Re: Apple v. Samsung, Case No. 11-cv-1846-LHK (N.D. Cal.)
CONFIDENTIAL—For Attorneys' Eyes Only—Subject to Protective Order

Dear Rachel:

It has just come to our attention that Samsung's proposed expert, Samuel Lucente, may personally hold ownership interest in two U.S. patents directed to user interface technologies: U.S. Patent Nos. 7,559,039 and 6,583,800—on which he is also listed as an inventor.

Please provide us with information regarding (1) Mr. Lucente's ownership interest in these two patents, including whether he has assigned that interest to any third party in whole or in part; and (2) whether there are any pending U.S. or foreign patent applications claiming priority to either of these two U.S. patents, their priority applications, or corresponding PCT applications.

This information about Mr. Lucente's patents has only recently surfaced. With apologies, Apple is unable to lift its objection regarding Mr. Lucente until the requested information is received from Samsung.

Sincerely,

/s/ Mia Mazza
