UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

KENTON L. CROWLEY, et al.,
Plaintiffs,

v.

EPICEPT CORPORATION,
Defendant.

Case No. 9-cv-641-L (BGS)
ORDER DENYING MOTION
FOR NEW TRIAL [DOC. 188]

Pending before the Court is Plaintiffs’ motion for new trial pursuant to FED R. Civ. P. 59. The Court finds the motion suitable for resolution on the papers and without a hearing. For the following reasons, the motion is DENIED.

1 I. BACKGROUND

2 In March 2015, this Court conducted a jury trial in this case. On March 23, 3 2015, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the Defendant. On March 25, 2015, in 4 light of the jury verdict, the Court entered judgment on behalf of Defendant with 5 respect to all three claims at issue: breach of contract, breach of the implied covenant 6 of good faith and fair dealing, and fraud. On April 22, 2015, Plaintiffs filed the 7 instant motion for a new trial, arguing that the trial was not fair and that they are 8 entitled to a new trial. (Mot. New Trial 1-7, ECF No. 188). The motion has been 9 fully briefed. (Opp'n, ECF No. 192; Reply, ECF No. 194).

10 11 II. LEGAL STANDARD

12 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 59 permits the Court to alter or amend a 13 judgment, or order a new trial. See FED. R. CIV. P. 59(a), (e). “Rule 59 does not 14 specify the grounds on which a motion for a new trial may be granted.” Molski v.
15 M.J. Cable, Inc., 481 F.3d 724, 729 (9th Cir.2007) (quotation omitted). The grounds 16 on which such motions have been granted include “claims that the verdict is against 17 the weight of the evidence, that the damages are excessive, or that, for other reasons, 18 the trial was not fair to the party moving.” Id. (quotation omitted). “[T]he trial court 19 may grant a new trial only if the verdict is contrary to the clear weight of the 20 evidence, is based upon false or perjurious evidence, or to prevent a miscarriage of 21 justice.” Passantino v. Johnson & Johnson Consumer Prods., 212 F.3d 493, 510 n.
22 15 (9th Cir. 2000). “Upon the Rule 59 motion of the party against whom a verdict 23 has been returned, the district court has the duty to weigh the evidence as the court 24 saw it, and to set aside the verdict of the jury, even though supported by substantial 25 evidence, where, in the court’s conscientious opinion, the verdict is contrary to the 26 clear weight of the evidence.” Molski 481 F.3d at 729 (quotation omitted). With 27 respect to evidentiary rulings, “[a] new trial is only warranted when an erroneous 28 evidentiary ruling substantially prejudiced a party.” Harper v. City of Los 1 Angeles, 533 F.3d 1010, 1030 (9th Cir.2008) (quotation omitted).

3 III. DISCUSSION

4 A. Plaintiffs Were Not Prejudiced By Allegedly Belated Defense

5 Plaintiffs first argue that they are entitled to a new trial because Defendant 6 “introduced at trial, new issues not included in the final pre-trial statement approved 7 by the Court.” (Mot. New Trial 2.) Specifically, Plaintiffs contend that none of the 8 pretrial orders indicated that the issues to be tried included “1) that the Doctors had 9 waived performance due to their failure to strictly comply with Par. 10.2.3 concerning 10 a 90[-]day notice of cure; and 2) that the doctors were not entitled to return of their 11 Patents based on this failure.” (Id. 3.) According to Plaintiffs, “Defendants 12 substantially relied on this ‘defense’ throughout trial, in argument[,] and cross 13 examination.” (Id.) Plaintiffs suggest they attempted to “rebut this new defense by 14 introducing substantial evidence that [Defendant] had waived compliance with this 15 paragraph, including failing to respond to repeated notices of default for several 16 years.” (Id.) Essentially, Plaintiffs suggest that the “sole determinant” of the jury’s 17 verdict was that the Plaintiffs failed to perform the conditions required of them “per 18 the Agreement set forth in Par. 10.2.3 i.e. they failed to provide EpiCept the 90 day 19 notice to cure set [sic] as set forth in this section” and that this is unfair because they 20 were “sandbagged” by this waiver defense. (Id. 9.) The Court will refer to this issue 21 as the “waiver issue.”

22 Defendant maintains that there was no surprise because “[a]s early as 2011, 23 one of [Defendant’s] primary defenses has been that plaintiffs could not establish a 24 breach of contract because they failed to do what was required of them under the 25 contract.” (Opp’n 3.) According to Defendant, this issue was raised in Defendant’s 26 motion for summary judgment in 2011, as well as all four pretrial orders. As 27 explained below, Defendant is correct, but this does not resolve the matter.

