On April 22, 2009, the Court ordered Respondent to show cause why the petition should not be granted. On August 21, 2009, Respondent moved to dismiss the petition as a mixed petition containing both exhausted and unexhausted claims. Petitioner opposed the motion.

In an Order dated March 16, 2010, the Court granted the motion to dismiss and ordered

15 16

Petitioner to make an election regarding how he wanted to proceed with regard to his unexhausted claims. Thereafter, on April 7, 2010, Petitioner filed a letter informing the Court that he would like to request a stay of the proceedings while he completes the process of exhausting his unexhausted claims. His letter shall be construed as a motion to stay his federal petition while he exhausts his remedies in state court.

17

For the reasons stated below, Petitioner's motion to stay is GRANTED.

DISCUSSION

22 23

Prisoners in state custody who wish to challenge in federal habeas proceedings either the fact or length of their confinement are first required to exhaust state judicial remedies by presenting the highest state court available with a fair opportunity to rule on the merits of each and every claim they seek to raise in federal court. See 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b),(c); Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 515-

26

16 (1982). If available state remedies have not been exhausted as to all claims, the district court must dismiss the petition. Id. at 510; Guizar v. Estelle, 843 F.2d 371, 372 (9th Cir. 1988). A dismissal solely for failure to exhaust is not a bar to returning to federal court after exhausting available state remedies. See Trimble v. City of Santa Rosa, 49 F.3d 583, 586 (9th Cir. 1995).

27

District courts have the authority to issue stays and the Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (AEDPA) does not deprive them of that authority. Rhines v. Webber, 544 U.S. 269, 277-78 (2005). The district court's discretion to stay a mixed petition is circumscribed by AEDPA's stated purposes of reducing delay in the execution of criminal sentences and encouraging petitioners to seek relief in the state courts before filing their claims in federal court. Id. Because the use of a stay and abeyance procedure has the potential to undermine these dual purposes of AEDPA, its use is only appropriate where the district court has first determined that there was good cause for the petitioner's failure to exhaust the claims in state court and that the claims are potentially meritorious. Id. Moreover, where granting a stay, the district court must effectuate the timeliness concerns in AEDPA by placing "reasonable limits on a petitioner's trip to state court and back." Id. at 278. Prisoners who may run the risk of having the federal statute of limitations expire while they are exhausting their state remedies may avoid this predicament "by filing a 'protective' petition in federal court and asking the federal court to stay and abey the federal habeas proceedings until state remedies are exhausted." Pace v. DiGuglielmo, 544 U.S. 408, 416 (2005) (citing Rhines, 544 U.S. at 277-78).

Here, a stay is appropriate in the instant case because it appears that any newly filed habeas petition in this Court would likely be untimely. See Ford v. Hubbard, 305 F.3d 875, 885-86 (9th Cir. 2002) (requiring district court to grant petitioner's request to stay petition pending exhaustion of unexhausted claims where later-filed federal petition would be barred as untimely). Accordingly, Petitioner's request for a stay is GRANTED, subject to the conditions set forth below.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, these proceedings are hereby STAYED pending Petitioner's exhaustion of his state judicial remedies. Petitioner must act diligently in exhausting his state judicial remedies, or the stay may be lifted. He must file quarterly reports describing the progress of his state court proceedings, commencing thirty (30) days from the date of this Order and continuing every ninety (90) days thereafter until his state court proceedings are terminated. He must also attach to his status reports copies of the cover page of any document that he files with or receives from the state courts relating to the claims.

The Clerk of the Court shall ADMINISTRATIVELY CLOSE the file pending the stay of this action. Nothing further will take place in this action until Petitioner receives a final decision from the highest state court and, within thirty (30) days of doing so, moves to reopen the action, lift the Court's stay and amend the stayed petition to add the newly-exhausted claims.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
