No. C 13-5039 PJH

v.

ORDER REMANDING CASE

TYRONE T. TAYLOR, et al.,

Defendants.

Defendants Tyrone Taylor and Novella Taylor (“defendants”) removed this case from the Superior Court of California, County of Alameda, on October 29, 2013. The court has reviewed the notice of removal and the state court complaint, and finds that the case must be remanded for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

Subject matter jurisdiction is fundamental and cannot be waived. Billingsly v. C.I.R., 868 F.2d 1081, 1085 (9th Cir. 1989). Federal courts can adjudicate only those cases which the Constitution and Congress authorize them to adjudicate – those involving diversity of citizenship or a federal question, or those to which the United States is a party. Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of America, 511 U.S. 375, 377 (1994); see also Cheng Wang ex rel. United States v. FMC Corp., 975 F.2d 1412, 1415 (9th Cir. 1992) (federal courts have no power to consider claims for which they lack subject-matter jurisdiction).

A defendant may remove a civil action filed in state court if the action could have originally been filed in federal court. 28 U.S.C. § 1441. The removal statutes are construed restrictively, however, so as to limit removal jurisdiction. Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. v. Sheets, 313 U.S. 100, 108-09 (1941); see also Matheson v. Progressive Specialty

1 Ins. Co., 319 F.3d 1089, 1090 (9th Cir. 2003).

2 The burden of establishing federal jurisdiction for purposes of removal is on the party
3 seeking removal. Valdez v. Allstate Ins. Co., 372 F.3d 1115, 1117 (9th Cir. 2004). The 4 district court must remand the case if it appears before final judgment that the court lacks
5 subject matter jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. § 1447(c); Albingia Versicherungs A.G. v. Schenker
6 Int'l, Inc., 344 F.3d 931, 936 (9th Cir. 2003).

7 Subject matter jurisdiction is determined from the face of the complaint. Toumajian
8 v. Frailey, 135 F.3d 648, 653 n.2 (9th Cir. 1998) ("[f]or removal to be appropriate, a federal 9 question must appear on the face of the complaint"); see also Caterpillar Inc. v. Williams,
10 482 U.S. 386, 392 (1987) (federal question must be presented on face of plaintiff's properly
11 pleaded complaint); Fifty Assocs. v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am., 446 F.2d 1187, 1189-90 12 (9th Cir. 1970) (existence of diversity jurisdiction must be sufficient on the face of the 13 complaint). Jurisdiction may not be based on a claim raised as a defense or a 14 counterclaim. K2 America Corp. v. Roland Oil & Gas, LLC, 653 F.3d 1024, 1029 (9th Cir.
15 2011).

16 The complaint at issue was filed in Alameda County Superior Court by plaintiff H&H
17 Property Management, LLC. The complaint alleges a single cause of action under state 18 law for unlawful detainer. Defendants filed a notice of removal on October 29, 2013, and 19 on the same day, filed cross-claims against Conneen Hooks, Dale Hooks, Tandra Duron, 20 East Oakland Community Project, Oakland Housing Authority, and the City of Oakland.
21 See Dkts. 1, 5. The notice of removal appears to allege that this court has federal question
22 jurisdiction and supplemental jurisdiction over the complaint by virtue of the asserted cross-
23 claims, which make reference to alleged violations of the federal Fair Housing Act. The 24 notice of removal also contains a heading entitled "diversity of jurisdiction," though it makes 25 no mention of the citizenship of the parties or the amount in controversy.

26 The notice of removal alleges no facts from which the court can find that it has 27 subject matter jurisdiction over the complaint. First, even if the cross-complaint clearly 28

1 alleged causes of action based on federal law (i.e., the Fair Housing Act), removal
2 jurisdiction is determined from the face of the original complaint, which alleges only one
3 cause of action under state law. See, e.g., Toumajian v. Frailey, 135 F.3d 648, 653 n.2
4 (9th Cir. 1998). The court does not consider counter-claims or cross-claims in determining 5 subject matter jurisdiction. K2 America Corp. v. Roland Oil & Gas, LLC, 653 F.3d 1024,
6 1029 (9th Cir. 2011); Metro Ford Truck Sales, Inc. v. Ford Motor Co., 145 F.3d 320, 327
7 (5th Cir. 1998) (finding that “defendant’s third-party claim alleging a federal question does 8 not come within the purview of § 1441 removable”); see also Redevelopment Agency of 9 City of San Bernadino v. Alvarez, 288 F.Supp.2d 1112, 1115 (C.D. Cal. 2003) (citing Metro
10 Ford and holding that removal “cannot be based on a counterclaim or cross-claim raising a 11 federal question”). Thus, as the complaint alleges only a single claim under state law, the 12 court finds that there is no federal question jurisdiction. Defendants’ arguments regarding 13 supplemental jurisdiction appear to be similarly based on the presence of federal cross-
14 claims. Thus, because the court does not consider cross-claims when determining removal 15 jurisdiction, the court also finds that there is no supplemental jurisdiction.

16 Next, while defendants do make reference to “diversity of jurisdiction,” they allege no
17 facts to support such a basis for subject matter jurisdiction. The notice of removal makes 18 no statement regarding the citizenship of the parties or the amount in controversy. Thus,
19 the court finds that there is no diversity jurisdiction over the case.

20 Accordingly, as the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, the action is hereby 21 REMANDED to the Alameda County Superior Court. Because the court lacks subject 22 matter jurisdiction, it does not reach the merits of defendants’ “application for emergency 23 stay of execution” (which the court construes as a request for temporary restraining order).

24 Finally, defendants’ requests to proceed in forma pauperis are GRANTED, and 25 defendants will not be required to pay the filing fee. However, because the case is 26 remanded, this court does not order the U.S. Marshal to serve the complaint, or any other 27 papers, on the plaintiff or cross-defendants.
