IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

JSR MICRO, INC.,

Plaintiff,

v.

QBE INSURANCE CORP., et al.,

Defendants.

---

No. C-09-03044 PJH (EDL)

ORDER FOLLOWING DISCOVERY HEARING

On July 19, 2010, the Court held a discovery hearing in this matter. For the reasons stated at the hearing, the Court orders as follows. Defendant shall produce declaration pages and a listing of endorsements, if such a list exists, for trade credit insurance policies under which claims were made that were issued in Australia for the two-year period from March 1, 2007 through March 1, 2009. Plaintiff shall designate up to ten percent of the policies from the total number of policies produced, and Defendant shall produce the claims files for those ten percent. Plaintiff's choice is without prejudice to Plaintiff making a further request for discovery on the issue of non-U.S. trade credit policies, although further discovery may well be disproportionate under Rule 26(b)(2)(c)(iii). Defendant shall keep detailed and accurate records reflecting precisely the hours and costs of this production, and the parties shall meet and confer to discuss potential cost-sharing. Defendant shall provide a letter to Plaintiff no later than July 23, 2010 regarding a realistic deadline for this production. If the parties cannot agree on a deadline, they shall file a joint letter with the Court no later than July 26, 2010.

At the hearing, Plaintiff sought an order permitting it to propound additional interrogatories in this case. The Court grants Plaintiff's request for 35 additional interrogatories. Defendant may also have an additional 35 interrogatories if it believes it needs them.
