Berhad/Petronas v. GoDaddy

1 claims? Do you know how many trademark claims Go
2 Daddy gets in a year?

3 A. No, no.

4 Q. Okay. So just turning to domain disputes
5 in general, what's Go Daddy's procedure for handling
6 a domain dispute?

7 A. Once we receive notice if there's a filed
8 complaint through an arbitration or through a court, 9 we will lock the domain name which prevents the 10 customer from making any changes to the domain name,
11 and we also reach out to the customer and let him
12 know that his name is locked and that it will not be 13 unlocked until we receive notice of a decision.

14 And then once we receive the notice from 15 the court or the arbitration, we'll unlock the domain
16 name and follow the order of the court or 17 arbitration.

18 Q. Okay. And how about trademark claims?
19 What's Go Daddy's procedure for handling trademark
20 claims?

21 A. We have a form that a customer can fill
22 out with specific information that we need or else
23 they can follow the guidelines on our trademark
24 policy and submit an e-mail. It's basically the same 25 thing.

1 Q. Okay. And so the reason why Go Daddy
2 added employees to domain disputes was to deal with 3 the increasing number of disputes that that team was 4 dealing with?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And is that why Go Daddy would increase 7 the number of employees that are currently on the 8 team?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Okay. Is the number of disputes the 11 domain disputes team is handling increasing?

12 A. We register a domain name every second.
13 So every time, you know, just the probability of a 14 domain name being part of a lawsuit because someone 15 might be possibly, you know, doing something wrong
16 with the domain name increases. As more and more 17 domain names get registered, there's obviously going 18 to be more and more issues. That's my understanding.

19 Q. And so it's your understanding that the 20 number of disputes that the domain disputes team is 21 handling is increasing?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. And then turning to the trademark claims 24 team, is it your understanding that the number of 25 disputes that the trademark claims team is handling
