THE COURT FINDS that, given the nature of this matter and the Court’s finding that a statutory restraining order is warranted, expedited discovery is necessary to permit CFTC to discover the existence and location of Defendants’ funds and assets and the identities of Defendants’ customers, and to prepare for the preliminary injunction and other such hearings as the Court may conduct in this matter.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that CFTC’s Motion is GRANTED. Plaintiff is granted leave to conduct expedited discovery, including (1) the taking of up to five depositions, (2) requesting the production of documents from Defendants not otherwise covered by this Court’s orders requiring Defendant to provide CFTC with immediate access to Defendants’ records, and (3) the issuance of subpoenas to third parties. The discovery will be for the purpose of obtaining Defendants’ financial records, discovering the identity of Defendants’ customers and the whereabouts of customer funds, and preparing for a hearing on CFTC’s Motion for Preliminary Injunction.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that depositions of the parties shall be taken upon three business days’ notice, and document production requests shall be responded to within three business days. Non-parties shall be given seven days’ notice for depositions and document requests. Any discovery disputes are subject to this Court’s Standing Order, paragraph 8.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Date: July 27, 2012
