Case No. 013-5993 SBA

11 LATASHA WINKFIELD, an individual 12 parent and guardian of Jahi McMath, a minor,

Plaintiff,

14 v.

15 CHILDRENS HOSPITAL OAKLAND, 16 DR. DAVID DURAND, M.D. and DOES 1 through 10, inclusive,

Defendant.

DECLARATION OF DOUGLAS C.
 STRAUS IN OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

19 I, Douglas C. Straus, hereby declare:

20 1. I am counsel for CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL & RESEARCH CENTER AT 21 OAKLAND (Children's Hospital). If called as a witness, I would competently testify to the 22 following facts, all of which are within my own personal knowledge.

23 2. Attached hereto as pages 1 through 211 is an accurate copy of documents filed by 24 the parties, issued by the Court or proceedings transcribed in Alameda County Superior Court 25 Action No. RP 13707598 (Bates Numbered 00001-00185). Given the short amount of notice 26 received, I cannot be 100% certain but I believe all exhibits, declarations and other evidentiary 27 materials are attached. Not all transcripts have been completed. Portions of transcripts 28 designated as confidential in the State court proceeding have not been attached.

1 3. Jahi McMath has been determined to be dead by three separate physicians, 2 including a court-appointed expert, Stanford neurologist Paul Fisher. Plaintiff stipulated that Dr.
3 Fisher performed a competent examination and followed recognized medical protocols in 4 determining that Ms. McMath was deceased. Plaintiff presented no medical evidence in State 5 court that Ms. McMath was still alive.

6 4. Alameda County Superior Court Judge Grillo ruled that Ms. McMath was, very 7 sadly, dead. He expressly rejected Plaintiff's demand that her body be provided nutrients and 8 declined to order any further procedures be performed on that body. Children's Hospital is fully 9 complying with Judge Grillo's Order.

10 5. Children's Hospital has repeatedly informed Plaintiff's counsel that Children's 11 Hospital cannot possibly consider whether to perform medical procedures on the body of Ms.
12 McMath until: (a) a facility has been identified that will accept the body; (b) the facility has 13 established the conditions required for acceptance of the body; (c) there is a defined, lawful 14 transportation plan to take the body from Children's Hospital to the facility; and (d) if the facility 15 is outside California, the coroner has consented to such a transfer.

16 6. Plaintiff has never identified any facility willing to accept the body. So there has 17 been no occasion to even explore what steps, if any, might be required to prepare the body for 18 transfer.

19 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California and the laws of 20 the United States that the foregoing is true and correct.

21 Executed this 30th day of December, 2013 in Walnut Creek, California.

- 1 Medical treatment and Authorizing Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment of the 2 patient Jahi McMath (hereinafter "patient.")
- 3 2. Petitioner is Jahi McMath's mother and is with full power and authority to make legal 4 determinations and medical decisions for Jahi who is a female 13 years of age..
- 5 3. This Petition requests that the Court, in addition to issuing a Temporary Restraining Order and 6 an Order to Prescribe the Health Care Authorizing Medical treatment and Authorizing 7 Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment of the patient Jahi McMath, issue an Order to 8 Show Cause to Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland why Permanent Injunction should not 9 be issued. This Temporary Restraining Order is to be against Respondent Dr. Durand, 10 Children's Hospital Oakland, its agents, employees, servants and independent contractors.
- 11 4. This extraordinary, immediate, emergency relief, in the form of a Temporary Restraining 12 Order precluding discontinuation of life support/ventilation and respiratory support and Order 13 Prescribing Health Care is warranted to preserve the status quo, and the life of Jahi McMath 14 currently on a ventilator at Respondent's Health Care facility, Children's Hospital Oakland.
- 15 5. Failure to issue an immediate Temporary Restraining Order, Order to Prescribe Health Care of 16 the patient Jahi McMath, and Order to Show Cause why Permanent Injunction should not be 17 issued, will result in Children's Hospital Oakland removing Jahi McMath from life 18 support/ventilator support and will, thereby, result in her immediate expiration.
- 19 6. This petition is filed pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code § 3201 for an order determining "that a 20 patient lacks the capacity to make a health care decision concerning specified treatment for an 21 existing or continuing condition, and further for an order authorizing a designated person to 22 make a health care decision on behalf of the patient."
- 23 7. This petition is filed pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code §§ 4766, 4770 for an order determining that 24 the mother, petitioner Latasha Winkfield, knows and can express the patient's desires and the 25 acts and proposed acts of the petitioner are in the patient's best interest.
- 26 8. Latasha is a resident of Alameda County and the minor is currently at Children's Hospital 27 Oakland, 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 28 9. Petitioner's address is 2742 75th Ave, Oakland, California 94605..

- 1 10. Patient's address is Children's Hospital Oakland, 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in
- 2 Alameda County
- 3 11. The patient is a minor child who lives with her mother in Alameda County. No guardian has
- 4 been appointed for the minor.
- 5 12. Patient is currently receiving medical treatment in the ICU of Children's Hospital Oakland
- 6 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 7 13. Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland is a health care institution as defined in Cal. Prob.
- 8 Code § 4619, located at 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 9 14. Respondent David Durand M.D. is the Vice President and Chief of Pediatric Medicine at
- 10 Children's Hospital Oakland
- 11 15. Venue is appropriate in this court because both Jahi McMath and Latasha Linkfieldand are
- 12 residents of Alameda. Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3202, 4763.
- 13 16. Petitioner has standing and is authorized to bring this action as the mother of Jahi McMath.
- 14 Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3203, 4765.
- 15 17. The relief sought in this petition is within the jurisdiction of this Court. Cal. Prob. Code §§
- 16 3202, 3208, 4760.
- 17 18. Jahi McMath is in need of medical treatment. Jahi McMath went to Children's Hospital
- 18 Oakland on December 9, 2013, for a routine tonsillectomy and adnoidectomy. Attached to this
- 19 petition as Exhibit A is a declaration from the petitioner, explaining the chosen course of
- 20 treatment; the threat to the patient's health if authorization for treatment is delayed; and the
- 21 probable outcome of the chosen treatment.
- 22 19. Informed consent is unobtainable because Jahi McMath is a minor and she is currently in a
- 23 comatose state.

24 WHEREFORE, petitioner prays:

- 25 1) That the Temporary Restraining Order and Order to Prescribe Health Care be issued and that
- 26 the court order respondents to show cause why said temporary orders should not be made
- 27 permanent with notice of said OSC to be given as per court order;

Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of Petition for Order Authorizing Medical 1 Children's Hospital Oakland on a ventilator which she relies upon for oxygenation of her blood.

2 Respondents have indicated that they wish to "quickly" remove her from the ventilator indicating that 3 in doing so Jahi will not be able to breath on he own and her heart will stop beating. Given 4 Respondent's statements made on December 19, 2013, Petitioner has been informed that Respondents 5 are of the belief that they need not obtain Petitioner's consent and that they intend to engage in the 6 termination of ventilator support over the coming weekend or during. Respondents have refused 7 Petitioners request to not remove Jahi from life support prior to Christmas saying that they want to 8 terminate respiratory support "quickly, quickly." Petitioner has told Durand and other physicians at 9 Children's Hospital that they do not have her consent to do so and Respondent Durand intimated that, 10 as Jahi is dead, they do not need her consent because taking Jahi off a ventilator is not treatment.
11 Durand stated that the respirator is not considered by Children's Hospital to be life support because 12 they have declared Jahi dead despite her heart beating unassisted. It is without dispute that should 13 Respondents discontinue the ventilator Jahi's heart will stop beating and she will suffer organ death 14 and expire.

15 Petitioner hereby requests a temporary restraining order prohibiting Respondents from 16 unplugging Jahi McMath's ventilator. Petitioner also seeks an order authorizing to her to give consent 17 for medical treatment for Jahi. Petitioner also requests that this court issue an order to show cause to 18 Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland, its agents, employees, servants and independent contractors, 19 including Vice President and Chief of Pediatrics, Dr. David Durand, to demonstrate why a permanent 20 injunction should not be issued preventing them from removing Jahi McMath from her ventilator and 21 other life supporting and maintaining medical care. Plaintiff also seeks a temporary restraining order 22 preventing them from removing Petitioner's daughter, Jahi McMath, from a ventilator and other life 23 supporting and maintaining medical care and treatment, and to order authorizing Petitioner to give 24 consent for medical care until the order shortening time can heard.

25 Statement of Facts

26 Ms. Jahi McMath, 13, is a patient at respondent Children's Hospital, California. On 27 December 9, 2013, she underwent an elective tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy. Dr Frederick Rosen 28 was the operating surgeon and Dr. Thi Nguyen is Jahi's pediatrician. Originally the surgery was 1 uneventful and Jahi awoke from sedation in the recovery room speaking with Petitioner asking for a 2 popsicle. Not long thereafter, Jahi was taken to the ICU and her mother was told to wait several 3 minutes while they fixed her IV. After being told several times that it would just be another 10 4 minutes, approximately 25-45 minutes after Jahi was brought into the ICU, Latasha went back and 5 found her daughter sitting up in bed bleeding from her mouth. It was evident that this had been 6 transpiring for some time. The nursing staff said "it was normal" and the mother stayed bedside as the 7 bleeding grew increasingly worse. The nurses gave Latasha a cup/catch basin for Jahi to bleed from 8 her mouth into. Latasha asked for assistance and was told that this was normal and was given paper 9 towels to clean the blood off herself and Jahi. The bleeding intensified to where copious amounts of 10 blood were being expelled from Jahi's mouth and then nose. Jahi's stepfather was also in attendance 11 and assisted in the attempts to stem/collect the blood. Again the petitioner asked for assistance, and a 12 doctor, and was only given a bigger container to bleed into and, later, a suction device to suction the 13 increasing volume of blood. The stepfather continued to suction while the mother went and got her 14 mother, a nurse, to take over for her. The grandmother saw what was happening and made multiple 15 requests, and then a loud demand, for a doctor. Jahi shortly thereafter suffered a heart attack and fell 16 into a comatose state. She later was pronounced "brain dead" yet her heart still beats, her kidneys 17 function, she reacts to touch, and she appears to be quietly sleeping. No one from Respondent 18 Hospital has explained to Petitioner why this massive bleeding happened or was allowed to continue 19 to the point where it caused a heart attack and brain damage. Jahi is currently aided by a ventilator 20 which provides her physical body life-support. If the ventilator is removed, Jahi dies as her heart will 21 stop beating without a supply of oxygen.

22 Jahi's care is now managed by a team of doctors at Children's Hospital Oakland under the 23 supervision of the Chief of Pediatric Medicine, Vice President of Children's Hospital, Respondent 24 David Durand M.D. Dr. Durand has expressed that he speaks for Children's Hospital Oakland as it 25 relates to the plan of care for Jahi. He is the most senior physician who met with the mother, father, 26 stepfather, uncle and grandmother on December 19, 2013, indicating that Children's Hospital Oakland 27 intended to remove Jahi from life support "quickly" "meaning not days weeks or months." In that 28 meeting Petitioner's request to not take action until after Christmas was summarily rejected as was a

1 request that she could be given 2 court days prior notice before disconnecting life support so she could 2 seek a restraining order/injunction.

