the PS3 brings out a sudden overflow of people who never used it but act like they do on a daily basis.

Honestly, it's not a huge deal. It's a small item of contention for an extremely extremely extremely small number of PS3 owners, but that's it. For the good of everyone, though, which means protecting their investment even, it has to be removed.

197

RavageHeitaro | March 28th, 2010 at 7:19 pm

i don't use Linux(like 99% of the userbase) so it's easy for me to support this move. The backlash is worth it if it means the ps3 stays hack-free

198

wolfscorpion | March 28th, 2010 at 7:20 pm

@#$%^*^% wow man i really really hope this is a sick and disturbing joke and even still its not funny. i have the 80gig model that supports this and was the second reason why i bought this. this move is something characteristic of microsoft I HATE MICROSOFT please sony dont become microsoft. i thought SCE was about the people. i have YDI and fedora installed on my Ps3 and i use this feature almost everyday. i am building my own programs and writing stories that this update will destroy. i sear to every thing holy that if this is real im done with sony.

199

powerrizer | March 28th, 2010 at 7:21 pm

WHAT THE [DELETED] SONY! WAY TO [DELETED][DELETED][DELETED] OF THE PEOPLE WHO ACTUALLY USE OTHEROS FOR REGULAR USE. NOT EVERYONE IS A [DELETED] HACKER YOU DUMB [DELETED]. I BOUGHT A PS3 JUST FOR THIS [DELETED] FEATURE AND NOW YOU TAKE IT AWAY FROM ME? I FEEL LIKE CHOPPING THE [DELETED] OF OFF WHOEVER'S IDEA IT WAS AND SHOVING IT DOWN HIS THROAT. IT WAS BAD ENOUGH THAT YOU TOOK IT OUT OF THE SLIM PS3 BUT NOW YOU HAD TO REMOVE IT FROM THE FAT PS3? CAN'T YOU PATCH ANY SECURITY HOLE? AT LEAST LET THE PEOPLE WHO DON'T UPDATE ACCESS TO PLAYSTATION NETWORK! HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE ARE GONNA BE PISSED AT YOU. YOU REALLY WANT PEOPLE TO BUY AN X-BOX INSTEAD HUH SONY? CUZ UR DOING A [DELETED] GREAT JOB AT IT. YOU GUYS ARE SO [DELETED] STUPID.

PLAYSTATION: IT ONLY DOES NOTHING

200

StopPanda | March 28th, 2010 at 7:21 pm

Well I do not see a press release from Sony yet on their site...so I will wait and see,,

Pages: « Previous 1 2 3 4 5 6 ... 149 Next »

Subscribe to the PlayStation Blog

RSS E-mail

X

Enter your email address:

Subscribe

- 7,440 Comments
- Share on Twitter
- Share on Facebook
- Share on del.icio.us
- Share on Digg

7,440 Comments Add your own

Pages: « Previous | 1 ... 7 8 9 10 11 ... 149 Next »

401

Superstrokekey1123 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:19 pm

SenileAssassin, they are well within their rights. You are not required to upgrade, and if you do not they can simply deny you access to psn, which again is well within their rights.

Sue all you want, you are wasting your time.

402

SenileAssassin | March 28th, 2010 at 9:19 pm

@382: It's either a joke, or serious legal blunder. You can't legally take away functionality that was being advertised at the time of purchase.

403

Raacky | March 28th, 2010 at 9:19 pm

Superstrokey-This will affect the casual users of the "Other OS" feature, as you are not one of them, I believe you should open your mind up a little bit. The users that use it for supercomputers or whatever probably won't mind as they are probably not waiting on the next game. However, people who use this feature and wish to play new games have every right to be angry about this.

404

WHTrunner | March 28th, 2010 at 9:20 pm

This is a horrible update. One of the reasons I bought my PS3 was because I could use it as a computer. In fact, it was the ONLY reason that I bought a PS3 over an Xbox 360 this gen.

I'm not very pleased at all.

405

Superstrokekey1123 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:20 pm

Im shocked at the amount of lies people are typing now as well. You would think EVERYONE here uses the OS feature when in reality ill be most of them didnt even know it existed till the "hack" gained some momentum which is thankfully ended now.

406

mani8387 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:21 pm

Its pretty funny seeing how easily people rage.

