11	FRACTIONAL VILLAS, INC.,	CASE NO. 08CV1423 DMS (AJB)
12	Plaintiff,	ORDER GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART
13	VS.	DEFENDANT CHRISTOPHER H. ZOCKOLL'S MOTION TO
14		DISMISS
15	REFLECTIONS, et al.,	[Doc. 25]
16 17	Defendant.
18	Presently before the Court is Defendant Cl	hristopher H. Zockoll's Motion to Dismiss for lack
19	of personal jurisdiction. For the following reasons, the motion is granted in part and denied in part.
20		[.
21	BACKG	ROUND
22	Plaintiff Fractional Villas is in the business of marketing, advertising, and selling fractional
23	ownership interests in luxury properties. (Comp	pl., ¶ 2.) In October 2007, Plaintiff entered into
24	negotiations with William Clapperton, managing	partner of Aqua Surf LLC, regarding development
25	and marketing of real property located at 2663 Oc	cean Front Walk #3, San Diego, California. (Id. at
26	\P 34.) In November 2007, Plaintiff entered into a consulting agreement with Aqua Surf regarding the
27	property, a broker agreement with William Clapper	rton, Clapperton Coastal Properties, and Chris Love,
28	and several non-disclosure agreements to protect P	laintiff's confidential information. (Id. at ¶¶ 34-38.)

08CV1423

Plaintiff alleges that Defendants Reflections, Reflections Private Residence Club, LLC, and Christopher H. Zockoll intentionally interfered with Plaintiff's business dealings and induced Mr.
 Clapperton and Aqua Surf to breach their agreements with Plaintiff. (Id. at ¶¶ 34-48.) The property was ultimately sold and Defendants received consulting fees and/or commissions. (Id. at ¶ 45.)

Plaintiff further alleges that it owns a copyright on certain content used on its website, www.fractionalvillas.com, and that it has a copyrighted "Reservation Agreement" which it uses in transactions involving fractional ownership interest of luxury properties. (Id. at ¶¶ 15, 26-27.)
Plaintiff alleges that Defendants infringed the copyright on its website, www.time2reflect.com, and that Defendants used significant portions of the Reservation Agreement in its own transactions. (Id. at ¶¶ 23, 30.)

Defendant Zockoll is a resident of Nevada and Defendants Reflections and Reflections Private Residence are Nevada entities. (Id. at ¶¶ 3-5.) Zockoll is president of Reflections. (Id. at ¶ 5.) Plaintiff alleges that Reflections and Reflections Private Residence conduct business in California and that each Defendant was the agent or alter ego of the other Defendants. (Id. at ¶¶ 3-4, 8.) Plaintiff alleges that personal jurisdiction is proper because Defendants purposefully directed activities in the Southern District of California. (Id. at ¶¶ 9-13.)

Plaintiff filed suit on August 5, 2008, alleging claims of copyright infringement, unfair competition, and intentional interference with contract and prospective economic advantage. On September 15, 2008, the clerk entered default against all three Defendants. (Docs. 9-11.) On June 24, 2009, Defendant Zockoll filed a motion to set aside the default, which this Court granted on December
8, 2009. (Docs. 14 & 23.) Zockoll filed the present motion to dismiss on January 12, 2010. (Doc.
25.) Plaintiff filed an opposition. (Doc. 26.) Zockoll did not file a reply.

LEGAL STANDARD

25 Defendant moves for dismissal of Plaintiff's Complaint for lack of personal jurisdiction.¹ On 26 a motion to dismiss, the plaintiff bears the burden to demonstrate the court has personal jurisdiction

27

¹ Defendant also seeks dismissal under Rule 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim, but does so by arguing that the Court lacks personal jurisdiction over Defendant. Accordingly, the Court addresses only the personal jurisdiction issue.