3 The Petitioner requested, on December 17, 2013, that Respondents provide her minor child 4 Jahi with a feeding tube, to provide essential hydration and nutrition as well as all other life sustaining 5 care including antibiotics and other medicines to continue to support the functions of her organs and to 6 prolong her life. She also requested that Respondents continue to provide respiratory support in the 7 form of a ventilator which is currently attached to Jahi through a breathing tube. On December 19, 8 2013, Children's Hospital Oakland, through Dr. Durand, told Petitioner that he will not authorize a 9 feeding tube and that he wishes to remove Jahi from life support emphatically telling Petitioner, that 10 there is no life support being provided because Jahi is "dead, dead, dead, dead." Respondents have 11 stated that Children's Hospital Oakland intends to quickly disconnect Jahi from the respirator which 12 will lead to her heart to promptly stop.

13 Petitioner and the entire close-knit extended family are in complete agreement over the 14 appropriate course of treatment; namely the continued use of the ventilator, addition of a feeding tube, 15 and other medical management such as prophylactic antibiotics, diuretics, and other medications 16 designed to provide optimal support for Jahi's heart and other organs. They wish to provide Jahi with 17 time to have her brain swelling diminish, for God to work, for her condition to improve, and for her to 18 regain consciousness.

19 Children's Hospital Oakland and Dr. Durand disagree with the family's chosen course of 20 treatment. They believes it is medically "futile treatment" because it is failing to treat Jahi's medical 21 condition, stating that she is "dead, dead, dead, dead." He stated to the family, "there is no person to 22 treat, we don't provide treatment to dead people. Don't you understand she is dead!" "She is not on 23 life support, she is a dead person hooked up to a machine." He therefore indicated an imminent intent 24 to discontinue the ventilator. Petitioner asked to be permitted to have an independent physician, not 25 aligned with, employed by, or associated with Children's Hospital Oakland, examine Jahi for the 26 purposes of evaluating her condition, and medical status, and to develop a plan of care and/or arrange 27 for her transfer to a different facility that was not in such a rush to extinguish her heart. The Petitioner 28 was told that physicians from outside Childrens Hospital Oakland are not allowed into the hospital and

1 it would be "highly unusual." Petitioner was immediately grilled as to who she would attempt to 2 use. Petitioner responded that she was first trying to see if it was possible. Again Dr. Durand stated 3 that "second opinions are for live people not dead people" so he saw "no need for it." Petitioner then 4 repeated a previous request, made orally and in writing, for release of her daughter's medical records 5 so that she could use those to obtain an independent medical opinion and to develop a plan of care to 6 sustain and improve Jahi's health condition. Dr. Durand, and Children's Hospital Oakland, stated that 7 their policy was not to release patient medical records to patients as long as they were receiving care 8 and treatment indicating, in essence, that the records could be provided when Jahi was discharged i.e., 9 dead. Petitioner stated "but you have told us she is dead so why wont you give us her records?"
10 Petitioner asked for the records to be provided for the care rendered up to 11:59 p.m. December 18, 11 2013. She was told that she would not be provided the documents in their entirety. When she asked 12 whether she could be provided at least some of them, Dr. Durand smugly replied "maybe yes, maybe 13 no."

14 For the past week Petitioner has been repeatedly pressured by Respondents to discontinue the 15 ventilation and other life sustaining/supporting measures. Children's Hospital Oakland has generally 16 been uncooperative and has, in some instances, refused, to provide requested care such as a feeding 17 tube. As stated previously, they have threatened to "quickly" disconnect the ventilator stating that 18 they do not need Petitioner's permission to do so.

19 When Petitioner asked about having time and assistance to locate a facility willing to accept a 20 transfer of care of her daughter she was rebuked repeatedly being told that action needed to be taken 21 "quickly, very quickly" by Dr. Durand.

22 Summary of Argument

23 California statutes regarding healthcare decision-making express a clear policy in favor of 24 placing such decisions in the hands of patients and their families, and not in the hands of healthcare 25 professionals. Cal. Prob. Code §§ 4650, 4659. Moreover, where there is a conflict between the 26 treatment a patient or her family decides upon and what a health care provider is willing to administer, 27 California statutes require the health care provider to assist the appropriate decision-makers to transfer 28 the patient to the care of a health care provider willing to administer the requested treatment. Cal.

1 Prob. Code § 4736.

2 California also has a long common law and constitutional tradition in favor of patients and 3 their families making health care decisions, rather than doctors. See, e.g., Bouvia v. Super. Ct., 225
4 Cal. Rptr. 297, 303 (Ct. App. 1986). This body of law is rooted in patients' privacy and autonomy 5 rights to control their own bodies, to decide for themselves who will make decisions regarding their 6 health care when they are unable, and to have health care decisions made in accord with their best 7 interests.

8 These statutory and common law bodies of law mean that the Petitioner, as Jahi's mother, and 9 not the Respondents, is the appropriate person to decide the purpose and scope of treatment Jahi will 10 receive. If the Respondents feel they cannot carry out the Petitioner's decisions, they must assist her 11 in transferring Jahi to a health care provider who will.

12 Moreover, California has general and specific common law doctrines in favor of preserving 13 human life. Specifically, California precedent requires clear and convincing evidence of the patient's 14 wishes when life support, such as a feeding tube, is removed from an incompetent patient who did not 15 designate someone to make health care decisions for her. Wendland v. Wendland, 28 P.3d 151, 153
16 (Cal. 1991). Jahi has not expressed her desires under these circumstances, either in writing or orally 17 to her doctors or family even if she had, as a minor, her mother would be the one to determine care.
18 There is, therefore, insufficient evidence to remove Jahi from life support as Dr. Durand suggests.
19 More generally, California precedent supports the traditional understanding that the state has an 20 interest in preserving human life, even the lives of the very ill, when this can be done while respecting 21 patients' constitutional rights. See, e.g., Thor v. Superior Court, 855 P.2d 375, 383 (Cal. 1993).
22 Therefore, in a situation such as this, where the patient's desires are unknown, the mother has 23 communicated her religious, moral and paternal preferences, the present illness recent, and the 24 prognosis doubtful, life-sustaining treatment should be continued.

1 Two portions of the Probate Code deal with patients in Jahi's situation, namely, patients in 2 need of medical care without someone appointed by themselves or a court to make medical decisions 3 on their behalf. Both indicate that courts should arrange for a family member to make decisions on 4 behalf of the patient.

5 Though the first, in Division 4 of the Probate Code, dealing with guardianships and 6 conservatorships, Cal. Prob. Code §§ 1400 et seq., does suggest that a court may permit a health care 7 professional to consent to medical treatment on behalf of an incompetent patient under unusual 8 circumstances, procedures a court must follow under those circumstances clearly indicate this is never 9 California's first choice. Cal. Prob. Code § 3203 permits health care providers and public guardians, 10 as well as patients, their friends and family members, to file a petition for the authorization of medical 11 care for incapacitated adults without conservators. While § 3204(g) suggests that a health care 12 institution could be granted authority to consent to medical treatment on behalf of an incompetent 13 patient, § 3205 generally requires the court to ensure the patient has independent legal counsel when a 14 petition is filed pursuant to § 3203. Moreover, § 3206 requires that the patient's family members be 15 given notice of the hearing. These provisions make it clear that a patient's family should at least have 16 the opportunity to be involved in the decision-making process, if not to remove it from health care 17 providers completely.

18 The second is the Health Care Decisions Law, Cal. Prob. Code §§ 4600 et seq. This act allows 19 competent Californians to appoint someone else, such as a friend or family member, to make medical 20 decisions on their behalf in the event of incompetence. Cal. Prob. Code §§ 4600 et seq.

21 B. When there is a conflict, the Probate Code requires health care providers work with 22 family to transfer the patient's care.

23 In general, health care providers must comply with a family's wishes for an incompetent 24 patient as surely as they must comply with a competent patient's wishes. Cal. Prob. Code § 4733.
25 There are two situations when a health care provider may decline to follow the wishes of a patient or 26 her family. The first is for reasons of conscience. Cal. Prob. Code § 4734. The Respondents have 27 never cited to this as a reason for wanting to disconnect the ventilator. Rather, the Respondents seem 28 to be couching their communications to the family under the other exception. "A health care provider

1 or health care institution may decline to comply with an individual...health care decision that requires 2 medically ineffective health care or health care contrary to generally accepted health care standards 3 applicable to the health care provider or institution." § 4735.

4 Dr. Durand believes Jahi's ventilator, feeding tube, and all other medical treatments are 5 ineffective because they do not treat her illness, which, according to him, is "brain death." He is 6 wrong. While the Petitioner understands these measures do not directly treat Jahi's brain damage, 7 they continue to be effective in treating her tangent medical conditions, namely breathing, nutrition, 8 need for nutrition and hydration, kidney and heart function. Treating and maintaining these other 9 systems allow for the brain swelling observed in Jahi's brain to decrease. Dr. Durand also asserts the 10 provision of these treatments is pointless as Children's Hospital Oakland, and himself, "don't provide 11 treatment to dead people." The Petitioner wishes to have an independent doctor conduct a full 12 examination and evaluation of Jahi's current condition and prognosis. She also wishes to have time to 13 find a second doctor and a different hospital or other medical facility in the area that believes the 14 continued administration of these medical measures is appropriate. The Petitioner emphasizes that 15 Children's Hospital Oakland, thought these treatments, that they now wish to deny, were appropriate 16 when they first administered them less than two weeks ago. Rather than being a professional medical 17 judgment, the decisions of Children's Hospital Oakland and Dr. Durand to discontinue treatment are 18 arbitrary in these circumstances.

19 Even if the Respondents had a lawful reason for refusing the requested treatment, they have not 20 fulfilled their statutory duty to assist Ms. Winkfield in locating an alternate care facility. Cal. Prob.
21 Code § 4736 requires health care providers, such as Dr. Durand, and health care institutions, such as 22 Children's Hospital Oakland, not only to inform patients and their families that they are refusing to 23 provide requested treatment, but, also, to assist them in transferring the patient to a situation where the 24 patient will be appropriately cared for and to continue providing care while the transfer is being 25 arranged. Rather than helping Ms. Winkfield and Jahi, as they are obliged to do by statute, the 26 Respondents have attempted to bully, threaten, and trick petitioner into "pulling the plug" on Jahi. Dr.
27 Durand, in stating that Children's Hospital Oakland and himself do not have to obtain Petitioner's 28 consent to discontinue Jahi's ventilator, and, moreover, that they intend to do so "quickly" have given

1 the Petitioner a grossly insufficient time to find a place to transfer her daughter. The Respondents 2 have done nothing to suggest that as a possibility or assist Petitioner in seeking out alternatives. She is 3 being given one alternative, turn off the ventilator. They have not fulfilled their obligation to help the 4 Petitioner obtain care elsewhere. They are, therefore, in violation of Cal. Prob. Code § 4736 and this 5 petition must be granted to correct the situation.

