When stuff is no longer available, do you delete the posting? Or do you just let everyone figure out what's been taken from the "taken"
postings?

Oops, sorry Anne. We definitely don't want this and should stop the new group before it grows too large to have people move over to the existing group.

Let me know the new group's name, and I'll remove the link and contact the person to ask them either to join the existing group or to change their group to their city's name. I generally try to catch this. If this is happening elsewhere too, then let me know.

Maybe we should only advise people to start groups with a city name. Any thoughts here from anyone?

Deron

Deron,
I've noticed that here in Oregon, we have a lot of "overlapping" going on with groups.
Some of these seem like a case of an established group being sort of overrun by someone who decides to claim a much larger area.
(established City...new group
is entire county.)
Maybe this doesn't really hurt anything, but I think there could be some issues that might arise from it.
I'm wondering if anyone else has had any thoughts on this?
Annie

Enter your vote today! A new poll has been created for the freecyclemodsquad group:

Do you believe we should require that all local groups have the rule "Keep It Free, Legal & Appropriate For All Ages?" (Implicitly, this rules does not allow items such as alcohol, tobacco, firearms and pornography from being tradable within the Freecycle Network).

o Yes
o No
o Undecided.
o I choose to abstain.
