must be given a warning about the requirements of Rule 56 of the 1 2 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure pertaining to summary judgment and 3 the consequences of such a motion. In Wyatt v. Terhune, 315 F.3d 1108, 1120 n. 4 (9th Cir. 2003), the court required a somewhat 4 5 similar warning about unenumerated motions to dismiss for failure to 6 This court routinely provides these warnings in its orders exhaust. 7 of service for prisoner pro se civil rights complaints.

8 The Ninth Circuit now has held that the notices must be 9 provided at the time the motions are filed, and that notices given 10 in advance of such motions are not sufficient. Woods v. Carey, 684 F.3d 934, 939-40 (9th Cir. 2012). The new rule applies to all 11 12 pending cases. Id. at 941. In this case Defendants has moved for 13 summary judgment. Plaintiff has not opposed the motion and the time 14 for him to do so has passed. Because the motion for summary 15 judgment was filed before the opinion in Woods came down, the Rand 16 notice was not given with the motion as required by Woods.

17 Plaintiff shall take notice of the following warning: 18 Plaintiff is advised that a motion for summary judgment under Rule 19 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure will, if granted, end 20 your case. Rule 56 tells you what you must do in order to oppose a 21 motion for summary judgment. Generally, summary judgment must be 22 granted when there is no genuine issue of material fact - that is, 23 if there is no real dispute about any fact that would affect the 24 result of your case, the party who asked for summary judgment is 25 entitled to judgment as a matter of law, which will end your case. 26 When a party you are suing makes a motion for summary judgment that 27 is properly supported by declarations (or other sworn testimony),

1 you cannot simply rely on what your complaint says. Instead, you 2 must set out specific facts in declarations, depositions, answers to 3 interrogatories, or authenticated documents, as provided in Rule 56(e), that contradicts the facts shown in the Defendants' 4 5 declarations and documents and show that there is a genuine issue of material fact for trial. If you do not submit your own evidence in 6 7 opposition, summary judgment, if appropriate, may be entered against 8 If summary judgment is granted, your case will be dismissed you. 9 and there will be no trial. Rand, 154 F.3d at 962-63 (App. A). 10 If, after considering the above warning, Plaintiff wishes 11 to file an opposition, he shall do so by September 7, 2012. If 12 Plaintiff files an opposition, Defendants may file a reply within

13 fourteen days thereafter.
