UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

CICILY BRANCH,

Plaintiff,

v.

ROBERT A. MCDONALD,

Defendant.

Case No. 14-cv-03846-DMR

ORDER TO PROVIDE SUPPLEMENTAL BRIEFING

California courts have held that the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), California Government Code section 12940(n), "allows an independent cause of action for employees whose employers fail to engage in the interactive process," without "requir[ing] proof of the elements required by the [Americans with Disabilities Act]." See Wysinger v. Automobile Club of S. Cal., 157 Cal. App. 4th 413, 425 (2007); A.M. v. Albertsons, LLC, 178 Cal. App. 4th 455, 463-64 (2009) ("[t]he failure to accommodate and the failure to engage in the interactive process are separate, independent claims involving different proof of facts.").

However, this lawsuit asserts federal rather than state law claims. Under federal law, whether plaintiffs may maintain a separate cause of action for failure to engage in the interactive process, or whether it is subsumed in a failure to accommodate claim, is less clear. See, e.g., Rehling v. City of Chicago, 207 F.3d 1009, 1015-1016 (7th Cir. 2000); Walter v. United Airlines, Inc., 232 F.3d 892, *4 (4th Cir. 2000).

The court orders the parties to submit simultaneous further briefing no more than ten pages in length by July 15, 2015. The parties shall address whether Plaintiff may assert a cause of action under the Rehabilitation Act for Defendant's alleged failure to engage in the interactive process in good faith, separate from her claim that Defendant failed to provide her with a reasonable accommodation. If the party contends that federal law permits Plaintiff to state a separate, standalone claim for failure to engage in the interactive process, the party shall also address the question of when that claim accrued, and whether Plaintiff timely exhausted her administrative remedies regarding that claim.
