AR Pro

Version 1.22 by ShellDude in Games & Entertainment::Other

Please visit the Shellware website (http://www.shellware.com) for information on how to configure your AR.Drone and Android phone to communicate with one another. A very easy to follow guide has been developed, coupled with a special piece of software, that enables ANY Android 2.1+ phone to control an AR.Drone (certains assumptions made -- hardware gfx acceleration, decent cpu, etc) Augmented Reality Professional Controller Front-end for the Parrot AR.Drone quadcopter flying computer. Features Full Motion control, object following and tracking, management of all AR.Drone configuration data, and the ability to use your phone's azimuth axis (compass) to control the Yaw function of the AR.Drone. Use at your own risk. Author provides no warranty, written, or implied. Known Issues - Disable Automatic Network Time Updates AR.Pro will crash (bug in the native library) Located in Android Settings->Date & Time - Do not pair to your drone if you're using a Hotspot built into the phone. AR.Pro uses the WIFI mac address which is different from Hotspot one - Parrot has stated that Wi-Fi config changes will likely void your warranty. Proceed at your own risk Release Notes - R1.0 -AR.Pro is going general! -Snapshots now get cataloged via gallery -Install to SD -ARMx Stability - Should run on more Androids -Moved Object Tracking to the context menu. Enable Detection in Preferences then access the Context Menu to turn on tracking/follow. -Added a Basic (multi-touch) flight mode -Added Infrastucture AP Patch -Added Infrastructure Wi-Fi support -IP, SSID, and Wi-Fi mode fully configurable -Added Crosshairs HUD for Detection -Added numerous crosshairs to choose from -Completely reworked startup logic -Added multiple documentation links -Clarified many messages Licensing Info AR.Pro utilzes specific sofware (Jakarta Commons.net) for performing a handful of functions. This library is used as is, without modification and every effort has been made to adhere to the Apache 2.0 license -- located here: http://www.apache.org/licenses/LICENSE-2.0.html

AR Pro Lite

Version 1.22 by ShellDude in Games & Entertainment::Other

 Please email shell@shellware.com if you have sensor problems. Especially if you're using a tablet. I'm attempting to cover as many devices as possible  If you enjoy this software, please show your support by purchasing the full version available on the Android Market. Many features are available in the full version that do not exist in the Lite version. Please visit the Shellware website (http://www.shellware.com) for information on how to configure your AR.Drone and Android phone to communicate with one another. A very easy to follow guide has been developed, coupled with a special piece of software, that enables ANY Android 2.1+ phone to control an AR.Drone (certains assumptions made -- hardware gfx acceleration, decent cpu, etc) Augmented Reality Professional Controller Front-end for the Parrot AR.Drone (ARDrone) quadcopter flying computer. Features Full Motion control, object following and tracking, management of all AR.Drone configuration data, and the ability to use your phone's azimuth axis (compass) to control the Yaw function of the AR.Drone. Check out http://exop.pro/blog/2010/08/15/ad-hoc-support-for-android/ if you are currently unable to adhoc enable your phone/tablet and don't want to apply the Infrastructure Patch. Use at your own risk. Author provides no warranty, written, or implied. Known Issues - Disable Automatic Network Time Updates AR.Pro will crash (bug in the native library) Located in Android Settings->Date & Time - Do not pair to your drone if you're using a Hotspot built into your phone. My BeatBox

Version 2.2 by BorceBT in Multimedia::Music Composers

Your personal BeatBoxing machine! Create automatic rhythms from samples of your voice just like real human beatboxers and more!

EasyProfiles

Version 3.6 by SmartDyne in Utilities::Other

EasyProfiles is a ProfileManager, which enables you to define profiles (considering a lot of system settings) and switch between them both manually and automatically. Profile Attributes are: WIRELESS CONTROLS - Airplane mode - Bluetooth - GPS - Wifi - AutoSync - Mobile network (Attention Froyo users: You have to enable mobile data connection in the system settings, before EasyProfiles is able to switch it!) - Radio (toggles only phone/SMS connection) DISPLAY - Automatic screen brightness - Screen brightness - Display timeout - AutoRotate - Wallpaper(Animated wallpapers are not supported!) SOUND - Ringer mode - Ringer volume - Notification vibration - Notification volume - System volume - Media volume - Speaker mode (use phone as hands free device) - Ringtone - Notification tone - Sound effects - Haptic feedback - Dtmf tone when dialing ADAVNCED FEATURES - Ringer group exception (You may define contact groups (kind of 'VIP') and add all persons to it that need exceptional handling. I.e. all incoming calls that belong to one of the specified groups are suppressed, if the ringer is on. And vice versa if the ringer is off, these calls are indicated by normal ringer sounds.) - SMS group exception (Same as Ringer group exception, but this attribute considers SMS instead of calls.) - Suppress individual contact ringtones - Screenlock - Automatically Answer Calls Automatic Profile Switches based on: - Time - Weekday - currently activated profile - detected/missing Motion - Bluetooth connection/disconnection - Wifi connection/disconnection - Headphones (plugged in/out) - Battery Level - Charging state - Calendar Entry (with keywords) - Activation Time (limit waiting for another event to specified time, then fire independently) - Location (based on mobile phone cells, does not need GPS!) Additionally define actions on events and/or profile (de-)activation: - Start Application - Stop Application (not available on FROYO) - Notify (Notify yourself on an event) - Send SMS - Call a number (enables call forwarding) - Locale Plugin Setting (use all "locale" plugins also in EasyProfiles!) Your email infrastructure improves with every new application

That is if you've modernized it using Sentrion Message Processors.

Unlike competitive offerings designed as specific-purpose products, the Sentrion Message Processor is a messaging platform with integrated enterprise messaging applications. With each new application, your email infrastructure improves and your total cost of ownership decreases. Why? Simply put, an application on the messaging infrastructure is more efficient and less costly than separate products.

Browse the Sentrion MP App Store to see for yourself how many different applications you can add to Sentrion — everything from data loss prevention applications to applications that help improve deliverability of your sales and marketing email sent from salesforce.com.

Applications for all your enterprise messaging requirements

Compliance Policy

Stay in compliance with federal, state, and international laws and ensure employees comply with your corporate email policies.

Secure Content

Protect sensitive and confidential information by automatically securing your data. These apps protect your business without relying on end-users.

Filtering

Stop 99.9+% of all unwanted email from reaching end-users and prevent 80% of it from ever touching your infrastructure.

Partner

Our trusted partners provide best-of-breed apps by "plugging into" the Sentrion platform. Apps from compliance workflow to Instant Messaging.

Enterprise

All Sentrion applications are enterprise apps, however these are designed to interoperate with your enterprise infrastructure, such as Salesforce.com and ICAP compliant systems.

Community

Hundreds of user-developed and contributed apps are available through the standard Milter interface.

All Sentrion applications rely on the Sentrion Message Processing Engine (MPE).

DC App Store

davidcrow 10 Sep 2009 10:06 AM 0

The District of Columbia continues to lead the Open Data activities for municipalities. The strength of the Apps for Democracy contest as a leading tactic for engaging developers to build applications for the municipality. As number of applications continue to grow as a result of new data sets and additional developers submitting entries to each contest. Helping citizens find the applications that are available has become a key challenge. The DC.gov team has created the DC App Store that includes both Government and Commercial applications.

It's interesting to look at the roles of data releaser, data maintainer, and connecting local citizens to the applications.