28 In the fourth and final pretrial order, which the parties jointly submitted, the 1 parties agreed that one of the issues to be litigated at trial was “Were Plaintiffs 2 required to inform EpiCept that Dr. Flores used the patented formula to treat burn 3 victims?” (Final Pretrial Order 4, ECF No. 167.) In addition, an agreed upon legal 4 issue to be determined was whether the Plaintiffs materially breached the agreement 5 by not informing Defendant of Dr. Flores’ use of the patented formula as treatment 6 for first and second degree burns. (Id. 11.) The court will refer to this issue as the 7 “improvement issue.” In light of the foregoing, it is clear that the Plaintiffs knew 8 Defendant would litigate the “improvement issue” at trial. However, as Plaintiffs 9 point out in their reply, they do not dispute that they knew Defendants would 10 introduce the “improvement issue” at trial. (Reply 2, 8-9.) Instead, Plaintiffs reiterate 11 their position that the “waiver issue” was first raised at trial. (Id. 8.)

12 As an initial matter, the Court agrees that Defendant’s opposition fails to 13 specifically address the “waiver issue.” Nonetheless, Plaintiffs’ position is untenable.
14 Plaintiffs have provided no proof that the jury based their decision on the 90-day 15 notice issue at all, let alone as the “sole determinant” of their verdict. According to 16 Plaintiffs’ attorney, certain jurors reported after the verdict that they “were persuaded 17 to go with [D]efendant and not return the patents to the doctor based on Par. 10.2.3 18 as identified in Par. L in the verdict.” (Larson Decl. ¶ 24, ECF No. 189.) However, 19 a review of the verdict form reveals that the 90-day notice issue did not factor into 20 the jury’s disposition of the case.

21 The jury’s verdict form shows that the jury decided that Dr. Flores’ use of NP-22 2 on burn victims was a material breach of the contract:

1 LIABILITY

2 I. Breach of Contract claim

3 A. Was Dr. Flores' use of NP-2 on burns a material breach of the 4 contract?

5 YES _____ NO _____

6 If you answered YES, skip to Question E. If you answered NO, answer 7 Question B.

8 (Jury Verdict Form ¶ A, ECF No. 180). The Court notes that neither party objected 9 to Paragraph A of the verdict form. Defendant was able to prove that Plaintiffs 10 materially breached the Agreement; therefore Plaintiffs' breach of contract claim 11 failed because one of the elements of a breach of contract claim is performance by 12 plaintiffs of their obligations under the contract. Video Pipeline, Inc. v. Buena Vista 13 Home Entm't, Inc., 275 F. Supp. 2d 543, 566 (D.N.J. 2003). That is why the jury 14 verdict form instructed the jurors to skip over the remainder of the questions 15 regarding Defendant's liability for a purported breach of contract. That is also why, 16 in Paragraph L of the jury verdict form, the jurors were instructed to refuse a return 17 of the patents if Plaintiffs could not prove a breach of contract claim:

18 RETURN OF THE PATENTS

20 L. If you answered YES to Question D above, and if you find that Dr.
21 Flores and Dr. Crowley satisfied section 10.2.3, then Plaintiffs are 22 entitled to a return of the patents. If you find the Plaintiffs waived their 23 right to return of the patents, they are not entitled to return of their 24 patents. Do you award the return of Dr. Flores and Dr. Crowley's 25 patents to them by EpiCept?

26 YES _____ NO _____

27 (Jury Verdict Form ¶ L.) If the jury had answered YES to Question D, they would 28 have found that Plaintiffs proved their breach of contract claim. However, the jury was instructed to skip over Question D because Plaintiffs materially breached the 1 contract. Because the jury did not answer YES to Question D (contractual liability), 2 Plaintiffs were unable to prove they were entitled to a return of their patents. (Id.

3 (“If you answered YES to Question D above, and if you find that Dr. Flores and Dr.
4 Crowley satisfied section 10.2.3, then Plaintiffs are entitled to a return of the 5 patents.”).) So, contrary to Plaintiffs’ suggestion, it appears that the jury did base its 6 decision on Dr. Flores’ undisclosed use of NP-2.

