UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

DOMINION ASSETS LLC,
Plaintiff,
v.
MASIMO CORPORATION, et al.,
Defendants.

Case No. 12-cv-02773-BLF

ORDER DENYING, WITHOUT PREJUDICE, DEFENDANTS'
ADMINISTRATIVE MOTION TO FILE
DOCUMENTS UNDER SEAL

Re: Dkt. Nos. 67, 71, 72

Before the Court is Defendants’ April 30, 2014 administrative motion to file under seal exhibits relating to their “Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff Dominion’s Complaint for Lack of Standing.” Dkt. Nos. 67-69. The documents forming these exhibits were designated confidential by Plaintiff and, in accordance with Civil L.R. 79-5(e), Plaintiff submitted two declarations on May 5, 2014 in support of the requested sealing. Dkt. Nos. 71-72. Because Plaintiff’s supporting declarations do not articulate a compelling reason to seal each exhibit, and further because the request is not narrowly tailored to only sealable material, Defendants’ motion to file under seal is DENIED without prejudice.

I. LEGAL STANDARD

“Historically, courts have recognized a ‘general right to inspect and copy public records and documents, including judicial records and documents.’” Kamakana v. City & Cnty. of Honolulu, 447 F.3d 1172, 1178 (9th Cir. 2006) (citations omitted). A party seeking to seal a judicial record relating to a dispositive motion—such as a motion to dismiss—bears the burden of overcoming this “strong presumption in favor of access” by meeting the “compelling reasons” standard. Id. at 1179. This standard is invoked “even if the dispositive motion, or its attachments, were previously filed under seal or protective order.” Id. (citing Foltz v. State Farm Mut. Auto.

1 Ins. Co., 331 F.3d 1122, 1136 (9th Cir. 2003)). Under the “compelling reasons” standard, the
2 proponent of sealing must “articulate[] compelling reasons supported by specific factual findings”
3 for sealing judicial records, and the Court must “conscientiously balance the competing interests
4 of the public and the party who seeks to keep certain judicial records secret.” Id. (citations and
5 internal quotations omitted). If the Court decides to grant the sealing request, “it must base its 6 decision on a compelling reason and articulate the factual basis for its ruling, without relying on 7 hypothesis or conjecture.” Id. In this District, parties seeking to seal judicial records must also 8 follow Civil L.R. 79-5, which requires, inter alia, that a sealing request be “narrowly tailored to 9 seek sealing only of sealable material.” Civil L.R. 79-5(b).

10 II. DEFENDANTS’ ADMINISTRATIVE MOTION TO FILE UNDER SEAL

11 The present administrative motion to file under seal concerns fifteen exhibits submitted by 12 Defendants in connection with their “Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff Dominion’s Complaint for Lack 13 of Standing,” which is a dispositive motion. Dkt. Nos. 67-69. Pursuant to Civil L.R. 79-5(d) and 14 (e), Defendants seek to seal entire documents—as well as portions of its motion to dismiss brief
15 quoting from or referring to these documents—that Plaintiff designated as “Confidential” or 16 “Highly Confidential – Attorneys’ Eyes Only” under the protective order in this case. Dkt. No.
17 67-1; see also Dkt. No. 34 (Stipulated Protective Order). In accordance with Civil L.R. 79-5(e),
18 Plaintiff filed two declarations on May 5, 2014 in support of the sealing request, Dkt. Nos. 71-72,
19 and the Court considers Plaintiff’s declarations to determine whether sealing is appropriate.

20 A. Defendants’ Exhibits 14, 18, 26, 28

21 Defendants’ Exhibits 14, 18, 26, and 28 consist of agreements between Plaintiff and 22 Acacia Research Group, LLC (“Acacia”). Defendants seek to lodge these exhibits under seal in 23 their entirety, and Plaintiff has provided the declaration of Acacia’s Vice President of Contracts in 24 support. Dkt. No. 72 (“Miller Declaration”). The Miller Declaration asserts, in vague terms, that 25 these agreements contain “terms and conditions” or “confidential information regarding Acacia
26 licensing activities” that, if disclosed, would place Acacia at a competitive disadvantage, both 27 generally and in negotiations with business partners. Id. at 2:19-25.

