UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
SAN JOSE DIVISION

DAVID SCOTT PEASLEY,
Plaintiff,
v.
ZAHED AHMED and MARIA LOPEZ,
Defendants.

Case No. 15-CV-01769-LHK

ORDER DENYING ADMINISTRATIVE MOTION TO SEAL

Re: Dkt. No. 264

Before the Court is Plaintiff David Scott Peasley’s (“Plaintiff”) administrative motion to file under seal (1) portions of Plaintiff’s opposition to Defendants Zahed Ahmed and Maria Lopez’s (“Defendants”) second motion in limine; and (2) Exhibit 1 to Plaintiff’s opposition to Defendants’ second motion in limine. ECF No. 264. On October 26, 2018, Defendants filed a declaration in support of Plaintiff’s administrative motion to seal. ECF No. 272.

“Historically, courts have recognized a ‘general right to inspect and copy public records and documents, including judicial records and documents.’” Kamakana v. City & Cty. of Honolulu, 447 F.3d 1172, 1178 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Nixon v. Warner Commc’ns, Inc., 435 U.S. 589, 597 & n.7 (1978)). Accordingly, when considering a sealing request, “a strong presumption in favor of access is the starting point.” Id. (internal quotation marks omitted).

1 Parties seeking to seal judicial records relating to motions that are “more than tangentially
2 related to the underlying cause of action,” Ctr. for Auto Safety v. Chrysler Grp., 809 F.3d 1092,
3 1099 (9th Cir. 2016), bear the burden of overcoming the presumption with “compelling reasons
4 supported by specific factual findings that outweigh the general history of access and the public
5 policies favoring disclosure,” Kamakana, 447 F.3d at 1178–79 (internal quotation marks and 6 citation omitted). Compelling reasons justifying the sealing of court records generally exist “when 7 such ‘court files might have become a vehicle for improper purposes,’ such as the use of records to 8 gratify private spite, promote public scandal, circulate libelous statements, or release trade
9 secrets.” Id. at 1179 (quoting Nixon, 435 U.S. at 598). However, “[t]he mere fact that the 10 production of records may lead to a litigant’s embarrassment, incrimination, or exposure to further 11 litigation will not, without more, compel the court to seal its records.” Id.

12 Records attached to motions that are “not related, or only tangentially related, to the merits 13 of a case” are not subject to the strong presumption of access. Ctr. for Auto Safety, 809 F.3d at 14 1099; see also Kamakana, 447 F.3d at 1179 (“[T]he public has less of a need for access to court 15 records attached only to non-dispositive motions because those documents are often unrelated, or 16 only tangentially related, to the underlying cause of action.” (internal quotation marks and citation
17 omitted)). Parties moving to seal records attached to motions unrelated or only tangentially 18 related to the merits of a case must meet the lower “good cause” standard of Rule 26(c) of the 19 Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Ctr. for Auto Safety, 809 F.3d at 1098–99; Kamakana, 447 F.3d
20 at 1179–80. The “good cause” standard requires a “particularized showing” that “specific 21 prejudice or harm will result” if the information is disclosed. Phillips ex rel. Estates of Byrd v.
22 Gen. Motors Corp., 307 F.3d 1206, 1210–11 (9th Cir. 2002) (citation omitted); see Fed. R. Civ. P.
23 26(c). “Broad allegations of harm, unsubstantiated by specific examples or articulated reasoning”
24 will not suffice. Beckman Indus., Inc. v. Int’l Ins. Co., 966 F.2d 470, 476 (9th Cir. 1992) (citation 25 omitted).

26 In addition, parties moving to seal documents must comply with the procedures established
27 by Civil Local Rule 79-5. Pursuant to that rule, a sealing order is appropriate only upon a request

1 that establishes the document is “sealable,” or “privileged, protectable as a trade secret or 2 otherwise entitled to protection under the law.” Civ. L. R. 79-5(b). “The request must be 3 narrowly tailored to seek sealing only of sealable material, and must conform with Civil [Local 4 Rule] 79-5(d).” Id. Civil Local Rule 79-5(d), moreover, requires the submitting party to attach a 5 “proposed order that is narrowly tailored to seal only the sealable material” and that “lists in table
6 format each document or portion thereof that is sought to be sealed,” as well as an “unredacted 7 version of the document” that “indicate[s], by highlighting or other clear method, the portions of 8 the document that have been omitted from the redacted version.” Civ. L. R. 79-5(d)(1). Where 9 the moving party seeks to file under seal a document containing information designated 10 confidential by another party or a non-party, “the [designating party] must file a declaration as 11 required by subsection 79-5(d)(1)(A) establishing that all of the designated material is sealable.”
12 Civ. L. R. 79-5(e)(1).

