"We found them to be highly professional and able to delivery high quality work on tight time schedules, a rare feat in the creative software industry. This is complemented by a project management and account management team adept at efficient processes and communication meaning that, as a client, we were always fully informed and aware of progress. I can highly recommend Intetics to any company seeking to outsource challenging projects."

"We were impressed with Intetics' lightening fast turnaround on our requests. For example we would send them a list of things to do late evening and find it all completed the following morning. Being able to leverage the difference in time zones has been one of the most valuable and positive aspect of our engagement.

When we needed to have an interactive dialog we found ourselves having to get disciplined since our early mornings corresponded to their late evenings. This was not a problem because Intetics would often stay late into their evenings to accommodate our schedule."

Have a question?

"Intetics designed and tested a very demanding program in record time and with a reasonable budget. The system has worked well and Intetics has made adjustments that I requested to make the program better. The personnel have gone above and beyond the call of duty: implementing demanding tasks into our program, while at the same time providing incredible customer service. Both their service and products are outstanding. They stand behind their products to make sure that they met my needs. They have worked tirelessly, providing careful attention to maintain the flexible dynamic of our growing project and facilitating clear communication by all parties involved. We are currently on our second project together and looking forward to future endeavors with Intetics."