7 Assuming, as Plaintiffs’ counsel contends, some or all jurors refused to award 8 return of the patents because the Plaintiffs failed to satisfy Paragraph 10.2.3, the 9 Plaintiffs have failed to meet their burden to show they are entitled to a new trial.
10 There were two prerequisites for Plaintiffs to prove they were entitled to return of 11 the patents: (1) Defendant’s breached the contract and (2) Plaintiffs complied with 12 section 10.2.3. Once the jury decided that Plaintiffs materially breached the contract, 13 Plaintiffs’ contract claim failed, and the jury could not return the patents to Plaintiffs.
14 So, even if some jurors based their decision on the “waiver issue,” the Plaintiffs have 15 failed to show that this decision was “contrary to the clear weight of the evidence.” 16 See Molski, 481 F.3d at 729. In light of the foregoing, the motion on this ground is 17 DENIED.

18 B. The Court Did Not Abuse Its Discretion By Refusing to Give 19 Plaintiffs’ Proposed Jury Instructions

20 Plaintiffs’ next argument is that the Court failed to give three jury instructions 21 which were material in defending against Defendant’s new “waiver issue” at trial.
22 (Mot. New Trial 2-3, 4, 10.) Plaintiffs suggest that their proposed jury instructions 23 regarding (1) Defendant’s waiver of Doctors’ strict compliance with Par. 10.2.3, (2) 24 “adoptive admissions, ie [sic] by failing to respond to the Doctors’ declaration of 25 default they had conceded default, and (3) material breach being equally applicable 26 to the Defendants, “i.e. that as with Defendant, the jury could not find that the 27 Plaintiffs had not performed under the contract, unless they found that the Doctors’ 28 breach was material.” (Id. 2-3.)

1 Defendant maintains that Plaintiffs failed to timely object to the jury 2 instructions on the record. (Opp’n 6.) The Court agrees.

3 Under FED. R. CIV. P. 51(c)(1), “a party who objects to an instruction or the 4 failure to give an instruction must do so on the record, stating distinctly the matter 5 objected to and the grounds for the objection.” Such objection is timely if “(A) a 6 party objects at the opportunity provided under Rule 51(b)(2); or (B) a party was not 7 informed of an instruction or action on a request before that opportunity to object, 8 and the party objects promptly after learning that the instruction or request will be, 9 or has been, given or refused.” FED. R. CIV. P. 51(c)(2). “If a party does not properly 10 object to jury instructions before the district court, [a court] may only consider ‘a 11 plain error in the instructions that ... affects substantial rights.’” Hunter v. Cnty. Of 12 Sacramento, 652 F.3d 1225, 1230 (9th Cir. 2011) (quoting FED. R. CIV. P. 51(d)(2)).
13 To establish plain error in the context of civil jury instructions, the objecting party 14 must show (1) there was an error; (2) the error was obvious; and (3) the error affected 15 substantial rights. C.B. v. City of Sonora, 769 F.3d 1005, 1018-19 (9th Cir. 2014).

16 Here, Plaintiffs failed to object to the Court’s refusal to give these jury 17 instructions. Plaintiffs fail to address this threshold issue, and instead suggest 18 without any substantiation that Plaintiffs “objected vociferously on behalf of their 19 right to have the Court instruct the jury on the issues of waiver, and material breach.”
20 (Reply 3.) Plaintiffs do not point to any evidence that these objections were made 21 on the record. (Id.) Instead they point to supplemental jury instructions submitted 22 as evidence of their objection and contend that Plaintiffs’ attorney “argued for a 23 modification of the New Jersey instruction on material breach” at some point 24 “[d]uring oral arguments.” (Id.) A request for a jury instruction, alone, is not enough 25 to preserve the right of appeal for failure to give the instruction. See Glover v. BIC 26 Corp., 6 F.3d 1318, 1325-26 (9th Cir. 1993) (explaining that an objection must be 27 made because a request for a jury instruction is not enough to preserve the right to 28 appeal the trial court’s failure to give the instruction). Thus, by their own admission,

1 Plaintiffs never properly objected regarding the omitted waiver and adoptive 2 admissions instructions on the record. Further, suggesting that Plaintiffs somehow 3 formally objected to the omission of their proposed material breach instruction 4 “during oral arguments” is not enough to establish an objection. Plaintiffs fail to cite 5 to any portion of the record in making this assertion. The Court can deny Plaintiffs’ 6 motion on this basis alone.