13 Here, the information sought to be sealed consists of a California Department of 14 Correction and Rehabilitation (“CDCR”) disciplinary report on Defendant Lopez’s termination, as 15 well as Plaintiff’s references in a brief to that report and the report’s contents. The disciplinary 16 report was the subject of Defendants’ second motion in limine. ECF No. 253. Plaintiff referenced 17 the disciplinary report in his brief in opposition to Defendants’ second motion in limine and 18 attached the disciplinary report to that opposition. See ECF No. 265.

19 The Ninth Circuit has recognized that “routine motions in limine [] are strongly correlative 20 to the merits of a case.” Ctr. for Auto Safety, 809 F.3d at 1099. Similarly, this Court has 21 previously explained that the exclusion of material at issue in a motion in limine may “critically 22 affect[] the outcome of the case,” such that the material is subject to the compelling reasons
23 standard. Fujitsu Ltd. v. Belkin Int’l, Inc., No. 10-CV-03972-LHK, 2012 WL 6019754, at *5
24 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 3, 2012) (citing In re Midland Nat’l Life Ins. Co. Annuity Sales Practices Litig., 25 686 F.3d 1115, 1120 (9th Cir. 2012)). The disciplinary report at issue in Defendants’ second 26 motion in limine is no different. The Court concluded that the disciplinary report is admissible
27 evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 404(b)(2) and that the report has “significant probative
28

1 value” for Plaintiff’s claim against Defendant Lopez. ECF No. 279 at 3–4. Thus, because 2 Plaintiff’s opposition to Defendants’ motion in limine is “more than tangentially related to the 3 underlying cause of action,” Ctr. for Auto Safety, 809 F.3d at 1099, the Court concludes that the 4 higher “compelling reasons” standard is the applicable standard.

5 The Court now turns to the substance of the sealing motion. Defendants have designated 6 the disciplinary report as confidential pursuant to the parties’ stipulated protective order. See ECF
7 No. 264-2. However, that designation alone does not justify sealing even under the good cause 8 standard. See Beckman, 966 F.2d at 476 (explaining that entry of a stipulated protective order is 9 not equivalent to a showing of good cause). Defendants assert that keeping CDCR’s personnel 10 records confidential “encourages witnesses to cooperate with investigations concerning personnel
11 and promotes honest responses to investigators’ questions,” which “assists CDCR in correcting 12 personnel problems and maintaining the safety and security of its institutions.” ECF No. 272, 13 Declaration of Michael Quinn (“Quinn Decl.”), ¶ 4. However, Defendants do not explain how 14 public disclosure of the disciplinary report discourages honest responses to investigators’ 15 questions.

16 Defendants also attach a declaration from E. Galvan, the litigation coordinator at California 17 Training Facility (“CTF”), which Galvan signed when Plaintiff first sought discovery of the 18 disciplinary report and of other CTF records. Id. ¶ 2; see ECF No. 272, Ex. A, Declaration of E.
19 Galvan (“Galvan Decl.”). Galvan attests that “disclosure to inmates and former inmates of 20 confidential information would seriously threaten and undermine the safety and security of 21 CDCR’s prisons, staff, and inmates.” Galvan Decl. ¶ 1.<sup>1</sup> However, Galvan’s declaration relates to 22 documents sought in discovery, including “third-party inmates’ grievances against prison staff 23 concerning medical treatment,” id. ¶ 6, and was not even signed in support of the instant sealing 24 motion. The disciplinary report sought to be sealed concerns Defendant Lopez’s termination by 25 CDCR and does not reveal the confidential medical information of any inmate or CDCR

26 _____
27 <sup>1</sup> Defendants appear to have omitted portions of Paragraphs 1 and 5 and all of Paragraphs 2–4 of 28 Galvan’s declaration from the instant request. See id.

1 employee. Galvan articulates no specific risks that would result from disclosure of this report or 2 references to its contents. Thus, Defendants have not offered “compelling reasons supported by 3 specific factual findings that outweigh the general history of access and the public policies
4 favoring disclosure.” Kamakana, 447 F.3d at 1178–79.

5 With the Ninth Circuit’s sealing case law in mind, the Court rules on the instant motion to 6 seal as follows:

8 Document	Page/Line	Ruling
9 Exhibit 1 to Plaintiff’s 10 Opposition to Defendants’ 11 Second Motion in Limine	Entire Document	DENIED. The report contains no material for which sealing is warranted.
12 Plaintiff’s Opposition to 13 Defendants’ Second 14 Motion in Limine	All redacted portions	DENIED. The brief contains no material for which sealing is warranted.