7 II. CALIFORNIA PRECEDENT FORBIDS RESPONDENTS' ACTIONS AND FAVORS
8 PETITIONER'S.

9 A. California requires clear and convincing evidence for the removal of life support.

10 The California Supreme Court has held that clear and convincing evidence of the patient's 11 desires or best interests is necessary before the removing life support from an incompetent patient who 12 did not have the opportunity to appoint a medical decision-maker for herself. Wendland v. Wendland, 13 28 P.3d 151, 154 (Cal. 2001). Such evidence is entirely lacking here.

14 In Wendland, the court-appointed conservator of a conscious but mentally disabled patient 15 sought to discontinue administration of nutrition and hydration by means of a feeding tube. Id. at 155.
16 The Court held that clear and convincing evidence that this was in accord with the patient's desires or 17 best interests was necessary before taking that step. Id. at 166, 174. Regarding the patient's desires, 18 the Court pointed out that a court-appointed decision-maker contrasts with someone selected by the 19 patient himself. A patient is likely to select someone who shares his values and knows his desires. On 20 the other hand, there is no reason to think that someone appointed by a court will have the same 21 special knowledge. There was therefore a greater risk that a conservator would make a mistake 22 regarding what an incompetent patient wanted. Id. at 168. Considering the life-or-death nature of the 23 decision, a higher burden of proof was prudent. Id. at 169-73.

24 The same considerations applied to the determination of whether treatment was in the patient's 25 best interests. "The decision threatens the [patient's] fundamental rights to privacy and life." Id. at 26 174. These rights were firmly grounded in the state and federal constitutions and common law. See 27 id. at 154, 158-59, 162-63, 165 (citing, inter alia, Cruzan v. Dir., Mo. Department of Health, 497 U.S.
28 261 (1990)). Therefore, the high, clear and convincing, evidence standard of whether discontinuance

1 of treatment was within a patient's best interests was necessary in order to keep those appointed by the 2 court from arbitrarily causing patients' deaths. Id.

3 Though Wendland involved an unconscious patient and the formalities of a court-appointed 4 conservatorship, the principles are still applicable here. The patient in Wendland had suffered 5 complications from his feeding tube. Id. at 155. He was conscious and in pain. Id. at 156. These 6 facts suggest a patient might want, or a conservator might feel it was in his best interest, to discontinue 7 treatment. Jahi is not in pain, and has not had any problems with the disputed treatment. Moreover, 8 though the law regarding the powers and obligations of court-appointed conservators is more 9 developed than the law applicable here, the conservator in Wendland, like the petitioner here, was a 10 close relation of the patient. Id. at 155. Yet the Court still required clear and convincing evidence 11 before treatment could be discontinued. This court should do the same.

12 B. The common law favors placing medical decision-making in the hands of patients' 13 families.

14 Though California is less clear than other states regarding who should make medical decisions 15 on behalf of incompetent patients, see, e.g., Protection and Adv. Sys., Inc., v. Presby. Healthcare Serv., 16 128 N.M. 73, 76 (1999), Jeanine Lewis, Health and Welfare: Chapter 658: California's Health Care
17 Decisions Law, 31 McGeo. L. Rev. 501, 504-05, 521, 531 (2000), in addition to the Probate Code, two 18 cases suggest that such authority should rest with patients' families when they are unable to exercise it 19 themselves.

20 In one, dealing with patients' rights to refuse life-sustaining treatment, the Second Appellate 21 District quoted the American Medical Association with approval: "The social commitment of the 22 physician is to sustain life and relieve suffering. Where the performance of one duty conflicts with the 23 other, the choice of the patient, or his family or legal representative if the patient is incompetent to act 24 in his own behalf, should prevail." Bouvia v. Super. Ct., 225 Cal. Rptr. 297, 303 (Ct. App. 1986) 25 (quoting a document entitled "Withholding or Withdrawing Life Prolonging Medical Treatment" by 26 the Council on Ethical and Judicial Affairs of the American Medical Association). California courts 27 therefore have authority from within the medical profession for placing decisions regarding continuing 28 life-sustaining medical treatment in the hands of incompetent patients' families, not their doctors.

1 Respondents are acting contrary to the advice of their own profession by acting contrary to the wishes 2 of Jahi's family.

3 The second case was a homicide prosecution against two physicians who removed life support 4 from a terminally ill patient at his family's request. The appellate court issued a peremptory writ
5 forbidding prosecution. Barber v. Super. Ct., 195 Cal. Rptr. 484, 486 (Cal. Ct. App. 1983). The court 6 held in part that under the circumstances, the doctors were free to abide by the decision of the patient's 7 wife and children rather than making the necessary decision themselves or requesting guidance from a 8 court. Id. at 492. The court reasoned first that medical decisions were usually up to patients, with 9 information and recommendations provided by healthcare professionals. When, however, a patient 10 cannot make the decision his/herself, the decision ought to be made according to her desires and best 11 interests. Id. The court examined the evidence and concluded that the patient's family was most 12 likely to know her/his desires and best able to preserve her/his interests. Barber had discussed end-of-13 life decision-making with his family in the past, and they cared for him at the hospital. Id. at 493.

14 Though the case did not present a clear conflict between a family's decision and a doctor's 15 recommendation, it clearly suggests doctors are to defer to the decisions of patients' families: "It 16 seems clear,...that if the family had insisted on continued treatment, petitioners would have acceded to 17 that request." Id. at 493. Respondents should follow the example of those defendants and follow the 18 Petitioner's instructions, or help her find healthcare providers who will.

19 C. California common law favors the preservation of life when the patient's wishes are 20 unknown.

21 Numerous California cases express a clear policy of preserving life when a patient's wishes are 22 unknown. Frequently the courts have seen this principle as so obvious, they have accepted it as a 23 premise to their reasoning, without discussion.

24 The principle has been expressed by the Supreme Court twice. In affirming the lower court's 25 allocation of the burden of proof, the Court quoted its rhetoric: "When a situation arises where it is 26 proposed to terminate the life of a conscious but severely cognitively impaired person, it seems more 27 rational...to ask 'why?' of the party proposing the act rather than 'why not?' of the party challenging 28 it." Wendland v. Wendland, 28 P.3d 151, 156 (Cal. 2001) (ellipses original). The Court also noted, 1 "A [patient's] right to life (Cal. Const. art. 1, § 1)...coincides here with the state's interest in 2 protecting life..." Id. at 165 n.10.

3 This is affirmed even in those cases finding a right to refuse life-sustaining treatment. In Thor 4 v. Superior Court, 855 P.2d 375, 378 (Cal. 1993), the Court acknowledged "Illnesses and injuries that 5 once brought the clergy to the bedside of the afflicted now may bring a team of highly skilled medical 6 personnel fully equipped with sophisticated, life-preserving machinery." Nevertheless,

7 The state's paramount concern is the preservation of life, which embraces two separate 8 but related aspects: an interest in preserving the life of the particular patient and an 9 interest in preserving the sanctity of all life...It is antithetical to our scheme of ordered liberty and to our respect for the autonomy of the individual for the State to make decisions regarding the individual's quality of life.

10 Id. at 383.

11 In these cases, the Supreme Court was building upon a foundation laid by the intermediate 12 appellate courts. One case held that competent adults have the privacy rights to refuse life-sustaining 13 medical treatment. Nevertheless, "Balanced against these rights are the interests of the state in the 14 preservation of life, the prevention of suicide, and maintaining the ethical integrity of the medical 15 profession. The most significant of these interests is the preservation of life." Bartling v. Super. Ct., 16 163 Cal. App. 3d 186, 195 (1984). Another case provides insight into the contents of the ethical 17 integrity of the medical profession.

18 "Health care professionals serve patients best by maintaining a presumption in favor of 19 sustaining life, while recognizing that competent patients are entitled to choose to forego any treatments, including those that sustain life." (Deciding to Forego Life- 20 Sustaining Treatment, at pp. 3, 5 (U.S. GPO 1983) (Report of the President's Commission for the Study of Ethical Problems in Medicine and Biomedical and 21 Behavioral Research)). Significant also is the statement adopted on March 15, 1986, by the Council on Ethical and Judicial Affairs of the American Medical Association. It 22 is entitled "Withholding or Withdrawing Life Prolonging Medical Treatment." In pertinent part, it declares: "The social commitment of the physician is to sustain life and relieve suffering..."

23 Bouvia v. Super. Ct., 225 Cal. Rptr. 297, 303 (App. Ct. 1986).

24 These cases suggest that even if Petitioner were not the appropriate person to make decisions 25 regarding Jahi's care, even if the Probate Code did not require Respondents to assist Petitioner in 26 transferring Jahi's care, even if there was some evidence cessation of care were what Jahi wants or in 27 her best interest, this court would still be acting contrary to California law should it permit Dr. Durand 28

1 to terminate the treatment which he initiated and which is keeping Jahi alive

2 E. PETITIONERS HAVE AN UNRESOLVEABLE CONFLICT OF INTEREST 3 THEY MAY HAVE COMMITTED NEGLIGENCE AND THEIR DECISION TO 4 TERMINATE LIFE SUPPORT WOULD THEREFORE POSSIBLY ENURE TO THEIR 5 BENEFIT IF HELD LIABLE FOR DAMAGES.

7 Petitioner brought her healthy, beautiful daughter to Children's Hospital Oakland for a routine 8 operation. Her daughter died from what she is concerned may be medical negligence. She has not 9 undertaken an analysis of the professional errors that led to her daughter's condition because she is 10 focused on keeping her daughter alive. Moreover, she has been denied her daughter's medical records 11 and the administration, while willing to talk with her, ad-infinitum, about removing her daughter from 12 life support, will provide her no information to explain why her daughter was allowed to bleed 13 profusely until she had a heart attack. Likewise, she has been denied an independent medical 14 evaluation. So, if Children's Hospital Oakland is negligent, and therefore liable to Petitioner for the 15 injuries suffered by and to her and her daughter, Children's Hospital Oakland can drastically reduce 16 their liability by terminating Jahi's life. If they do so, the draconian MICRA law, which remains 17 unchanged since 1976, caps the value of Jahi's existence at $250,000.00. That is the maximum 18 recoverable for the non-economic damages for pain and suffering or the emotional damages suffered 19 by the loss of a loved one. If Jahi is kept alive in a medical environment, and Children's Hospital 20 Oakland is found to have committed malpractice, Respondents would be responsible to provide her 21 medical care for the remainder of her life. If there is negligence, which is more than a remote 22 possibility, Children's Hospital Oakland has an incentive to terminate Jahi's life support so as to 23 minimize any future financial exposure that they may face. Given this potential conflict of interest 24 they should surely not be the decision maker as to whether Jahi stays on a ventilator or not.

