Dear Low Keng Mun,

Thank you for contacting Go Daddy's Spam and Abuse Department.

GoDaddy.com does not allow illegal content on our customer's websites. However, as a hosting provider, it is not our place to determine if the site you have mentioned is actually engaging in illegal activities. GoDaddy.com regularly works with courts and law enforcement from the local to the international level. If you suspect any of our customers are using their website to engage in any illegal activities, please help us by contacting your local law enforcement agency, and asking them to investigate this situation.

Law enforcement can contact us at Abuse@GoDaddy.com if they need the website(s) taken down, or if they need more information pursuant to an investigation. We have a long-standing history of cooperation with law enforcement and the courts.

Any disputes over the ownership or wording of the domain name itself will need to be sent to either the registrant, through an arbitration forum such as World Intellectual Property Organization (<http://www.wipo.int/>), or the local court system. Per ICANN regulations, domain registrars are prohibited from becoming involved in domain ownership disputes.

If you find that, you are unable to contact the registrant because the contact information given on the Whois database is invalid, please write to invalidwhois@secureserver.net and let them know.

Sincerely,
Spam and Abuse Department

To Whom It May Concern,
As stated in the below email, we need your assistance to take action against the following website: www.petronastower.net. This website is hosting pornographic web contents from <http://www.camfunchat.com>. We regard this as a serious issue in the legal perspective, and your prompt action is appreciated.

Regards,

Low Keng Mun

Customer Inquiry

Dear Sir/Madam,

We would like to highlight our concern that your organization is hosting website claiming to represent PETRONAS, which is the National Oil Company of Malaysia. The website in question is www.petronastower.net. This website is found to be hosting pornographic materials, which may mislead genuine users who are searching for PETRONAS or PETRONAS Twin Towers.

The original PETRONAS Corporate website can be found at www.petronas.com.

Attached with this email is the WHOIS query of this website for your analysis.

Your prompt investigation and response to this matter is very much appreciated.

Thank you.

Regards,
