World's Largest Mobile Advertising Marketplace Continues Its String of High-Profile Management Additions With the Hiring of a Seasoned Engineering Executive to Serve As VP of Engineering.

SAN MATEO, Calif. -- AdMob, the world's largest mobile advertising marketplace, has further strengthened its executive team with the addition of T S Ramakrishnan, a veteran technology architect whose innovations have powered the likes of Facebook, Skype, Yahoo!, and Oracle.

"From communities to communication, T S has done it all," states AdMob Founder and CEO Omar Hamoui. "T S is uniquely suited to lead our technology team during this phase of dramatic growth. At Yahoo!, Skype, and Facebook, he developed a proven track record of building highly scalable and dynamic systems, and now AdMob will benefit from the skill and passion he brings to every challenge."

Most recently, Mr. Ramakrishnan was Vice President of Engineering for Facebook, where he oversaw the build out of the site's architecture, built up a talented product engineering team, and managed a technology rollout that expanded Facebook beyond its college-age community. As part of the original development team for Yahoo! Messenger, he launched the first version of the platform and managed the team tasked with developing and releasing the popular instant messaging client in over twenty countries. Ramakrishnan also oversaw the extension of Yahoo! Messenger to mobile platforms. an early revolution in PC-to-mobile
