Thank you all so much for your help yesterday. I decided to ban the member after I received an email from one of our local Freecycle Groups informing me this member is well known in the local groups and he has been banned from their groups for selling and spamming the members. lol he's had more than two strikes it seems.

Thanks to you all I posted an ADMIN message to our group (not mentioning names), banned the member, and sent him a short email telling him of my actions. Thought you'd be interested in his response which I received this morning again claiming "first amendment". I don't plan to respond to it.

I have one more question. What email address do you all use to send ADMIN posts to your groups and individual emails to the members? Being newbie am wondering if there is a way to use the Westchase\_Freecycle-owner@yahoogroups.com email addy?

Thanks again everyone for help me,
