Since the last status report, Jenco produced a banker's box of additional documents to Plaintiffs. The accountants who are doing the audit have reviewed the documents, and believe they now have sufficient documents to complete the audit. The auditor has done a preliminary review to determine whether or not it looks like additional contributions may be owed. Based on her preliminary review of the documents, the auditor has reported to Plaintiffs' counsel that it appears there may indeed be some additional employees for whom contributions are owed for the January 2006 through August 2010 time period, which is the time period at issue in this lawsuit. The auditor needs additional time to determine the amount of additional contributions owed. The auditor estimates it will take several weeks to complete the full audit of the documents.

Based on the foregoing, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court continue the status
