1. report a suspected rogue group to your state's NGA (new group approver)
2. the NGA will check and see if this possible rogue group is on their list of groups to be approved
3. if the group is not on their list, they will send it to the regional GOA person to send a cease and desist letter
4. The GOA person will send the rogue group on to Buck and Char who are charting all the rogue groups. (this step is turned around a bit from my last post)

Notify database@freecycle.org about rogue groups.

This is the address for Buck and Char who will promptly note the details, enter them into the database as a rogue so that noone accidentally links to them and forwards the info to the Group Outreach and Assistance regional person who will send them a note letting them know there is a recognized Freecycle group in their area they can offer their enthusiasm and help to and that they will need to remove the service mark protected name/concept from their group.

(am I getting this right, Judy?)

Oops, sorry Judy, I posted the, ahh, wrong steps, and just deleted them out. Your correct steps remain below and in your post.
Sorry folks,
