- 11. On the other hand, the December 20th "private keys leak" tweet was in fact a slight teaser (we discovered everything on December 10th) Wednesday, January 05, 2011 4:51:30 PM via Choqok
- 12. FWIW, the shal I posted in October was of a .txt file explaining the psjb exploit Wednesday, January 05, 2011 4:50:34 PM via Choqok
- e.g. http://goo.gl/k9HPy "hinted at the "keys""? "Kinect Hack called OpenLase"? "actually has known this all along"? What are they smoking? Wednesday, January 05, 2011 4:49:51 PM via Choqok
- 14. wow, seriously, dukio.com is publishing the most retarded articles ever Wednesday, January 05, 2011 4:48:57 PM via Choqok
- 15. I mean, maybe it's just me, but I think the "calculating private keys" part deserves a bit more credit than a metldr exploit. Monday, January 03, 2011 4:19:00 PM via Choqok
- Announce/publish a ridiculous break in embedded security, a few sites pick it up. Geohot uses it, it's all over the web. Sigh. Tuesday, January 04, 2011 12:30:42 PM via Choqok
- copumpkin I want Google to stop assuming I've misspelled my queries and showing me bad results. "I search for uncommon terms; please trust me!" Wednesday, January 05, 2011 3:03:15 AM via Tweetie for Mac Retweeted by marcan42 and 52 others
- @kakashigr so he obviously used our method to calculate the key, but he had to use a metldr exploit to dump it (which we don't yet have). Sunday, January 02, 2011 1:26:38 PM via Choqok in reply to kakashigr
- @kakashigr you need an exploit in a loader (or a prior loader) to dump it. We had most everything below metldr, but not metldr itself. Sunday, January 02, 2011 1:25:45 PM via Choqok in reply to kakashigr
- 20. @r1cola he likes that sort of game, but we aren't playing it. We're polishing then releasing what we have, then that's it. Sunday, January 02, 2011 1:25:04 PM via Choqok in reply to r1cola
- geohot++ for breaking metldr, geohot-- for making it another ego act and not publishing how he did it. Tuesday, January 04, 2011 12:41:43 PM via Choqok
- 22. For those who missed it, video of the talk here: http://goo.gl/UjtPx Saturday, January 01, 2011 10:37:30 PM via Choqok

- 24. Now you know what my code looks like when I'm drunk :P (we hacked the bar PC and had ASCII demos running on it) Saturday, January 01, 2011 10:25:57 PM via Choqok
- 25. While at c-base (and on a couple Tschunks) I hacked ASCII-art output onto OpenLase. Pushed that to the cbase branch: http://goo.gl/5Rq10 Saturday, January 01, 2011 10:25:11 PM via Choqok
- 26. Also pushed the 27C3 OpenLase slides to the openlase.git repo. They include cleaned-up/updated libol versions of some of the effects too. Saturday, January 01, 2011 10:05:48 PM via Choqok
- 27. Pushed the AsbestOS parts of the 27C3 demo (native AsbestOS boot from HDD). Tools to make AsbestOS into a SELF coming later.

- 29. @phirenz Sony can't exactly change the GPU to a Tesla if they want to keep backwards compatibility. RSX cmds are baked into PS3 games. Saturday, January 01, 2011 9:11:11 AM via Choqok in reply to phirenz
- 30. Back from 27c3, just got home after spending New Year's with the family. Time to crash for an undetermined number of hours. Friday, December 31, 2010 4:38:58 PM via Choqok
- 31. @Idlewild2007 AsbestOS isn't a distro, it's a bootloader that works with any distro (given a tweaked kernel). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 1:13:06 PM via Choqok
- 32. @KDSBest yes. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:52:34 PM via Choqok in reply to KDSBest
- 33. @LouiseHoffman worse, at least the Wii stuff is mostly C. Sony loves C++, especially in SPU code. Security feature! SPU C++ is hell to RE :P Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:45:33 PM via Choqok in reply to LouiseHoffman
- 34. @KDSBest we can't modify lv1 directly yet (no lv1ldr dump) but we can pwn lv1 early in the boot process via a hacked iso module. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:41:03 PM via Choqok in reply to KDSBest
- Clarification #4: the random number isn't 4, it's more like 007eabbb79360e14df1457a4194b82f71a0dc39280 (example). But it's still constant. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:39:55 PM via Choqok
- 36. @LouiseHoffman not much, it's all a large pile of fail. The Wii has better security design (it just has a lot of implementation holes). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:35:25 PM via Choqok in reply to LouiseHoffman
- Zmathue because that causes the R value to be the same, i.e. the first half of every signature is the same. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:34:25 PM via Choqok
- 38. @badcrc lo sé, pero las tiras de Dilbert hay que licenciarlas :P Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:33:09 PM via Choqok in reply to badcrc
- 39. Clarification #3: The private keys refer to keys that Sony HQ uses. PS3s don't have these keys (but we calculated them due to the fail). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:32:30 PM via Choqok
- 40. It's Sony not knowing WTF they're doing when making signatures, and thus mathematically leaking their keys. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:30:21 PM via Choqok
- 41. This is also why we didn't use the term "exploit" or "bug". The PS3 signature fail is neither an exploit nor a bug (in the PS3 firmware). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:29:34 PM via Choqok
- 42. The XKCD "return 4" function that we showed is (essentially) part of the code that Sony HQ runs to sign games, it's not in the PS3 FW. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:24:26 PM via Choqok
- 43. @KDSBest no one can create a new metldr (for an existing console). Not even Sony (unless they have that console's key stashed somewhere). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:21:32 PM via Choqok in reply to KDSBest

- 44. @AluProductions they could, to some extent, but they'd fuck over everyone who doesn't go online and gets an update from a new game. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:11:34 PM via Choqok in reply to AluProductions
- 45. @KDSBest we don't have the game signing key but the same epic fail applies to it. Once someone dumps appldr they can calculate it too. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:09:48 PM via Choqok in reply to KDSBest
- 46. They actually CAN change keys for LV2/LV1, isolated modules, rvklists, spp, but that's useless because you can just downgrade the loaders. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:08:56 PM via Choqok
- Myth #2: Sony can change keys. No, they can't. These aren't encryption keys, they're signing keys. If they change them GAMES STOP WORKING. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:02:17 PM via Choqok
- 48. Myth #1: It took us 3-4 years to do this. Negative, this exploit only took a few months after we started working. We weren't trying before. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 12:01:45 PM via Choqok
- 49. FWIW lightning talks tomorrow are at 11:30-13:45. PS3 demo will be 4 minutes _somewhere_ within that range (to be determined) Wednesday, December 29, 2010 9:19:21 AM via Choqok
- 50. They can try to whitelist every existing piece of official PS3 code... but good luck with that. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 9:17:44 AM via Choqok
- 51. IOW they CANNOT change keys or fix this in a new firmware, because stuff we sign is every bit as good as existing official software. Wednesday, December 29, 2010 9:16:58 AM via Choqok
- 52. Wii fakesigning vs. PS3 epic fail: Wii issue is a BUG in console code (fixable), PS3 issue is a FAIL in THEIR secret signer (not fixable). Wednesday, December 29, 2010 9:16:33 AM via Choqok
