Yes, anyone who has her as a mod of their group, or as a member needs to be warned about her, if not remove her period.

She started an argument over the weekend when I wasn't checking the board as frequently that had the entire group upset, who knows what she said in private to anyone else but what she was able to post publicly was way inappropriate, as well as the beer offer, and the for sale item etc etc.

You know it's funny because I actually thought at the time that maybe she was trying to sabotage my group, but that maybe I was just being paranoid. LOL