ARRGRRGGGGGG RAGE

407

SenileAssassin | March 28th, 2010 at 9:21 pm

@386: Incorrect. It was being advertised as capable of doing specific things. If at any point in time it becomes incapable of doing those things, whether intentionally or non-intentionally – it's a lemon. Typical bait-and-switch, for starters. And it is illegal.

408

Turbo XR | March 28th, 2010 at 9:21 pm

This is garbage! The ability to install Linux was a feature that played a major role in my decision to purchase this system! I paid for this feature, and I, and everyone, should get to keep this. Sony is just perpetually nerfing this system. What's next? Remove backwards compatibility from the systems that came with it? I am going to avoid this system up date as long as possible. Linux on PS3 is a great feature and should be kept on the systems that came with it! I don't think I've ever been more upset with Sony.

409

Mahapralaya | March 28th, 2010 at 9:24 pm

This is BS. I'm a longtime Sony supporter, and I was proud of the feature list of the PS3 for many reasons including "Other-OS". Its the reason why I spent $600 day one for my PS3. My first real introduction to linux was on PS3. I love having that option. This firmware isn't making anything "safer" for the end user. It is a poor attempt by Sony to limit hacker-access to the system. I bought my hardware. I buy my games. I want to use them as agreed upon at the time of purchase. Is this even legal? Those of you with slim models and such which don't have this feature really don't have a valid point of view. You bought your system as-is. I AM PISSED.

410

ThE-AnNiHaL.8R | March 28th, 2010 at 9:24 pm

@skippyx77 I agree but I'm loving the reactions of all those people who don't have a life, can't take an April Fool's joke because they've been living under a rock all this time and have their clocks set to JST (read post again [DELETED]) whilst following the North American Playstation Blog and presumably living in North America. Still knocking wood on this one. *sigh*

411

Superstroke1123 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:24 pm

@ Raacky,

Sure i suppose there is a small group of people that use it for both for some bizarre reason. My mind is plenty open to this fact, the fact of the matter is that this feature is used by a super small minority of people, and we are talking really small. People are sour not cause the feature was taken away, rather that they wont be able to use the hack, should it ever arrive in a useable form.

This simply isnt the big deal that people are making it out to be, a minor inconvenience for an extremely small amount of gamers but on the whole? Not even going to affect sales.

412

BeauOwnz | March 28th, 2010 at 9:25 pm

430

Destiny89 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:39 pm

Take it away sony i dont care at all personally, i only hope there is more into this update, that is all. keep up the good work guys

431

Steve77C | March 28th, 2010 at 9:40 pm

when the heck are they gonna do something about the friggin PS3 locking up when you use the internet browser? i mean it dont happen everytime but i would say 7 out of 10 times it locks up and i have to pretty much unplug the system to reset it. Some more theme options would be nice. maybe make it so we can change the font color to work with brite backgrounds and some more Music visualazations.

432

Faaeng | March 28th, 2010 at 9:40 pm

If this isn't an April Fools joke, I demand a refund on false advertising. You advertised this feature before launch and it is a feature I wanted and use.

433

Munkee\_X | March 28th, 2010 at 9:40 pm

and for the record... how is this a April Fools Joke? Seriously I doubt "We are disabling Install Other OS" as a April fools Joke, perhaps if they said PS3 getting a update to support 4D!!!

Also their Vice President (I believe I could be wrong) assured us this feature would not go away... guess I was wrong, so was he! lol

434

syk1288 | March 28th, 2010 at 9:42 pm

It's an April Fools joke.

If not GameStop will be getting a lot of PS3 trade-ins. lol jk

435

SenileAssassin | March 28th, 2010 at 9:42 pm

@Superstrokey1123 Once again: you buy a console that claims to be capable of 1) running Other OS, 2) connecting to PSN.

Now you can only have either of them, but not both. It IS bait and switch. And again – it is illegal. And you can bet if it is not an April 1st joke – there will be a class action suit. And if there is – it will most likely end with a settlement.

436

ThE-AnNiHaL8R | March 28th, 2010 at 9:43 pm

@KSPRAYDAD

- a. Original "Sony Computer Entertainment/ classical music".
- b. New "PS3/ neo-classical music".
- 2. Allow me to have the XMB icons/words stay visible or fade.
- 3. Allow me to turn on/off the "adticker" in top right corner.
- 4. Please allow me to choose which "media boot-up" screen I want.
- a. Original "PLAYSTATION 3/ jingle" splash screen.
- b. New "black screen/ no jingle".

The original splash is comfortable and heart warming!

