Art Unit 263

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103 which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Subject matter developed by another person, which qualifies as prior art only under subsection (f) or (g) of section 102 of this title, shall not preclude patentability under this section where the subject matter and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person.

2. Claims 1-11, 32, 41-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Abraham (806) in view of Ulicki (newly cited).

Abraham discloses all the subject matter claimed, note fig. 4, except for the identification encoding and the conversion and ordering means. Ulicki teaches a pictorial information retrieval system wherein unique pictorial information being stored in each frame for display thereof in response to request; in addition, an audio track having a unique frame identification code information stored thereon for providing a frame location signal which is utilized to retrieve the frame. It would have been obvious to one of an ordinary skill in the art to incorporate Ulicki's teaching in the A/D converter (64) of Abraham so as to facilitate the selected retrieved information to the subscriber.

3. Claims 18-32, 34-40, 47-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Abraham (806), in view of Ulicki and Keith et al.

References Abraham and Ulicki are cited as explained in the previous paragraph. Keith teaches a digital video decompression system wherein a CD ROM (24) is used for providing a buffer store of a received data information. It would have been obvious to one of an ordinary skilled in the art to use a buffer so as to provide a real time retrieval system.

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The specification is objected to under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, as failing to provide an adequate written description of the invention.

There is no description in the specification about the technique of multi-dimensional analysis.

5. Claims 12-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, for the reasons set forth in the objection to the specification.
