

EXHIBIT 5

A close-up photograph of a laptop hinge mechanism. A white plastic profile is visible on the left, which is part of the laptop's hinge assembly. To the right is a black, textured surface, likely the laptop's lid or base. Two red arrows point to specific features: one points to the top edge of the white plastic profile, and the other points to a small, raised detail on the black textured surface.

Profile of Laptop Computer

Profile of Fidler Exhibit 269