17 This litigation now having been resolved, the Court must determine which documents,

19 received numerous motions to seal certain portions of documents which number in the 20 thousands of pages, most of which are heavily or entirely redacted. Specifically, the Court 21 now has before it the following pending motions: Hewlett Packard's Administrative Motion
22 to File Under Seal (dkt. 337); Hewlett Packard's Administrative Motion to File Under Seal
23 (dkt. 367); Objector A.J. Copeland's Administrative Motion to File Under Seal (dkt. 378);
24 Objector Harriet Steinberg's Administrative Motion to File Under Seal (dkt. 380); Objectors

<sup>1</sup> No motion for reconsideration will be entertained unless HP identifies within three days “a limited amount of exceptionally sensitive information that truly deserves protection” under the “compelling reasons” standard of Kamakana v. City and Cty. of Honolulu, 447 F.3d 1172, 1178–79 (9th Cir. 2006), outlined by page and line number and including “specific factual findings” for each. See O’Connor v. Uber Technologies, Inc., No. c-13-3826-EMC, 2015 WL 355496, at *1 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 27, 2015). In light of the “public interest in understanding the judicial process” as it relates to the settlement of these claims, the Court will not countenance arguments that public filing would put HP at a competitive or legal disadvantage. See Kamakana, 447 F.3d at 1178–79.