- 5. Please bring back basic black! I want the old black colour theme with my sparkles please! PSP has lots of colours to choose from PS3 doesn't.
- 6. Allow me to turn off the Whats New icon, completely removing it from my XMB.
- 7. Allow multiple profiles to login on same console for each controller in use & earn trophies (just like 360).

Everyone loves customization. Many PLAYSTATION 3 users would use these XMB options.

Thanks for your hardwork, I know Sony is trying to make PS3/PSN/XMB better, I appreciate that. I know SCEA may not be responsible for the changes, so please let SCEI know too.

492

robertmc8 | March 28th, 2010 at 10:34 pm

Going bed by time I get up at noon this thing be over 1000 comment long lol.

493

ie29836 | March 28th, 2010 at 10:34 pm

yay! i love it when you remove features! can you remove the ability to play ps3 games in the next firmware update? that would be awesome!

494

JuicyPlayer | March 28th, 2010 at 10:36 pm

Who cares? Its a feature that only 10 people use. I don't want the PS3 to get ruined by hackers like the PSP was.

495

Koutetsu Tatsu | March 28th, 2010 at 10:36 pm

Sony's pulling a gangbuster move. Like many have said, thee next update better be tight. Maybe some news on all the ideas we've been sharing with them for free while they're at it.

496

KeepinItHamsta | March 28th, 2010 at 10:37 pm

So I get to decide between two different key features and which is more important to me? This is extremely unfair.

497

HAESIO | March 28th, 2010 at 10:38 pm

I feel like sony is taking a step back by doing this. What was the point of many of people spending a bunch of money to be the first to own a PS3 just to have features taken away from us later on. If do this shouldn't we get some money back form this then. What was the point of offering these features if you take them away later!! A bad move on sony part.

498

787

jimmyhoffa82 | March 29th, 2010 at 6:09 am

wow i hardly if ever complain, but this is bunk [DELETED] here. removing features? for real? playstation it only removes features you paid for!

personaly its fine i dont run linux or anything, but this is bunk, you would think that they would also give us a cool feature in the same update to soften the blow

788

MiltonMafia | March 29th, 2010 at 6:09 am

I'm 786! YES!

789

KILLZONE79 | March 29th, 2010 at 6:09 am

@ 785

well it does say april 1st so who knows.

790

MiltonMafia | March 29th, 2010 at 6:09 am

DOh!

791

T4br15_2530 | March 29th, 2010 at 6:11 am with all i've seen Sony, good luck getting out of all these incoming lawsuits. (i might even hack this system and make an emulator for ps3 IN otherOS to evade this c**p).

792

TrueFFVIIIFan | March 29th, 2010 at 6:12 am

TO ONE THOUSAND! TO ONE THOUSAND! TO ONE THOUSAND! HURRAY!!!

793

Razrsharp | March 29th, 2010 at 6:13 am

I don't see this affecting too many people, i mean who really uses their ps3 as a computer? The only people that might legitimately be affected by this are the hackers and maybe the universities and companies that use it for research purposes.

794

robzilla2000 | March 29th, 2010 at 7:02 am

ABSOLUTELY 100% TOTAL SONY FAIL. For those like me who PURPOSELY spent more money to buy an older machine just to install others you just destroyed any image we ever had of you as a good company.

Do you really think this will stop people from hacking your system?
Security concerns?

Some news for you... first of all the ps3 has NOT been hacked yet. So why don't you wait before removing a useful feature until it actually prevents something instead of just assuming that something like OtherOS will actually lead to a hack... because you don't know that.

WOW. I can't believe I even trusted sony, or bought your things... I have sony camcorders, headphones, games, walkman, cell phones, etc..... This is the THANKS you give loyal customers? F***ing up their sh****t >?!?!?!?! what a crock.... go rot sony.... seriously

839

tick509 | March 29th, 2010 at 7:03 am

Removing the ability to install another OS is simply unacceptable.

840

yandroiy | March 29th, 2010 at 7:05 am

You look like a bunch of ignorants red neck, if you don't know, using the ps3 with linux offers different way of research that can be done with even a quad core PC. But, i guess you are to busy believing that sony do this for a greater purpose like "defeating piracy", i can tell this is not going to stop hackers... in fact this can be a better reason to hack the console.

I'm NOT gona update my firmware and i WANT to play online and have the latest features. This is my right, i bought the console with this features and there is no reason to take them away.