7 Even assuming the Court were to allow Plaintiffs’ objections now, it would 8 still find them to be substantively weak and the Court’s alleged errors insufficiently 9 prejudicial to warrant a new trial. See Huff v. Sheahan, 493 F.3d 893, 899 (7th 10 Cir.2007) (“[W]e shall reverse when the instructions misstate the law or fail to 11 convey the relevant legal principles in full and when those shortcomings confuse or 12 mislead the jury and prejudice the objecting litigant.” (internal quotations and 13 citations omitted) (emphasis added); Reed v. Hoy, 909 F.2d 324, 326 (9th 14 Cir.1989) (“We review jury instructions to determine whether, taken as a whole, 15 they mislead the jury or state the law incorrectly to the prejudice of the objecting 16 party.”); Nava v. Seadler, 2011 WL 6936341 at *3 (N.D. Cal. Dec.30, 2011) (“Even 17 assuming that the jury instruction as given was incomplete and therefore incorrect, 18 the court finds that a new trial is not warranted because the error was more probably 19 than not harmless.”). As explained above, the jury reached its verdict without 20 considering the “waiver issue” surrounding Par. 10.2.3 of the Agreement. Because 21 Plaintiffs’ argument is that it could not properly litigate this issue, in part, because 22 of the Court’s failure to provide these jury instructions, it necessarily fails. Once the 23 jury found that Plaintiffs’ breach of contract claim failed, the “waiver issue” 24 essentially became moot.

25 Plaintiffs fail to articulate any other grounds on which their objections could 26 be deemed appropriate. Although Plaintiffs fail to raise the issue, the Court notes 27 that Plaintiffs could have attempted to apply the narrow exception from Hunter and 28 City of Sonora here. However, Plaintiffs could not prove the third element of the 1 plain error test, that the purported error affected substantial rights. As explained in 2 detail above, Plaintiffs purported inability to properly litigate the “waiver issue” is 3 rendered irrelevant by the jury’s finding that Plaintiffs’ breach of contract claim 4 failed. In light of the foregoing, the motion on this ground is DENIED.

5 C. The Court’s Response to the Jurors’ Question Was Sufficient

6 Plaintiffs next challenge this Court’s response to the jurors’ question 7 submitted during their deliberations. According to Plaintiffs, “[t]he Trial Court did 8 not sufficiently respond to the Juror’s [sic] question concerning the verdict form and 9 the quick verdict suggests that the jury as the result of the court’s instruction limited 10 its review of the evidence to Par. 10 of the Agreement.” (Reply 2.)

11 Defendant responds by suggesting that this objection was also waived because 12 Plaintiffs did not object on the record. Further, Defendant argues that “the Court’s 13 response . . . that the jury would have to answer the questions for itself” was within 14 the “wide discretion” of the Court, citing Arizona v. Johnson, 351 F.3d 988, 994 (9th 15 Cir. 2003) (A trial judge is the “governor of the trial” and enjoys “wide discretion in 16 the matter of charging the jury.”). The Court agrees with Defendant.

17 As explained above, this objection was waived by Plaintiffs as they never 18 made it on the record. Specifically, after Plaintiffs became aware that this Court was 19 not going to provide either of their proposed responses to the question, Plaintiffs 20 never made any objection on the record. Plaintiffs’ reply fails to address this issue 21 as it again fails to provide any evidence, or even allege, that Plaintiffs objected on 22 the record.

23 Even assuming that the objection was timely, Plaintiffs fail to show that this 24 Court abused its discretion. After the jury retired for deliberations, the foreperson 25 submitted the following question to the Court:

26 Was the burn treatment (patient) before or after the agreement was 27 entered? Does it matter? Specifically to plaintiffs failure to do what 28 contract required.

1 (Jury Exhibit 1, ECF No. 178-1.) From the question, it is apparent that the jurors
2 wanted to know whether the timing of Dr. Flores’ alleged improvement (use on burn 3 victims) of NP-2 affected the Plaintiffs’ obligations under the Agreement. Under 4 the Agreement, it appears that Plaintiffs were obligated to report any improvements 5 in writing whether they were discovered or used before or after the agreement was 6 entered. (Agreement, ¶ 2.) If it was conceived before the effective date of the 7 contract, then it was to be disclosed within ten days of the effective date. (Id.) If it 8 was conceived after the effective date, it was to be disclosed within 30 days of 9 conception. (Id.) Because there was no evidence presented that Plaintiffs provided 10 written notice of the alleged improvement at any time, the Court felt that the timing 11 of the burn treatment did not matter with respect to “plaintiffs failure to do what 12 [the] contract required.” However, the jury instructions explicitly explained that it 13 was within the province of the jury to interpret the provisions of the contract. Rather 14 than answering the jury’s question in too much detail, which might invade the 15 province of the jury, the Court elected to provide the following response:

16 In response to your questions, there are factual questions that must be 17 determined by the jury. You must determine the facts in this case based 18 on the evidence presented. The jury should review the contractual 19 provisions in addition to all of the other evidence and jury instructions in arriving at a verdict.