25 CONCLUSION

26 Under California statutory and common law, the appropriate party to make medical decisions 27 for an incompetent patient, such as Jahi, is a family member, such as the Petitioner. The Probate Code 28 requires healthcare providers such as the Respondents to assist families in transferring the medical

1 care of patients when there is a dispute regarding what treatment is appropriate. Precedent also 2 requires clear and convincing evidence before life support can be removed from an incompetent 3 patient who has not appointed someone to make medical decisions on her behalf. There is no 4 evidence that such an action is what Jahi wants or is in her best interest. Finally, California has a 5 policy supporting the preservation of life, even the lives of the very ill. For these reasons, this court 6 should issue an order to prescribe the health care of the patient pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3201, 7 4766, 4770, determining "that Jahi lacks the capacity to make a health care decision concerning 8 specified treatment for an existing or continuing condition, and further for an order authorizing a 9 designated person to make a health care decision on behalf of the patient" pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code 10 § 3201, and determining that the patient's desires are unknown or unclear and the acts and proposed 11 acts of the petitioner are in the patient's best interests.

Declaration of Latasha Winkfield in support of request for TRO and Permanent Injunction.

- 1 from the ventilator which is keeping her alive.
- 2 2) My daughter is Jahi McMath. She is in Childrens Hospital Oakland in the ICU.
- 3 3) My Daughter was admitted on 12/9/2013 for a routine tonsillectomy/adenoidectomy. We were 4 told that it was an in-and-out procedure. I researched the hospitals in the area and chose 5 Childrens because it was supposed to have a good reputation and specialized in children. My 6 daughter is 13. She is a beautiful girl.
- 7 4) On 12/9/13 Jahi underwent an elective tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy. Dr Frederick Rosen 8 was the operating surgeon and Dr. Thi Nguyen is Jahi's pediatrician.
- 9 5) Originally the surgery was uneventful and Jahi awoke from sedation in the recovery room 10 speaking with me and asking for a popsicle.
- 11 6) Not long thereafter, for a reason not told to me, Jahi was taken to the ICU and I was told to 12 wait several minutes while they fixed her IV. After being told several times that it would just 13 be another 10 minutes, approximately 25-45 minutes after Jahi was brought into the ICU, I 14 went back and found my daughter sitting up in bed bleeding from her mouth. It was evident 15 that this had been transpiring for some time. The nursing staff said "it was normal" and as I 16 stayed at her bedside the bleeding grew increasingly worse.
- 17 7) The nurses gave Jahi a cup/small container to bleed into from her mouth. I asked for 18 assistance and was told that this was normal. I was given paper towels to clean the blood off 19 myself and Jahi. The bleeding intensified to where large amounts of blood were being 20 expelled from Jahi's mouth and then nose. Again I asked for assistance, and for a doctor to 21 come see my daughter. The response was only to give us a bigger container for Jahi to bleed 22 into and, later, a suction device to suction the increasing volume of blood. It got to be too 23 much for me so I ^{called} ~~went to my~~ mother, a nurse, ^{at my home} ~~who was waiting outside~~ the ICU.
- 24 8) My mother than made multiple requests, and then a loud demand, for a doctor. Jahi shortly 25 thereafter suffered a heart attack and fell into a comatose state.
- 26 9) She later was pronounced "brain dead" yet her heart still beats, her kidneys function, she reacts 27 to touch, and she appears to be quietly sleeping. I know my daughter, she is my blood and her 28 heart beat in me before it beat outside. I know her heart. She is not gone from her body. She is

- 1 alive.
- 2 10) No one from Respondent Hospital has explained to me why this massive bleeding happened or 3 was allowed to continue to the point where it caused a heart attack and brain damage.
- 4 11) Jahi is currently aided by a ventilator which provides her physical body life-support.
5 Respondents have told me, quite coldly, if the ventilator is removed, Jahi will within a minute 6 or two die as her heart will stop beating without a supply of oxygen.
- 7 12) Jahi's care is now managed by a team of doctors at Children's Hospital Oakland under the 8 supervision of the Chief of Pediatric Medicine, Vice President of Children's Hospital, 9 Respondent David Durand M.D. Some of these doctors and nurses are very companionate and 10 care for my daughter- others, like the ones who have been pressuring me (such as respondent 11 Durand) for over a week, to sign off on a life termination order, are cold hearted.
- 12 13) Dr. Durand has expressed that he speaks for Children's Hospital Oakland as it relates to the 13 plan of care for Jahi. He is the most senior physician who met with me on 12/19/2013 when he 14 met with myself, Jahi's biological father, her stepfather, her uncle and her grandmother. This 15 took place at around 5:45-6:15 p.m. in a doctor's conference room on the third floor.
- 16 14) I was told that Children's Hospital Oakland intended to remove Jahi from life support 17 "quickly" "meaning not days weeks or months." In that meeting I repeated my request to not 18 take any action until after Christmas. This was immediately rejected as was the request that we 19 be given at least two court days notice of any intent to disconnect as we wanted to go to court 20 to file an injunction.
- 21 15) On 12/17/ 2013, I had demanded that Respondents provide Jahi with a feeding tube, to provide 22 essential hydration and nutrition as well as all other life sustaining care including antibiotics 23 and other medicines to continue to support the functions of her organs and to prolong her life.
24 I also requested that Respondents continue to provide respiratory support in the form of a 25 ventilator which is currently attached to Jahi through a breathing tube.
- 26 16) On 12/19/2103 Dr. Durand, told me that he will not authorize a feeding tube and that he wishes 27 to remove Jahi from life support emphatically telling me, that there is no life support being 28 provided because Jahi is "dead, dead, dead, dead." He was condescending and almost angry as

- 1 if I were stupid. I am not stupid. I know my daughter and she is still here .He indicated that 2 Children's Hospital Oakland needed to have this come to a conclusion quickly. I asked what 3 that meant and he said she is dead. It was clear that they want to remove Jahi from the 4 ventilator and they intend to do it soon.
- 5 17) I am opposed to this action and told Dr. Durand and Dr. ^{Williams et} ~~Watson~~, who was also present and 6 pressuring me to "come to a consensus (their desire to pull the plug), that they did not have my 7 consent to remove Jahi from the ventilator. Dr. Durand intimated that he did not need my 8 consent as she was dead and this was not providing treatment. I questioned him and he said 9 that she is not getting treatment, she is dead and just hooked up to a machine. They also 10 refused to provide a feeding tube saying that they don't feed or treat dead people.
- 11 18) They made it clear that they are doing nothing that might help my daughter and that they were 12 going to act quickly to turn off the ventilator.
- 13 19) They denied my request to have an independent doctor come in and do an exam of Jahi, her 14 studies and records. Later Dr. Williams said that might be possible if the doctor met with 15 Children's Hospital's approval.
- 16 20) I asked for my daughter's medical records on the 16th and 17th. My lawyer asked for them in 17 writing on the 18th and I asked them again during the meeting on the 19th. They said that I 18 could not have them because they don't release records of patients that they are still treating.
19 Omari, Jahi's uncle, said - well you said she is dead so I guess you aren't treating her as a 20 patient any more.
- 21 21) I told Dr. Durand that I didn't like the way that he was talking down to us and raising his voice 22 with his arms crossed over his chest in an angry fashion. My mother had to leave as she was 23 so insulted and degraded by his conduct. Again, I asked for Jahi's records so we could have a 24 doctor outside of Children's, who was not friends with, or connected with any Children's 25 physicians look at them. He said he would not do that- then said maybe he would give us a 26 small portion- we asked for all the records up to 11:59 p.m. 12/18/2013. His reply was "maybe 27 yes, maybe no."
- 28 22) I know my daughter better than anyone. She and I talked about her surgery and she was scared

1 that she wouldn't wake up. I know she would want to wake up, to not give up, to have me care 2 for her and to keep her alive even if she does not come back as she was. That is my belief and 3 it is my choice.

4 23) I believe in God and that he can heal all. God created Jahi- he can save her. She needs time, 5 we need time, why cant they give us this time? They did this to her, they owe her some time to 6 heal from what they did. What is their hurry to kill my daughter? I told Dr. Durand that I 7 brought her in her heathy, you killed her when she had her heart attack and you had to revive 8 her, so you brought her back to life and now you want to kill her again. No I won't allow it.

9 24) Based on that conversation I am convinced that he will do as he said and "act quickly" to 10 disconnect the life support systems such as the respirator monitor, automatic medication 11 dispensing device, the IV, catheter etc. He looked at me and told me that he didn't need my 12 permission because she was a dead body hooked up to a machine.

13 25) I want my daughter to have every chance to get better and recover. Dozens of people have 14 called, written and e-mailed my family, many mothers. Some say that they resisted this kind of 15 pressure and their "brain dead" children came out of it - some weeks later- some months later.
16 I had others tell me that the same thing happening to them here at Children's too. They 17 encourage me not to give in. One didn't and her child, although not back to who she was 18 before, came out of it and could recognize her mom, eat, feel love, etc.

19 26) Removing my daughter from life support and ending her heart beat is against my religion.
20 Christ is in our blood. I oppose this with every ounce of my being. Don't let them kill my 21 child, please, please. If you, Judge, have a child think of them. My children are good children.
22 Help me please.

[Proposed] Temporary Restraining Order/Order Authorizing Medical Treatment and Authorizing Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment

00024

1 injunction should not be issued, came upon ex-parte application before this court on December 20, 2 2013. Christopher B. Dolan appeared as attorney for petitioner.

4 On considering the petition and the evidence offered in support of the petition, the court finds 5 that:

- 6 1. There exists a basis in law and in fact for the issuance of a temporary restraining order and 7 order for provision of medical assistance as requested;
- 8 2. Failure to grant the Petition will potentially result in irreparable harm to the patient Jahi 9 McMath and this order is necessary until such time as the petitioner can obtain her daughter's 10 medical records and obtain an independent medical examination and the court can hold further 11 evidentiary hearing;
- 12 3. All facts and allegations as set forth in the petition are true and correct;
- 13 4. The continuing medical condition of the patient requires the requested course of medical 14 treatment. If withheld, the condition is life-ending; and
- 15 5. The patient is unable to give an informed consent to the recommended treatment because of 16 her medical condition.

17 THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

18 The temporary restraining order is hereby granted until such time as the Order to Show Cause 19 re Permanent Restraining Order/Injunction precluding the Respondent from removing Petitioner 20 from the ventilator and Order Authorizing Medical Treatment and Authorizing 21 Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment can be heard at the time and date set forth in 22 said Order.