841

UnKn0nSlDr86 | March 29th, 2010 at 7:07 am

wow, i didn't even know this type of things existed on my ps3 (60gb), lol. hey, as long it doesn't affect me playing games and getting online, then I really don't care. And some are saying this is an April Fools joke? if it is, then Sony did a good job.

842

trapper12 | March 29th, 2010 at 7:08 am

Anybody who thinks this is real really needs to think again. It's an early April Fools joke and you know what else, Eric Lempel is the Director of PS3/PSP Firmware Operations, why would Patrick Seybold come up on the blog to say something about the next update when it's Eric's job to give out details? It's just a big joke.

843

Musoka Eimin | March 29th, 2010 at 7:09 am

I also am of the belief that it is possible they used the April 1st date as a potential excuse to backout of those due to customer backlash, but this definitely is not a joke, they are planning to do this as of right now. Several PS3 developers have confirmed with SCEI that this is true, good ol Sony here didn't even bother to tell those who are working making software for the machines...

844

boden11 | March 29th, 2010 at 4:01 pm

This is bs! Instead of updating the FW with items people have been requesting for YEARS like cross game chat you take away items? Your system will still be hacked and we are not happy with you trying to implement these ALREADY DONE ITEMS like cross game chat as part of a scheme to start charging for PSN!

1706

Joelawit | March 29th, 2010 at 4:02 pm

I want my money back!!! One of the reasons to choose PS3 back in 2008 was the Linux possibility. And this feature was well noticed from a sales perspective. It's time to sue Sony for this ARBITRARY decision – I see strong basis for a lawsuit. In other hand Sony is kicking away the “supercomputing” use by many scientists around the world. It's always like that – they restraint features and they don't give anything in return... and this is done in the name of security or protection! Against who? The Nazis, Al Qaeda?? Invaders from outer space??? I just remember quote the astronaut Taylor in the Planet of Apes (1968) at the end of the movie: “Oh my God. I'm back. I'm home. All the time, it was... We finally really did it. You Maniacs! You blew it up! Ah, damn you! God damn you all to hell!”

1707

dj128 | March 29th, 2010 at 4:04 pm

i didn't use it so i don't care

1708

McDuck | March 29th, 2010 at 4:06 pm

I've been through two Blu-ray lasers on my 60GB PS3 phat.

How do I know that Sony didn't screw with the Blu-ray laser voltage in the PS3 phat in a previous firmware update to get more people to (re)buy PS3 slims as an underhanded means of boosting revenue and increasing PS3 sales?

$$599 + $299 = $898$

$$898 + \text{Rebuying my entire PS2 library as "PS2 Classics"} = $1000+$

My PS3 phat had zero issues until the PS3 slim came out. Funny that.

Don't trust your money with these thieves.

Who knows what they're introducing in these mandatory “updates”.

What makes you think they won't kill your console on purpose to juice more money out of you if they've proven they're willing to retroactively remove an already paid for feature?

Buyer beware.

1709

loop-s-pool | March 29th, 2010 at 4:07 pm

This is a joke. April 1st! No one else sees this!?!?

1710

MadCat McMeows | March 29th, 2010 at 4:07 pm

1699 all this did was make matters worse because GeoHot has now said in intends on releasing a custom firmware. All Sony did with this JOKE of an

We are working on a level of Little Big Planet copyable explaining why this is bad. Help us create yours too.

3446

piman80 | March 31st, 2010 at 7:40 am

Bad, bad move. I am not happy about this.

3447

MUR0013 | March 31st, 2010 at 7:47 am

you could have done this and also add some cool stuff but no you have to just remove stuff and give out noting cool

3448

THE HeKeLS | March 31st, 2010 at 8:02 am

HELP! can someone tell me whats going on, i never really knew what the “install other os” function was for im still not quite sure but i see that its upsetting everybody, but i need to know what this fully means, “Ability to sign in to PlayStation Network and use network features that require signing in to PlayStation Network, such as online features of PS3 games and chat” does that mean no mag? does that mean no home? does that mean that all the time and money i.. we’ve put into all these was a waste of our time? and how come nobody from sony has commented on anyones comment? someone please explain whats going on to the HeKeLS. please.

3449

Obop | March 31st, 2010 at 8:07 am

HeKeLS, you will be fine. The notes about no online/PSN are things that will happen if you do not take the update.

The update removes the functionality for OtherOS, as you are not using that, there is no reason not to take the update.

For users that are utilizing an other OS, this is a mess.