28 While the Court is sensitive to the desire of a third party to protect its confidentiality and

1 competitive advantage, the Miller Declaration provides no specific facts from which the Court
2 may conclude that a “compelling reason” to seal outweighs the general presumption of access.
3 See Kamakana, 447 F.3d 1172, at 1179 (“In general, ‘compelling reasons’ sufficient to outweigh
4 the public’s interest in disclosure and justify sealing court records exist when such ‘court files
5 might have become a vehicle for improper purposes,’ such as the use of records to gratify private
6 spite, promote public scandal, circulate libelous statements, or release trade secrets.”). Moreover,
7 even though the Court recognizes that portions of these agreements are likely sealable, the Court is
8 not persuaded that each agreement is sealable in its entirety, as each appears to contain boilerplate
9 contract language.

10 Because Plaintiff has failed to provide specific facts to support a “compelling reason” to 11 seal these exhibits, and because such request is not narrowly tailored as required by law,
12 Defendants’ request to file Exhibits 14, 18, 26, and 28 under seal is DENIED without prejudice.

13 B. Defendants’ Exhibits 15-17, 19-22, 25, 27, 30

14 Defendants’ Exhibits 15-17, 19-22, 25, 27, and 30 are communications (email chains and 15 letters) between Plaintiff and Acacia concerning the agreements discussed in Part II.A. The Miller
16 Declaration addresses these communications by cursorily asserting that they are “confidential
17 communications between Acacia and Dominion concerning their relationship,” the disclosure of 18 which would “place Acacia at a disadvantage in its dealings with other business partners.” Dkt. 72
19 at 2:26-28.

20 The same deficiencies discussed in Part II.A apply equally to Plaintiff’s proffered reasons
21 for sealing these exhibits: there are no specific facts from which the Court can find a compelling
22 reason to seal and, though the Court recognizes that certain portions may be sealable, the request
23 to seal each exhibit in its entirety is not narrowly tailored as required by law. Accordingly,
24 Defendants’ request to file Exhibits 15-17, 19-22, 25, 27, and 30 under seal is DENIED without 25 prejudice.

26 C. Defendants’ Exhibit 24

27 Defendants’ Exhibit 24 consists of excerpts from the deposition of Plaintiff’s Managing 28 Director, Keith Keeling, concerning Plaintiff’s relationship with Acacia. In support of the request

1 to seal these excerpts, Plaintiff submitted a declaration from Mr. Keeling. Dkt. No. 71 (“Keeling
2 Declaration”). Similar to the Miller Declaration, the Keeling Declaration vaguely asserts that
3 Exhibit 24 “contains information regarding Dominion’s business activities and intellectual
4 property” the disclosure of which “may place Dominion at a disadvantage in its dealings with 5 other business partners.” Id. at 2:18-22 (emphasis added).

6 While Plaintiff may be correct in claiming that the reasons articulated in the Keeling
7 Declaration demonstrate “good cause” to seal Exhibit 24 under Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c), that lower 8 standard only applies to non-dispositive motions. Kamakana, 447 F.3d 1172, at 1180. “Those 9 who seek to maintain the secrecy of documents attached to dispositive motions must meet the high
10 threshold of showing that ‘compelling reasons’ support secrecy.” Id. This standard is invoked
11 “even if the dispositive motion, or its attachments, were previously filed under seal or protective 12 order.” Id. at 1179.

13 Thus, the Court finds that Plaintiff’s general assertions of confidentiality and potential
14 competitive harm from publicly disclosing Exhibit 24 are insufficient to satisfy the “compelling
15 reason” standard for sealing. The court recognizes that portions of this exhibit are likely sealable,
16 but the current request to seal the exhibit in its entirety is not narrowly tailored as required by law.
17 Accordingly, Defendants’ request to file Exhibit 24 under seal is DENIED without prejudice.

18 III. CONCLUSION

19 For the foregoing reasons, Defendants’ administrative motion to file under seal is DENIED 20 without prejudice. Plaintiff shall have until May 16, 2014 to:

- 21 1) Submit new or revised declarations articulating compelling reasons supported by 22 specific factual findings in favor of sealing all, or portions of, Defendants’
23 Exhibits 14-22, 24, 25-28, and 30; and,
- 24 2) To the extent only a portion of an exhibit is sealable, propose narrowly tailored 25 redactions to seal only the sealable portion of that exhibit and (if applicable) the 26 corresponding portion of Defendants’ motion to dismiss brief.