23 This Temporary Restraining Order/Order Authorizing Medical Treatment and Authorizing 24 Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment orders the following ;

- 25 1) Respondent CHO, its agents, employees, servants and independent contractors including 26 Respondent Dr. Durand, is ordered to provide Jahi McMath with medical treatment and support 27 which is essential to preserve and protect her life, body, organs and systems against death and 28 expiration. Respondents are precluded from discontinuing said medical treatment and/or support without the express permission of Petitioner Latasha Winkfield. Specifically until such time as a hearing can be had on the Order to Show Cause this Temporary Restraining Order will provide for continued administration of nutrition and hydration by means of a feeding tube, continued use of a ventilator to maintain the functioning of the patient's lungs, and all other medicines and treatments, services of health care providers, and other actions necessary to preserve and improve the tissues, organs, systems, bones and all other components of Jahi McMath's body

2) Latasha Winkfield is authorized to give consent to the requested treatment on behalf of Jahi McMath;

3) Petitioner is to be entitled, within the next two weeks to have an independent physician who is board certified in Neurology, Neurosurgery and/or rehabilitative medicine, enter Respondent's facility to conduct an independent medical examination;

4) Respondents are, within the next two weeks, ordered to produce Petitioner's medical records from the date of her pre-operative visits through the date of the signature on this order, including but not limited to any and all scans, images, x rays, medical records, nursing notes, operative notes, pre operative notes, post operative notes, anesthesia records, physicians notes, resident's notes, physician's orders, medication orders, medication administration, nursing notes, nursing report and shift change notes, documents showing physicians were paged, contacted, e-mailed or otherwise contacted by other physicians, nurses, or staff (other than those protected by the peer review privilege);

5) Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland, their agents, employees and the attending health care team, as well as Dr. Durand, M.D., are ordered to assist Petitioner Latasha Linkfield in finding a health care facility who will administer treatment in accordance with this order and until such time as such a facility is located or the date set for hearing on the permanent restraining order/injunction as contemplated by Paragraph 8(g) below;

[Proposed] Order To Show Cause

1 Venue is appropriate in this court because both Jahi McMath and Latasha Linkfield and are a 2 residents of Alameda and Children's Hospital Oakland is an entity with its principal place of business 3 in Alameda County. Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3202, 4763.

4 Petitioner has standing and is authorized to bring this action as the mother of Jahi McMath.
5 Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3203, 4765. The relief sought in this petition is within the jurisdiction of this 6 Court. Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3202, 3208, 4760.

7 1) Jahi McMath went to Children's Hospital Oakland on December 9, 2013 for a routine 8 tonsillectomy and adnoidectomy December 9, 2013. Attached to this petition as Exhibit A is a 9 declaration from the petitioner, explaining the chosen course of treatment; the threat to the patient's 10 health if authorization for treatment is delayed; and the probable outcome of the chosen treatment.

11 2) Informed consent is unobtainable because Jahi McMath is a minor and she is currently in a 12 comatose state.

13 3) Pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code §§ 3201, 4766 and 4770 Petitioner sought and received an 14 emergency ex parte Temporary Restraining Order against removing Jahi McMath from life support 15 and Order to Prescribe the Health Care Authorizing Medical treatment and Authorizing Petitioner to 16 Give Consent to Medical Treatment of the patient Jahi McMath (hereinafter patient.") 17 4) Petitioner also sought a permanent restraining order/injunction and order requesting that the 18 Court, in addition to issuing a Temporary Restraining Order and an Order to Prescribe the Health Care 19 Authorizing Medical treatment and Authorizing Petitioner to Give Consent to Medical Treatment of 20 the patient Jahi McMath issue an Order to Show Cause to Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland, 21 its agents, employees, servants and independent contractors, including but not limited to Dr. Durand, 22 why Permanent Injunction and Order should not be issued for the same.

23 5) Petitioner contends that this extraordinary, immediate, relief, in the form of a permanent 24 injunction precluding discontinuation of life support/ventilation and respiratory support and an order 25 Prescribing Health Care is warranted to preserve the status quo, and the life of Jahi McMath, currently 26 on a ventilator at Respondent's Health Care facility, Children's Hospital Oakland.
27
28

- 1 6) Petitioner contends that failure to issue a permanent injunction/restraining order, Order to 2 Prescribe Health Care of the patient Jahi McMath, will result in Children's Hospital Oakland 3 removing Jahi McMath from life support/ventilator support and will, thereby, result in her immediate 4 expiration.
- 5 7) Petitioner's has filed her petition is filed pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code § 3201 for an order 6 determining "that a patient lacks the capacity to make a health care decision concerning specified 7 treatment for an existing or continuing condition, and further for an order authorizing a designated 8 person to make a health care decision on behalf of the patient."
- 9 8) Petitioner's has filed her petition pursuant to Cal. Prob. Code §§ 4766, 4770 for an order 10 determining that the mother Latasha Winkfield knows and can express the patient's desires and the 11 acts and proposed acts of the petitioner are in the patient's best interest.
- 12 9) Petitioner, Latasha Winkfield, is the mother of Jahi McMath (hereinafter "patient"), aged 13 13 years old.
- 14 10) Latasha is a resident of Alameda County and the minor is currently at Children's Hospital 15 Oakland, 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 16 11) Petitioner's address is 2742 75th Ave, Oakland, California 94605.
- 17 12) Patient's address is Children's Hospital Oakland, 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in 18 Alameda County
- 19 13) The patient is a minor child who lives with her mother in Alameda County. No guardian has 20 been appointed for the minor.
- 21 14) Patient is currently receiving medical treatment in the ICU of Children's Hospital Oakland 22 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 23 15) Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland is a health care institution as defined in Cal. Prob.
24 Code § 4619, located at 747 52nd Street, Oakland Ca. 94609, in Alameda County.
- 25 16) Plaintiff contends that Respondent David Durand M.D. is the Vice President and Chief of 26 Pediatric Medicine at Children's Hospital Oakland, he supervises the care and treatment

- 1 provided to Jahi McMath and has indicated to Petitioner that he and/or Children's Hospital
2 Oakland intend to terminate the ventilation support currently being administered to Jahi 3 McMath;
- 4 17) Plaintiff contends that Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland has informed Petitioner that 5 removal of Jahi McMath from the ventilator will result in Jahi's heart stopping and her body's 6 expiration.
- 7 18) Petitioner contends hat she has informed Children's Hospital Oakland and Dr. Durand that she 8 prohibits such action;
- 9 19) Petitioner contends that Respondent has stated that it/he sees no need to provide medical 10 treatment to Jahi McMath as she is dead already;
- 11 20) Petitioner has a real and substantiated concern that Children's Hospital Oakland and/or Dr 12 Durand will discontinue the use of the respirator and/or will otherwise not provide nutritional 13 support and/or other medical and personal care to Jahi McMath thereby hastening the failure of 14 her other organs and systems leading to her heart and other organs failing thereby causing 15 Jahi's demise.

17 THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

18 Respondent is Ordered to Show Cause why a permanent restraining order/injunction 19 precluding the respondent from removing petitioner from the ventilator and order authorizing 20 medical treatment and authorizing petitioner to give consent to medical treatment should not be 21 granted to Petitioner.

22 Specifically the Respondents are ordered to show cause why there should not be an restraining 23 order and injunction issued precluding them from removing Jahi McMath from a ventilator and 24 associated equipment, support and supplies (such as oxygen - tubes- suction etc) and an order 25 requiring that they provide Jahi McMath with medical treatment and support which is essential to 26 heal, preserve and protect her life, body, organs and systems against death and expiration 27 including, but not limited to, respiratory support by ventilator, oxygen, etc.

1 Respondents are also ordered to show cause why they should not be ordered to continue 2 administration of nutrition and hydration by means of a feeding tube, and all other medicines and 3 treatments, services of health care providers, and other actions necessary to preserve and improve 4 the tissues, organs, systems, bones and all other components of Jahi McMath's body.

5 Respondents are also ordered to show cause why Latasha Winkfield should not be authorized 6 by the court to give consent to the requested treatment on behalf of Jahi McMath;

7 Respondents are also ordered to show cause why they should not be ordered to assist 8 Petitioner Latasha Linkfield in finding a health care facility and provider which will administer 9 treatment in accordance with the wishes of Petitioner.

10 The Court Sets the following briefing schedule;

- 11
- 12 1) Plaintiff shall immediately serve Respondent Children's Hospital Oakland and Dr. Durand 13 with the Petition, Memorandum of Points and Authorities, Supporting Declarations, 14 Temporary Restraining Order and this Order to Show Cause by service on Children's Hospital 15 Oakland's General Counsel Ms. Jacquelyn Garman, at Children's Hospital Oakland and shall 16 file a proof of service as to the same by the close of the court day on December 23rd 2013.
 - 17 2) On or before January 15, 2014, Petitioner, after having an opportunity to conduct her 18 independent medical examination and receipt and review of Jahi's medical records shall 19 supplement her evidence and Memorandum of Points and Authorities with facts and argument 20 supporting her request for an injunction and order;
 - 21 3) Defendant shall file and serve any opposition to this Order to Show Cause on or before January 22 30, 2014.
 - 23 4) Petitioner shall, on or before February 6, 2014 file and serve a reply if any.

19 INTRODUCTION

20 Children's Hospital & Research Center at Oakland (Children's) has no duty to continue 21 mechanical ventilation or any other medical intervention for its deceased minor patient Jahi 22 McMath ("Ms. McMath"). Ms. McMath is deceased as a result of an irreversible cessation of all 23 functions of her entire brain, including her brain stem. Health & Safety Code § 7180. Sadly, this 24 has been true for more than a week. This determination has been made by numerous 25 physicians—including physicians unaffiliated with Children's—satisfying the requirements of 26 Health & Safety Code § 7181.
27

28 C0413001/1720513-1

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

00036

1 Tragically, Ms. McMath is dead and cannot be brought back to life. Children's has given 2 Ms. McMath's family/next of kin ample notice of its decision to stop providing mechanical 3 support to Ms. McMath's body as is required by Health & Safety Code § 1254.4. Accordingly, 4 Children's is under no legal obligation to provide medical or other intervention for a deceased 5 person. The TRO should be denied.