1	over the defendant. Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon, 575 F.3d 981, 985 (9th Cir. 2009.)
2	In the absence of an evidentiary hearing, the plaintiff need only make a "prima facie showing of
3	jurisdictional facts to withstand the motion to dismiss." Id. (quoting Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy, 453
4	F.3d 1151, 1154 (9th Cir. 2006).). Any uncontroverted allegations in the plaintiff's complaint are
5	taken as true, and any factual conflicts are resolved in the plaintiff's favor. Id.
6	Personal jurisdiction can be established over a defendant "who could be subjected to the
7	jurisdiction of a court of general jurisdiction in the state in which the district court is located." Fed.
8	R. Civ. P. 4(k)(1)(A). Because the California jurisdictional "long-arm" statute permits the exercise
9	of jurisdiction to the full extent permitted by the United States Constitution, the state and federal limits
10	are co-extensive. See Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 410.10. Thus, the singular issue is whether the Court's
11	exercise of jurisdiction violates our Constitutional principles of due process. Haisten v. Grass Valley corporation, as well as its employees or directors, those "who act in their official capacity are [not] 1 2 somehow shielded from suit in their individual capacity. But jurisdiction over an employee does not 3 automatically follow from jurisdiction over the corporation which employs him." Keeton v. Hustler 4 Magazine, Inc., 465 U.S. 770, 781, n.13 (1984). However, the Ninth Circuit has drawn a crucial 5 distinction, declaring that "the corporate form may be ignored in cases in which the corporation is the 6 agent or alter ego of the individual defendant, or where there is an identity of interests between the 7 corporation and the individuals." Davis v. Metro Prod., Inc., 885 F.2d 515, 520-21 (9th Cir. 1989) 8 (internal citation omitted).

DISCUSSION

11 Defendant argues the Court lacks personal jurisdiction because he resides in Nevada and does 12 not conduct business in California. Defendant contends that his website is an insufficient basis to 13 establish personal jurisdiction. Plaintiff argues that the requirements for personal jurisdiction are met because the Complaint alleges that Defendants, including Zockoll, induced a third party to breach an 14 15 agreement regarding the sale of property in San Diego. Plaintiff further contends that Zockoll was an 16 owner of property in San Diego, that Zockoll conducted a seminar in San Diego to promote his 17 fractional consulting services, and Zockoll contacted William Clapperton regarding Zockoll's 18 consulting services. (Savoia Decl. ¶¶ 4-6.)

Initially, although the allegations in the Complaint are directed to "Defendants" as a whole, and not to Zockoll individually, Plaintiff alleges that Zockoll is the President of Reflections, is the alter ego of two entities which own Reflections Private Residence Club, and that each Defendant is the alter ego of the other Defendants. (Compl. at ¶¶ 5-8.) Thus, taking these allegations as true, the Court "disregard[s] the corporate form for jurisdictional purposes" and treats Defendants Reflections, Reflections Private Residence Club, and Zockoll as one and the same. Davis, 885 F.2d at 520.

Purposeful Direction

A defendant will satisfy the purposeful direction prong if he or she "(1) committed an intentional act, (2) expressly aimed at the forum state, (3) causing harm that the defendant knows is likely to be suffered in the forum state." Brayton Purcell, 575 F.3d at 986. (citations omitted).

An intentional act simply requires "intent to perform an actual, physical act in the real world, 2 rather than an intent to accomplish a result of consequence of that act." Id. Here, Plaintiff alleges an 3 intentional act in that Defendants contacted Mr. Clapperton and induced him to breach the agreements 4 with Plaintiff. (Compl. at ¶ 39-42.) Thus, this element is met.

5 The defendant's conduct must be expressly aimed at the forum. Brayton Purcell, 575 F.3d at 6 986. Defendant is correct in noting that maintenance of a passive website is insufficient to satisfy the express aiming prong. Id. Here, however, the allegations go beyond Defendant's website; Plaintiff 8 alleges that Defendant reached out to a property owner in California to solicit business. It is this 9 conduct, directly targeted at the forum, which satisfies the express aiming prong.

10 Finally, it must be foreseeable that Plaintiff would be harmed and that the harm would be 11 suffered in the forum. Id. at 988. Here, Plaintiff alleges that William Clapperton informed Defendants 12 of Plaintiff's business interests in the property in San Diego and yet Defendants induced Mr. Clapperton to breach the contracts with Plaintiff. (Compl. at ¶ 90-92.) Thus, it was foreseeable that 13 14 Plaintiff would suffer adverse effects in San Diego as a result of Defendant's acts.

Accordingly, the purposeful direction prong is satisfied.