3450

GreatTeacherDebo | March 31st, 2010 at 8:12 am

Even if you’re not using it, you should still be very concerned. It doesn’t matter if it’s a “mess” or not, it’s taking away something you paid for.

It’s like buying the Watchmen on Blu-Ray. You set it aside in your collection, and since you don’t have 3 hours to waste, you don’t watch it for months.

A year goes by, and you decide to watch it one weekend with your friends. You open up the case and find a note that says,

“You weren’t watching this, so we took it back.” – Warner Bros

Pages: « Previous | ... 67 68 69 70 71 ... 149 Next »

Subscribe to the Playstation Blog

RSS E-mail

X

Enter your email address:

3571

漢

PAID-ASSASSIN | March 31st, 2010 at 11:32 am

Epic is just here to cause problems, just ignore.

Everything he has said has holes in it because he blinded by the fact that the only thing he is here to do is get excited at making people mad.

3572

ryanrossiter | March 31st, 2010 at 11:33 am

sony you have sunk your own boat every hacker with a ps3 is going to develop workarounds and cfw for the ps3 you epic FALL.

3573

漢

PAID-ASSASSIN | March 31st, 2010 at 11:34 am

Hey improperly.....we have been over this a THOUSAND times.

No EULA was signed or agreed to when purchasing the product, which had the feature listed on the box as a selling point.

Therefore it does not apply...

3574

ryanrossiter | March 31st, 2010 at 11:36 am

advertising a function or feature which u have no access to use it, is illegal

3575

improperlyaged | March 31st, 2010 at 11:36 am

And for anyone saying this is a stupid argument think of it like this. A hacker could easily store hacked programs or games on a usb drive or dvd or blu-ray. If sony wanted to they could essentially disable any feature of the ps3 for security concerns. Hello they might choose to disable wi-fi next to prevent u from signing on thru an unsecure network. Again a feature u already paid for but a possible so security risk so it has to go. DO NOT ALLOW THIS. I do not lie i am a sony fanboy and they even disgust me with this. I own a ps3, psp sony handycam and a sony vaio. Should sony limit choose to go through with this i promise they will lose my consumer support. or in other words I AIN'T BUYING THEIR [DELETED] NO MORE.

3576

漢

MASKEDKILLER1999 | March 31st, 2010 at 11:39 am

whats the OS feature

3577

漢

MASKEDKILLER1999 | March 31st, 2010 at 11:40 am

what are we loosing

4432

JapsR | March 31st, 2010 at 11:44 pm

I think im gonna get an XBOX360, since sony is only busy making stuff WORSE for its customers! Why add this feature in the first place.. to make the specs of the PS3 sound good so more people would buy it? Just to remove the feature later.. And customers who would want to keep THEIR stuff THEY paid for wont be able to play games online anymore, cus they cant sign in to PSN.

Way to go schmony.. keep it up

4433

stellarnightsky | March 31st, 2010 at 11:45 pm

Well, I'm calling Sony tomorrow and complaining. If the slogan for your marketing campaign is "It only does everything" then the removal of a feature that promoted the freedom of the PS3 owner by allowing the installation of a third-party operating system alongside the standard OS contradicts that very slogan that the owner likely bought into initially.

Whats worse is that the decision seems to have been made with little regard for the customer in mind and rather more concern for "content partners" who benefit by reduced likelihood of monetary detriment in the wake of this "more secure system".

If content partners want a piece of Sony's customer base they should have to suffer the potential risk inherent within the PS3. (Now previous)Customers and loyal PS3 owners should not be forced to sacrifice freedom that they purchased when they bought a PS3 so that content partners can feel more secure in their coalition.

4434

chancedonmillion | March 31st, 2010 at 11:47 pm

just spend hours installing other OS only to reboot after midnight and find out that it was just wasted time. thanks Sony! other OS WAS a great feature. i guess that we will be paying for psn soon then huh?

4435

Arcticblue | March 31st, 2010 at 11:48 pm

@Scubamaggy

You do realize there was (and is) no piracy on the PS3, right? Just because some people would like to use Linux on their PS3 doesn't automatically make them a hacker or pirate. Please educate yourself.

I am also amazed at how many people are in here praising Sony for removing advertised features and pretty much trampling all over consumer rights. Typical of lesser educated Americans though.

4436

SportyJaguar | March 31st, 2010 at 11:49 pm

Very good move by sony to make it more secure

4437

Besamel | March 31st, 2010 at 11:51 pm

I had no idea this feature existed until this update was announced.