7 II
8 RELEVANT FACTS

9 Ms. McMath was admitted to Children's Hospital on December 9, 2013, for a complicated 10 surgical procedure consisting of an adenotonsillectomy, uvulopalatopharyngoplasty, and 11 submucous resection of bilateral inferior turbinates. Following this surgical procedure, Ms.
12 McMath was admitted, as planned, to Children's's Pediatric Intensive Care Unit, where she 13 suffered serious complications resulting in a tragic outcome—her death.
14

15 On December 12, 2013, pursuant to California law, medical guidelines and Children's 16 procedures, Ms. McMath was declared brain dead as a result of an irreversible cessation of all 17 functions of her entire brain, including her brain stem. Children's follows the standard 18 established by Task Force on Brain Death in Children: Guidelines for the Determination of Brain 19 Death in Children, An Update of the 1987 Task Force Recommendations (2011) in making such 20 determinations. Two separate Children's physicians determined that Ms. McMath was brain 21 dead. In addition, at the request of the family, three additional independent physicians-- 22 unaffiliated with Children's and either selected by or approved by Ms. McMath's family/next of 23 kin--examined Ms. McMath. Each confirmed the diagnosis of brain death. All tests and 24 examinations have consistently and definitively confirmed that Ms. McMath is brain dead.
25 Accordingly, Children's has declared Ms. McMath to be dead.
26

27 On December 12, 2013 Children's advised Ms. McMath's family/next of kin that she had 28

1 been determined to be brain dead. During the ensuing week, Children's undertook extraordinary 2 measures to support Ms. McMath's family/next of kin including:

- 3 • Members of Ms. McMath's medical team have met repeatedly and at length with Ms.
4 McMath's mother and other members of the family. They have explained Ms. McMath's 5 complete lack of brain activity and its significance, answered the family's questions, and 6 supported them as they have attempted to come to grips with this tragic situation.
- 8 • The family has also received support from social workers on a daily basis.
- 9 • At the family's request, Children's has provided a way for them to determine who they 10 want to visit during regular visiting hours by instituting a visitor "code" that is used to 11 screen potential visitors.
- 12 • Children's's chaplain has provided support and prayers for family on a near daily basis 13 since 12/11.
- 14 • Child Life professionals have provided support to siblings.
- 15 • In order to accommodate the need for the family to support one another, Children's has 16 also relaxed some of its visitation policies. The family has had permission to have 8 17 family members in the hospital overnight since 12/16. Children's has relaxed the 8 PM 18 visitor hour to 10 PM for siblings. Children's has relaxed its policy regarding the number 19 of visitors allowed during regular visiting hours.
- 20 • In order to provide a gathering place in the hospital, the hospital secured a room in the 21 hospital for the family to meet.
- 22 • In order to provide privacy for family, the hospital secured space at the Family House for 23 the family to gather and have access to nourishment.
- 24 • In order to provide a way for community members to support the family, the hospital has 25 made it possible for donations, cards to be collected and passed to the family.
26
27
28

1 A full week after death, Children's has determined that the time has come to stop 2 providing mechanical support to Ms. McMath's body. Accordingly, on December 19, 2013 3 Children's advised Ms. McMath's family/next of kin of their intent to discontinue all mechanical 4 ventilation and any other medical intervention soon.

6 III.
7 LEGAL ARGUMENT

8 Pursuant to California Health & Safety Code § 7180, an individual who has sustained 9 "irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including the brain stem," is dead.
10 Health & Safety Code § 7181 requires independent confirmation of any determination of brain 11 death by a second physician. Children's has fully complied with these requirements.

12 In this case, Ms. McMath has received neurological examinations by two separate 13 physicians on staff at Children's, received two EEGs which detected zero brain activity and three 14 additional independent examinations by outside physicians not associated with Children's. All 15 five practitioners have unanimously agreed that Ms. McMath is brain dead and that her condition 16 is irreversible. All such determinations have been made in accordance with California law, 17 medical guidelines and Children's policy and procedure. Children's cannot be legally required to 18 continue to provide any "medical" intervention to someone who is deceased.

19 20 Any argument that Ms. McMath's mother has a right to participate in decision-making 21 here is based on a fundamental misapprehension. The next of kin has a right to participate in 22 decisions regarding life-sustaining treatment. Children's's own procedures acknowledgement 23 this fundamental right. However, there is simply no life-sustaining treatment that can be 24 administered to a deceased person. Because Ms. McMath is dead, practically and legally, there is 25 no course of medical treatment to continue or discontinue; there is nothing to which the family's 26 consent is applicable. To be blunt, Children's is currently merely preserving Ms. McMath's body 27
28

1 from the natural post-mortem course of events. There is no legal, ethical or moral requirement 2 that it continue to do so or that the family consent in the decision to stop doing so.

3 Dority v. Superior Court (1983) 145 Cal. App. 3d 273 does not hold otherwise. In that 4 case, the Court of Appeal affirmed the trial court's decision to allow withdrawal of support to a 5 brain dead infant over the objections of the infant's parents. Although the parents were found to 6 lack standing due to allegations of child abuse, the Court of Appeal did explain that the courts can 7 intervene in hospital brain death decisions to terminate support only "upon a sufficient showing 8 that it is reasonably probable that a mistake has been made in the diagnosis of brain death or 9 where the diagnosis was not made in accord with accepted medical standards." 145 Cal. App.
10 3d at 280.

12 There is not a scintilla of evidence suggesting that the diagnosis of death is a mistake or 13 was not made in accord with accepted medical standards.¹ To the contrary, on December 18, 14 2013, lawyer Christopher Dolan, writing on behalf of Ms. McMath's mother, stated that Ms.
15 McMath "has been left brain dead" and requested a "complete explanation as to exactly how Jahi 16 has now come to be brain dead." Copy attached hereto.

17
18 There is no factual or legal dispute. Ms. McMath is dead. California Health & Safety 19 Code § 1254.4 requires that a hospital provide a reasonable period of accommodation between the 20 time an individual is declared brain dead before discontinuation of cardiopulmonary support for 21 the patient. Ms. McMath's family was told that she had been determined to be brain dead on 22 Thursday December 12, 2013. At that time, Ms. McMath's family requested that Children's 23 allow them through that weekend for family members to gather. Children's agreed and indeed has 24 now accommodated Ms. McMath's family for more than a week. Children's has plainly provided 25

27 ¹ In re Christopher is even further afield. 106 Cal. App. 4th 533 (2003). As the Court of Appeal explained, 28 "Christopher is not brain dead" because he "has some lower and mid-brain-stem activity." 106 Cal. App. 4th at 543.
Obviously, procedures for withdrawing treatment to a living person are radically different than procedures to be followed in handling the body of a dead person.

1 the family/next of kin with far more time than the "reasonably brief period of accommodation" 2 called for by Children's Guidelines and California Health & Safety Code section 1254.4. The 3 TRO should be denied.

5 IV.
6 CONCLUSION

7 While tragic, Ms. McMath was declared brain dead December 12, 2013. There is no 8 medical possibility of reversal. There is no legal authority or ethical or moral imperative to 9 compel Children's to continue mechanical ventilation or provide any other "medical" intervention 10 on an individual who is dead. The TRO should be denied.

RE: Jahi McMath

Dear Madam or Sir:

This firm represents Nailah Winkfield, mother of Jahi McMath, a 13 year old girl who has been left brajn dead following a tonsillectomy performed in your facility on December 9, 2013.

Ms. Winkfield has been attempting to retrieve a complete copy of any and all medical records relating to all of her daughter's recent surgery and treatment at your hospital. She went to your office on December 16, 2013, requested the records and was initially informed by a clerk that she could have them. Apparently, however, as the clerk was retrieving a copy of the records, a supervisor in your office appeared and informed Ms. Winkfield that she could not have a copy of her daughter's medical records at that time. It is unknown why this change in position occurred.

As the legal representative of Nailah Winkfield, Jahi McMath's mother, our office now demands immediate production of a complete copy of the medical records for Jahi McMath. We request that the records be produced in their original and complete condition as they existed on the date of the incident described above. If signed copies of the medical records have not been generated yet, those copies can be generated and produced at a later date.

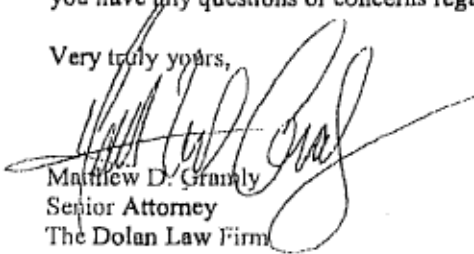

Attached and included herein is an Authorization for Release of Medical Information signed by Ms. Winkfield in her capacity of legal guardian for her minor child, Jahi McMath. The release conforms to all requirements for such releases as stated in California Civil Code section 56.11. The release form that is attached and included herein is a photocopy. The original signed form has already been provided to your hospital, to the office of the President to be provided to the office of risk management.

The purpose of this request is to provide the family of Jahi McMath with any and all relevant documentation related to her surgery, her treatment and any and all aftercare in order for the family to begin the process of obtaining an independent medical review. The family of Jahi McMath wants to know what happened to their daughter and how it happened and, to date, does not feel that they have received an open, honest and complete explanation as to exactly how Jahi has now come to be brain dead.

Thank you in advance for your anticipated cooperation with this request. Please contact me if you have any questions or concerns regarding the contents of this correspondence.

Very truly yours,

Matthew D. Grantly

PHYSICIAN DECLARATION

of Robert Heidersbach

1 I, Robert Scott Heidersbach, M.D., hereby declare as follows:
2 1. I am a duly licensed physician, board certified in the specialty of pediatric critical 3 care medicine. I am a member in good standing of the medical staff of Children's Hospital & 4 Research Center at Oakland (Children's).
5 2. I was the attending physician for patient Jahi McMath ("Ms. McMath") during the 6 week of December 9, 2013. On December 11, 2013, based on the fact that her brain stem reflexes 7 had disappeared, I requested that a brain death evaluation be performed by a member of the 8 Children's Pediatric Neurology Department. The purpose of this examination was to determine 9 whether Ms. McMath had sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of her entire brain, 10 including her brain stem.
11 3. Dr. Robin Shanahan performed the first such examination on December 11, 2013, 12 and the results of that examination revealed that Ms. McMath had sustained an irreversible 13 cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including her brain stem.
14 4. On December 12, 2013, I personally performed a second brain death evaluation on 15 Ms. McMath, which included performing a complete physical examination as well as a brain 16 death examination and apnea test, which determines whether there is any respiratory brain stem 17 function. This included determination of whether Ms. McMath responded to pain or other 18 noxious stimuli and an evaluation of multiple brain stem reflexes. This evaluation confirmed that 19 Ms. McMath had sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including 20 her brain stem and had no respiratory brain stem function. In addition, a total of three 21 electroencephalograms have been performed on Ms. McMath since December 11, 2013; the 22 reports for all of these EEGs confirm that Ms. McMath has no cerebral activity.
23 5. The results of the brain death evaluation I performed confirm that Ms. McMath is 24 brain dead in accordance with all accepted medical standards.
25 6. There is absolutely no medical possibility that Ms. McMath's condition is 26 reversible or that she will someday recover from death. Thus, there is no medical justification to 27 provide any further medical treatment whatsoever to Ms. McMath.

PHYSICIAN DECLARATION
of Robin Shanahan

1 I, Robin Shanahan, M.D., hereby declare as follows:

2 1. I am a duly licensed physician, board certified in the specialty of neurology with 3 special competence in child neurology. I am a member in good standing of the medical staff of 4 Children's Hospital & Research Center at Oakland (Children's).

5 2. On December 11, 2013, a brain death evaluation (the "Test") was ordered for 6 patient Jahi McMath ("Ms. McMath"). The purpose of this Test was to determine whether Ms.
7 McMath had sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of her entire brain, including her 8 brain stem.