Arising Out Of

17 In the Ninth Circuit, courts rely on the "but for" test to determine whether a particular claim 18 arises out of a defendant's forum-related activities. Ballard v. Savage, 65 F.3d 1495, 1500 (9th Cir. 19 1995). Thus, Plaintiff must show that "but for" Defendant's contacts with the forum, Plaintiff would 20 not have suffered an injury.

21 Claim 1 of Plaintiff's complaint is for copyright infringement of Copyright No. TX-6-613-055, 22 which is a copyright for Plaintiff's website, www.fractionalvillas.com ("Website Copyright"). 23 (Compl. at ¶ ¶15, 49-54.) This claim alleges that Defendants used Plaintiff's copyrighted material on 24 Defendants' website. (Id. at ¶ 51.) There are no allegations that the this claim to Defendant's contacts 25 in California. Plaintiff makes no showing that Defendants' website alone is sufficient to establish personal jurisdiction over Defendant in California. Accordingly, Claim 1 does not arise out of 26 27 Plaintiff's contacts with the forum.

Claim 2 is for infringement of Copyright No. TX-6-834-962, which is for a "Priority Purchaser Reservation Agreement" ("Reservation Agreement"). (Id. at ¶¶ 26, 55-60.) Plaintiff alleges that 1 2 Defendants have used significant portions of Plaintiff's copyrighted material in their own transactions 3 involving fractional ownership of luxury properties. (Id. at \P 30.) Plaintiff alleges that Defendants 4 obtained this copyrighted material by inducing Clapperton to breach the non-disclosure agreement with 5 Plaintiff and providing Plaintiff's confidential material to Defendants. (Id. at ¶¶ 41-43.) Therefore, but for Defendant's contact with Clapperton, Defendant would not have obtained Plaintiff's 6 7 copyrighted material. Accordingly, this claim arises out of Defendant's contacts with the forum.

8 Claim 3 is for unfair competition based on Defendants' infringing use of the Reservation 9 Agreement. Claim 4 is for unfair competition based on both the Website Copyright and the Reservation Agreement. Since both claims rely on infringement of the Reservation Agreement, both 10 11 claims arise out of Defendant's contacts with the forum.

12 Claims 5 and 6 are for intentional interference with contract and intentional interference with economic relationship. These claims rely directly on Defendant reaching out to William Clapperton 13 14 and inducing the breach of Plaintiff's contracts. Accordingly, the claims arise out of Defendant's 15 contact with the forum.

16 С. Reasonableness

17 "Where a defendant who purposefully has directed his activities at forum residents seeks to 18 defeat jurisdiction, he must present a compelling case that the presence of some other considerations 19 would render jurisdiction unreasonable." Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz, 471 U.S. 462, 477 (1985). 20 In the Ninth Circuit, the reasonableness of an assertion of personal jurisdiction over a nonresident 21 defendant is determined by balancing the following seven factors: 22 The extent of purposeful interjection into the forum state; (1)(2) The burden on the defendant of defending in the forum: 23

- The extent of conflict with the sovereignty of defendant's state; (3)
- The forum state's interest in adjudicating the dispute; (4)
- (5)The most efficient judicial resolution of the controversy;
 - (6)The importance of the forum to plaintiff's interest in convenient and effective relief; The existence of an alternative forum. (7)

25

Fed. Deposit Ins. Corp. v. British-American Ins. Co., 828 F.2d 1439, 1442 (9th Cir. 1987). Because

28 the Court has found that Defendants "purposefully directed [their] activities to California, personal

1	jurisdiction is presumptively reasonable" and Defendants bear the burden of proving unreasonableness.
2	Sher v. Johnson, 911 F.2d 1357, 1364 (9th Cir. 1990).
3	Here, Defendant has not argued that exercise of personal jurisdiction would be unreasonable,
4	except to the extent he argues that he lacks minimum contacts with California. Thus, Defendant has
5	not rebutted the presumption of reasonableness.
6	Accordingly, the Court finds that there is specific personal jurisdiction over Defendant Zockoll
7	with respect to Claims 2-6 of Plaintiff's complaint.
8	IV.
9	CONCLUSION
10	For the reasons stated above, Defendant's motion is granted in part and denied in part. The
11	motion is granted as to Claim 1. The motion is denied as to Claims 2-6.
