1 (DEPOSITION COMMENCED AT 9:16 A.M.)

2 ANDRIES VAN DAM

3 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are on the 09:15
4 record. This is the beginning of disk number 09:15
5 1 of the deposition of Andries van Dam in the 09:16
6 matter of Apple, Inc., versus Samsung 09:16
7 Electronics Company, Limited, United States 09:16
8 District Court for the Northern District of 09:16
9 California, C.A. Number 11-CV-01846-LHK. 09:16
10 This deposition is being held in Cranston, 09:16
11 Rhode Island on May 2, 2012. The time is 09:16
12 9:16 on the video. My name is William White, 09:16
13 I am the videographer. The court reporter is 09:16
14 Barbara Warner, in association with TSG 09:16
15 Reporting. Would the attorneys please 09:16
16 identify themselves for the record. 09:16

17 MR. KREEGER: Matthew Kreeger from 09:16
18 Morrison & Foerster for Apple. 09:16

19 MR. TUNG: Mark Tung from Quinn 09:16
20 Emanuel for Samsung, and with me is Ailen 09:16
21 Kim. 09:16

22 ANDRIES VAN DAM 09:16

23 Being duly sworn, deposes and 09:16
24 testifies as follows: 09:16

25 THE REPORTER: Would you state 09:16

1 electronic document, you considered it 10:57
2 legitimate to chose any arbitrary collection 10:57
3 of tiles in the world view; is that right? 10:57
4 MR. TUNG: Objection. Beyond the 10:57
5 scope. Mischaracterizes testimony. 10:57
6 A. If you're asking me, can you have an 10:57
7 electronic document that has one or more 10:57
8 tiles without adding implicitly, and does 10:57
9 that collection as a single electronic 10:57
10 document follow the '381 patent, without 10:58
11 adding that, I would say yes, you are free to 10:58
12 chose any number of tiles, as long as you 10:58
13 know which ones you're talking about. They 10:58
14 have to be identifiable. 10:58
15 Q. Is a single tile on the world view an 10:58
16 electronic document? 10:58
17 A. It could be so construed. Again, without 10:58
18 any implication that therefore it should obey 10:58
19 the '381 limitations. 10:58
20 Q. Is a Microsoft Word document an electronic 10:58
21 document? 10:58
22 A. Again, without asking implicitly, that 10:58
23 could be read on the '381 elements. It is 10:58
24 certainly an electronic document. 10:59
25 Q. What about a paragraph within a Microsoft 10:59

1 document, is that an electronic document? 10:59

2 A. It could be, and it could not be. It 10:59

3 depends on how fine-grained you want to be in 10:59

4 your definition. My definition of electronic 10:59

5 document allows hierarchy, but I would say it 10:59

6 depends upon what kind of paragraph we are 10:59

7 talking about. If you are talking about a 10:59

8 numbered identified paragraph as in an expert 10:59

9 report, I would say it might be useful to 10:59

10 think of that as an electronic document. If 10:59

11 you are talking about I have a typesetting 10:59

12 program and it produces paragraphs, then 10:59

13 those paragraphs don't really have a separate 10:59

14 identity, and I would find it not very useful 10:59

15 to consider them an electronic document, but 10:59

16 there is no hard-and-fast rule. 11:00

17 Q. For purposes of the '381 patent, as it uses 11:00

18 the term electronic document, would you 11:00

19 consider a paragraph within a Microsoft Word 11:00

20 document to be a separate electronic 11:00

21 document? 11:00

22 A. I have never even thought about whether I 11:00

23 should try to perform the '381 analysis to a 11:00

24 paragraph. If I'm looking at an interior 11:00

25 paragraph in a Microsoft Word document, I 11:00