9 3. The Test was performed on the morning of December 11, 2013. I personally 10 performed the Test, which included review of her electroencephalogram (EEG) and clinical 11 history, and performed a physical examination which included whether she responded to pain or 12 other noxious stimuli and an evaluation of multiple brain stem reflexes. The Test revealed that 13 Ms. McMath had sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including 14 her brain stem. In addition, the results of the EEG revealed no cerebral activity.

15 4. The results of the Test confirm that Ms. McMath is considered brain dead in 16 accordance with all accepted medical standards.

17 5. I also examined Ms. McMath before 9 a.m. on December 12, 2013, and found no 18 changes in her condition.

19 6. There is absolutely no medical possibility that Ms. McMath's condition is 20 reversible or that she will someday recover from death. Brain death is always followed by 21 somatic death, i.e., it is inevitable that the heart will stop beating. Thus, there is no medical 22 justification to provide any further medical treatment whatsoever to Ms. McMath.

DIVISION CHIEF DECLARATION

1 I, Sharon Williams, M.D., hereby declare as follows:

2 1. I am a duly licensed physician specializing in the field of pediatric critical care 3 medicine. I am the Division Chief of the Critical Care Division at Children's Hospital & 4 Research Center at Oakland (Children's).

5 2. I have verified that Children's has followed California law, medical guidelines and 6 Children's procedures in determining that Children's patient Jahi McMath ("Ms. McMath") is 7 deceased as a result of an irreversible cessation of all functions of her entire brain, including her 8 brainstem. I have attached hereto as Exhibit A a true and correct copy of the relevant portions of 9 pages 8-11 of the Children's Hospital End-of-Life Care Guidelines related to Brain Death.

10 3. Children's follows the standard established by Task Force on Brain Death in 11 Children: Guidelines for the Determination of Brain Death in Children, An Update of the 1987 12 Task Force Recommendations, Pediatrics 2011; 128: e720-e740. Ms. McMath has no 13 neurologic function.

14 4. Two separate examinations, with apnea testing, have been performed by two 15 different attending physicians with the examinations separated by an observation period of more 16 than 12 hours (in fact, here more than 24 hours). The first physician, Dr. Robin Shanahan, a 17 board-certified pediatric neurologist, examined Ms. McMath on December 11 and again on 18 December 12, 2013 and determined that Ms. McMath had met the accepted neurologic 19 examination criteria for death. The second physician, Dr. Robert Heidersbach, a board-certified 20 pediatric critical care physician, examined Ms. McMath on December 12, 2013 and determined 21 that Ms. McMath's brain death was based on an unchanged and irreversible condition.

22 5. In addition, even though the Guidelines do not require any ancillary study, two 23 separate electroencephalograms (EEGs) were performed on December 11, 2013, and December 24 12, 2013. Each of them provided further confirmation that Ms. McMath is irreversibly brain 25 dead.

26 6. All requirements of the Guidelines with respect to the pronouncement of brain 27 death have been met.

28 7. All tests and examinations have consistently and definitively confirmed that Ms.

McMath is brain dead. Accordingly, Children's declared Ms. McMath to be dead on December 12, 2013.

8. There is no medical justification to provide further intervention for a deceased person. All cardiopulmonary support and any other medical intervention should immediately be discontinued.

9. Children's staff advised Ms. McMath's family/next of kin on December 12, 2013, that, unfortunately, she is dead. Thus, CHO has provided the family/next of kin with far more time than the "reasonably brief period of accommodation" for the family to gather at Ms. McMath's bedside called for by CHO Guidelines and California Health & Safety Code section 1254.4. This is far in excess of the 2-3 days that Children's has considered to be reasonable accommodation in all brain death cases in the past 10 years.

I declare under the penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed this 20th day of December at Oakland, California.

VI. BRAIN DEATH

A. PURPOSE

This section provides guidance for determining brain death with the goal of reducing the potential for variations in brain death practices among physicians. The following outlines appropriate examination criteria and use of ancillary testing to diagnose brain death in neonates, infants and children.

B. SCOPE AND APPLICABILITY

This section applies to physicians who are responsible for determining brain death in neonates, infants, and children thought to be brain dead. Because of insufficient data in the literature, recommendations for preterm infants less than 37 weeks gestational age are not included in this guideline.

C. GUIDELINES

The report of the Task Force on Brain Death in Children: Guidelines for the Determination of Brain Death in Children, An Update of the 1987 Task Force Recommendations (2011) is the accepted standard for the determination of brain death at Children's Hospital.

1. Determination of brain death in term newborns, infants and children is a clinical diagnosis based on the absence of neurologic function with a known irreversible cause of coma.
2. Hypotension, hypothermia, and metabolic disturbances should be treated and corrected and medications that can interfere with the neurologic examination and apnea testing should be discontinued, allowing for adequate clearance before proceeding with these evaluations.

3. Two examinations including apnea testing with each examination, separated by an observation period are required. Examinations should be performed by different attending physician. Apnea testing may be performed by the same physician.
4. The first examination determines whether the child has met the accepted neurologic examination criteria for brain death. The second examination confirms brain death based on an unchanged and irreversible condition. Assessment of neurologic function following cardiopulmonary resuscitation or other severe acute brain injuries should be deferred for 24 hours or longer if there are concerns or inconsistencies in the examination.
5. Apnea testing to support the diagnosis of brain death must be performed safely and requires documentation of an arterial PaCO₂ 20mm Hg above the baseline and \geq 50mm Hg with no respiratory effort during the testing period. If the apnea test cannot be safely completed, an ancillary study should be performed.
6. Death is declared when the above criteria are fulfilled. (Pediatrics 2011; 126: e720-e740)

D. ADDITIONAL CONSIDERATIONS

The Special Task Force Guidelines (see above) do not specifically address several concerns that occasionally arise during a brain death determination:

1. Interval between clinical examinations:
 - a) An observation period of 24 hours for term newborns (37 weeks gestational age) to 30 days of age is required.
 - b) An observation period of 12 hours for infants and children (\geq 30 days to 18 years) is recommended.
2. Confirmatory tests:
 - a) Ancillary studies (electroencephalogram and radionuclide cerebral blood flow) are not required to establish brain death and are not a substitute for the neurologic examination.
 - b) Ancillary studies may be used to assist the clinician in making the diagnosis of brain death
 - 1) when components of the examination or apnea testing cannot be completed safely due to the underlying medical condition of the patient
 - 2) if there is uncertainty about the results of the neurologic examination
 - 3) if a medication effect may be present; or to reduce the inter-examination observation period.
 - c) When ancillary studies are used, a second clinical examination and apnea test should be performed and components that can be completed must remain consistent with brain death. In this instance the observation interval may be shortened and the second neurologic examination and apnea test (or all components that are able to be completed safely) can be performed at any time thereafter.

3. Sedative-hypnotic Drugs:

CNS depression due to sedative or hypnotic drugs should be excluded. This condition may be met by directly measuring the drug blood level, or by waiting an appropriate period of time for drug elimination to proceed.

4. Body temperature:

Body temperature should be more than 36 degrees Celsius so that reversible CNS depression due to hypothermia is excluded.

5. Independent Confirmation:

The Task Force recommends that a second physician confirm the diagnosis of brain death after an appropriate observation period. The initial determination may be made by the ICU attending or fellow, attending neurologist, attending neurosurgeon, or attending neonatologist. The time of this examination defines the start of the observation period. The second, independent examination may be made by any of the above specialists at the end of the appropriate observation period. If the ICU physician or neonatologist does the first and second examinations, a neurologist or neurosurgeon may perform another examination in consultation at any time during the observation period. However, consultation with neurology or neurosurgery is at the discretion of the attending intensivist or neonatologist.

6. Other Contingencies:

If circumstances arise during the course of brain death determination that are not covered adequately by this policy, then brain death determination should proceed based upon recommendations made by members of the medical staff who are skilled in the determination of brain death.

E. FAMILY/NEXT OF KIN ACCOMMODATION FOLLOWING BRAIN DEATH

1. Per California HSC 1254.4, the family/next of kin will be provided with a reasonably brief period of accommodation from the time that a patient is declared dead by reason of irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain, including the brain stem, through discontinuation of cardiopulmonary support for the patient. During this reasonably brief period of accommodation, the hospital is required to continue only previously ordered cardiopulmonary support, with no other medical intervention required.
2. Upon request, the hospital will provide the patient's legally recognized health care decision maker, if any, or the patient's family or next of kin, if available, a written statement of the policy describing the reasonable accommodation above in E. 1. If requested, the policy statement will be provided no later than shortly after the treating physician has determined that the potential for brain death is imminent.
3. If the patient's legally recognized health care decision maker, family or next of kin, voices any special religious or cultural practices and concerns of the patient or the patient's family surrounding the issue of death by reason of irreversible cessation of all functions of the entire brain of the patient, the hospital shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate those religious and cultural practices and concerns.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA
IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF ALAMEDA

---	--

The verified petition of Latasha Linkfield for a temporary restraining came before the Court upon Ex-Parte Application and for hearing at 1:30 p.m. in Department 31 the Honorable Evelio M. Grillo presiding.

After considering the Petition and the evidence offered in support of and opposition to the Petition, the Court finds that:

1. There exists a basis in law and in fact for the issuance of a temporary restraining order;
2. Failure to grant the Petition will potentially result in irreparable harm to the patient Jahi McMath and this order is necessary until such time as the Petitioner can obtain

1 her daughter's medical records and obtain an independent medical examination and 2 the Court can hold further evidentiary hearing

3 THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

4 The Temporary Restraining Order is hereby granted precluding the Respondent from 5 removing Petitioner from the ventilator or ending any of the current treatment and support 6 provided by Respondent- in essence, the Court orders the respondent to maintain the "status quo" 7 of treatment and support.

8 This Temporary Restraining Order orders the following:

- 9 1. Respondent CHO, its agents, employees, servants and independent contractors are 10 ordered to continue to provide Jahi McMath with the treatment and support which is 11 currently being provided as per the current medications and physicians orders until 12 further order of the court.
- 13 2. The matter is set for hearing at 9:30 a.m. Monday December 23rd 2013 counsel to 14 attend.
- 15 3. In the interim Archer Norris is Hereby Ordered to contact the group of five physicians 16 identified in the hearing to locate one who would be able to conduct the tests, 17 examination and evaluation of Jahi McMath contemplated by the Court on Monday 18 December 23rd 2013, in accordance with the generally accepted medical standards for 19 determining brain function/brain death.

Petition to have Dr. Paul A. Byrne designated as Independent Medical Expert for Examination of Jahi McMath

Date: December 23, 2013

Time: 9:30 am

Dept: 31

20
21 Now comes the Petitioner, Latasha Winkfield, and requests appointment of Dr. Paul A. Byrne 22 M.D. as he selection of physician to conduct an independent examination of Jahi McMath pursuant to 23 Cal. Welfare and Institutions Code § 7181. Section 781 states that "When an individual is pronounced 24 dead by determining that the individual has sustained an irreversible cessation of all functions of the 25 entire brain, including the brain stem, there shall be independent confirmation by another physician."
26 Nowhere does Section 7181 state that the physician must be a neurologist, a licensee of the same state 27 in which the patient is located, or have privileges at any particular hospital.

Petition to have Dr. Paul A. Byrne designated as Independent Medical Expert for Examination of Jahi
McMath

1 As the court can see by Dr. Byrne's CV, attached hereto, Dr. Byrne is Board Certified in 2 Pediatrics with a sub-board in Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine of American Board of Pediatrics. He has 3 served in many academic positions including as the Director of Neonatology, St. Charles Mercy 4 Hospital, October 2000-2012, Oregon, OH Neonatologist, St. Charles Mercy Hospital, 1991-2012, 5 Oregon, OH. He is licensed in Ohio, Nebraska and Missouri. Dr. Byrne has published articles on 6 brain death and related topics in the medical literature, law literature and the lay press for more than 7 thirty years. He has been qualified as an expert in matters related to central nervous system 8 dysfunction in Michigan, Ohio and Virginia. Although not licensed in Virginia, provided expert 9 testimony in the case of the Matter of Baby K, 832 F.Supp 1022 (E.D.Va.,1993), wherein the issue of 10 brain death in a child was the central issue.

11 In Baby K the Hospital sought declaratory relief that it had no obligation to continue to provide 12 respiratory support to an anencephalic child (congenital defect where there is a brain stem but cerebral 13 cortex is absent). The hospital in Baby K., like the hospital here, encouraged her mother to remove her 14 from a ventilator stating that such treatment was "futile" and decided to "wait a reasonable time for the 15 caregiver to terminate aggressive therapy." The court in Baby K, stated, Reflecting the constitutional 16 principles of family autonomy and the presumption in favor of life, courts have generally scrutinized a 17 family's decision only where the family has sought to terminate or withhold medical treatment for an 18 incompetent minor or incompetent adult. See, e.g., Cruzan, 497 U.S. at 270-75, 110 S.Ct. at 2847-49 19 (and cases cited therein). In a recent case in which a hospital sought to terminate life-supporting 20 ventilation over the objections of the patient's husband, a Minnesota state court refused to remove 21 decisionmaking authority from the husband. In re Wanglie, No. PX-91-283 (Prob.Ct., Hennepin Co., 22 Minn., June 28, 1991). Likewise, where parents disagreed over whether to continue life-supporting 23 mechanical ventilation, nutrition, and hydration for a minor child in an irreversible stupor or coma, a 24 Georgia state court gave effect to the decision of the parent opting in favor of life support. (Matter of 25 Baby K, 832 F.Supp. 1022, 1031.

1 her Jahi to continue to receive medical treatment which will prolong the life of her body or whether 2 the court should sanction termination of her life support services based on a technical declaration of 3 death which conflicts with Petitioner's religious beliefs and parental rights.

4 In the case of Conservatorship of Drabick (1988) 200 Cal.App.3d 185, the court, addressed the 5 issue of whether Drabick, who suffered a brain injury in a car accident, and had been a nursing home, 6 unconscious and in a persistent vegetative state for five years, would be allowed to die based on his 7 conservator's decision to withhold medical treatment. Drabick's conservator sought a petition to 8 withhold life support. The trial court denied the petition. The Appellate court reversed detailing a 9 citizen's rights to dictate their medical treatment. Although Drabick dealt with a situation wherein a 10 conservator sought to withdraw medical treatment which would hasten death, its rationale and analysis 11 are analogous to the case at bar in which the Petitioner seeks to maintain life-supporting equipment.
12 Both cases deal with the right of a patient or their conservator/guardian to control their healthcare 13 decisions: a right that survives the patient's consciousness or mental function.

14 In Drabick the court analyzed the right of individuals to make end-of-life decisions. The court 15 stated the fact that ". . . each person has a right to determine the scope of his own medical 16 treatment—is well established in this State." (Id. at 206.) Indeed, the court stated "there is 17 substantial authority in California for the general proposition that incompetent persons retain certain 18 fundamental rights." (Id. at 207.) Citing a host of California Appellate decisions, including the 19 California Supreme Court, the court stated "The right is grounded both in the constitution and 20 common law. (Id. at fn 206.)

21 "The California Legislature has also recognized the right to control one's own medical 22 treatment and declared it to be fundamental." (Id.) The court recognized that such a fundamental 23 right survives incompetence stating "[n]evertheless, there is substantial authority in California for the 24 general proposition that incompetent persons retain certain fundamental rights. (Id. at 207.) The 25 court, citing the case of In conservatorship of Valerie N. (1985) 40 Cal.3d 143, stated "incompetence 26 does not cause the loss of a fundamental right from which the incompetent person can still benefit." 27 (Drabick at 208.) The court recognized that "medical care decisions must be guided by the individual 28 patient's interests and values. Allowing persons to determine their own medical treatment is an important way in which society respects persons as individuals. Moreover, the respect due to persons

1 as individuals does not diminish simply because they have become incapable of participating in 2 treatment decisions. . . . Lacking the ability to decide, [s]he has a right to a decision that takes [her]
3 interests into account." (Id. at 208.) When considering statutory impacts on medical decision 4 making, the Drabick court reasoned that the "Legislature did not attempt to eliminate other 5 mechanisms for exercising the fundamental right to determine one's own medical treatment. Indeed, 6 choice in medical care decisions is not a privilege granted by the state and subject to waiver through 7 technical omissions. To the contrary, the right in question is "exclusively" the conservatee's and 8 one over which "neither the medical profession nor the judiciary have any veto power." [Citation
9 omitted, emphasis added.] (Id. at 216.)

10 Drabick provides guidance in the instant case. Just as prohibiting Drabick's conservator from 11 withdrawing life support would interfere with his fundamental right to make decisions regarding his 12 healthcare while incompetent, allowing Children's Hospital to withdraw life support from Jahi would 13 interfere with her fundamental right to make decisions re her health care- through her guardian, her 14 mother.

15 In another Bartling v. Superior Court (1984) 163 Cal.3d 186, the court dealt with the flip side 16 of the instant argument. Bartling suffered from a serious illness and was on a ventilator. Wishing to 17 discontinue his ventilator he had pulled out his vent tubes several times. As a result the doctors put 18 him in soft restraints so he could not do so again. As a result, Bartling sought a petition to force his 19 doctors to take him off a respirator to hasten his death. His physicians, unlike these here, opposed his 20 wishes and, unfortunately Bartling died the day before his petition could be heard. The court, 21 recognizing the importance of the issues raised, addressed the merits notwithstanding Bartling's death.
22 The Court stated that the individual, well recognized, legal right to control one's medical treatment 23 predates legislative action to regulate end of life care. (Id. at 194.)

24 The Bartling court held that;

25 "the right of a competent adult patient to refuse medical treatment has its origins in the 26 constitutional right of privacy. This right is specifically guaranteed by the California 27 Constitution (art. I, § 1) and has been found to exist in the "penumbra" of rights guaranteed by 28 the Fifth and Ninth Amendments to the United States Constitution. (Griswold v. Connecticut, 381 U.S. 479, 484.) "In short, the law recognizes the individual interest in preserving 'the

1 inviolability of the person.’ ” (Superintendent of Belchertown School v. Saikewicz, supra, 370
2 N.E.2d 417, 424.) The constitutional right of privacy guarantees to the individual the freedom
3 to choose to reject, or refuse to consent to, intrusions of his bodily integrity. (Id., 370 N.E.2d 4 at p. 427.)” (Id. at 195.)

5 If it is true that a patient can chose a course of medical decision making designed to end their 6 life doesn’t it lie as a matter of equal or greater importance that a person, acting through their guardian 7 has the right to make decisions, free of state influence, regarding the preservation of their life. It is a 8 fundamental right of privacy, an “individual interest in preserving “the inviolability of the person.”” 9 (Id.) The Bartling court stated “[h]owever if the right of the patient to self-determination as to his 10 own medical treatment is to have any meaning at all, it must be paramount to the interests of the 11 patient’s hospital and doctors.” (Id. at 196.) Here the hospital’s desire to dispose of Ms. McMath is 12 clearly subordinate of her right to self determination through her guardian.

13 14 2. The Court Needs to Empower Latasha Winkfield in the Exercise of Her Fundamental, 15 Constitutional Right, to Make Health Care Decisions for Her Child and Order the Care 16 She Desires.

17 This court must agree that if a person has a constitutional right to end their life they have an 18 equal, if not greater right to undertake measures to prolong their life. There are numerous reports of 19 people recovering from medically diagnosed “brain death.” Latasha Winkfield has the fundamental 20 right, over the feeble interests of Jahi’s doctors, who it can not be forgotten created the critical 21 condition faced by Jahi, to make decisions regarding Jahi’s life. These decisions stem from her beliefs 22 both as a mother as well as from her religious beliefs. Were it her choice, no one would dispute her 23 right to remove the ventilator but, for some unfathomable reason, her decision to continue the 24 ventilator is somehow trumped by the Hospital’s desire not to put its doctors in the position of treating 25 a “dead body” which is “unethical.” Remarkably, while seeking to deprive this mother and child of 26 tehir rights to religious expression, privacy, and holding on to life, they have put forth no declaration 27 from any physician stating that they believe that providing treatment to Jahi is causing them to violate 28 their code of ethics. The right of Latasha Winkfield to make decisions concerning her daughter is a fundamental right of privacy and it must be recognized, respected, and protected so as to promote the paramount “individual interest in preserving “the inviolability of the person [Jahi McMath].”

1 Latasha Winkfield needs to clearly, and unequivocally, be placed back into the position of the 2 director of her daughter's care regimen. As the court maintains "status quo" it really does not do so at 3 all, it hastens Jahi's death. She is without nutrition which is sorely needed to maintain her electrolyte 4 balance. She is not having blood tests performed, or any treatments administered which may assist her 5 in recovering. She is, in essence, being left to waste and die. Therefore, the court needs to 6 affirmatively act so as to preserve the real status quo, authorizing Jahi's mother to make, and requiring 7 the hospital to accept, medical decisions which treat Jahi as if she will survive their hellish ordeal 8 thereby preserving Jahi's body with nutrients, medicines, and care that provide her with the best 9 opportunity of life by any definition.

11 CONCLUSION

12 The right to determine the course of Jahi's medical treatment is an inviolate right which is 13 hers, and in this case, her guardians. It does not enure to her doctors. The statute at issue does not 14 trump her rights to self determination. Her right to fight for her survival, and be aided by a ventilator 15 is as great as the right of one who wishes to give up the fight and end their life by removal from a 16 ventilator. This fundamental right of self-determination arises out of her constitutional rights to 17 privacy and is by both law, and nature, paramount to the interests of the hospital and its doctors.