20 (Jury Exhibit 2.) Essentially, the Court redirected the jurors’ attention to the 21 Agreement, the evidence presented during trial, and the jury instructions. This was 22 an accurate statement of the law as well as the jurors’ responsibilities, and was thus 23 appropriate and not an abuse of discretion.

24 In addition, contrary to Plaintiffs’ suggestion, this jury question does not show 25 that “the concern the Doctors had in arguing for instructions to be provided on breach 26 and waiver from Plaintiffs’ perspective seemed to be coming to fruition.” (Reply 27 5.) This question, on its face, has nothing to do with the Plaintiffs proposed and 28 omitted jury instructions. The definition of material breach was provided in the jury

1 instructions. (Jury Instructions 4-5, ECF No. 179.) If the jurors had a question 2 regarding the definition of a material breach, they would have asked what the 3 definition of material breach was. If the jurors did not understand that either party 4 can materially breach a contract, despite the jury instructions and the two week trial 5 where both parties presented evidence of the other parties' breach, they could have 6 asked questions to clarify this issue. They chose not to. The Court did not, and will 7 not now, accept Plaintiffs' invitation to speculate as the jury's motivation for asking 8 the questions that it did.

9 Finally, Plaintiffs imply that because the jury "came to their decision fairly 10 quickly," the Court's answer to the jurors' question was somehow improper. As 11 explained above, however, the jury based their decision on the fact that Plaintiffs 12 could not establish a breach of contract claim. Once they came to that conclusion, 13 the jury had only to evaluate the breach of good faith and fraud claims. Plaintiffs 14 present no evidence or argument as to why the jury could not have appropriately 15 fulfilled its duty despite coming to the decision "fairly quickly." In light of the 16 foregoing, the motion on this ground is DENIED.

17 D. Defendant Presented Evidence that Plaintiffs' Breach Was Material

18 Plaintiffs next argue that Defendants failed to present any evidence that Dr.
19 Flores' use of NP-2 on burn patients constituted a material breach. (Mot. New Trial 20 3.) The Plaintiffs argument, in its entirety, is as follows: "The Defendants presented 21 no evidence that Dr. Flores' use was a material breach to the Agreement." (Id. 5.)

22 Defendant suggests that Plaintiffs completely ignore "undisputed testimony 23 at trial of both Dr. Crowley and Mr. Golikov." (Opp'n 2 n. 1.) According to 24 Defendant, each testified that the improvements paragraph was an important 25 provision to the parties and Mr. Golikov testified that Defendant would not have 26 entered into the Agreement without rights to all improvements. (Id.)

27 Under New Jersey law, a breach is material if it affects the purpose of the 28 contract in an important or vital way. Here, significant evidence was presented

1 regarding the parties intentions when entering into the Assignment Agreement. First 2 and foremost, Mr. Golikov testified that the improvements clauses in the agreement 3 were important to Defendant and that Defendant would not have entered into the 4 agreement without those provisions. Further, both Dr. Crowley and Mr. Golikov 5 testified about the large potential market and applicability for NP-2 and how it was 6 an important part of the deal for Defendant to receive all rights to NP-2. Dr. Crowley 7 testified that Defendant told Plaintiffs during the negotiations of the Assignment 8 Agreement that Defendant was in the process of obtaining all intellectual property 9 on topical ketamine to further their goal to commercialize NP-2. Dr. Crowley also 10 testified that, during negotiations, Defendant was impressed with the large number 11 of applications NP-2 had and thought that it had more clinical applications than the 12 successful pain drug Lidoderm. Mr. Golikov also testified at length how achieving 13 an assignment of all rights to NP-2, as opposed to a license of limited rights, was 14 very advantageous to Defendant.

15 This evidence, along with Paragraph 2 of the Agreement regarding the 16 necessity of disclosing improvements to NP-2, could easily convince a jury that an 17 important part of the Agreement was that Defendant be assigned all rights to NP-2, 18 including any improvements, due to its large potential value. Defendant invested a 19 significant amount of money into the Agreement and into creating an IP portfolio to 20 support its development efforts of NP-2, and their investment could be jeopardized 21 if Plaintiffs made an improvement that made the assigned technology either obsolete 22 or less valuable. Therefore, a reasonable jury could have found that when Dr. Flores 23 failed to conform to the improvement disclosure requirements, Plaintiffs breached 24 an important part of the contract, or materially breached the contract. In light of the 25 foregoing, the Court finds that the jury was presented with ample evidence that Dr.
26 Flores' breach was material and that the jury's finding of material breach was not 27 "contrary to the clear weight of the evidence." See Molski, 481 F.3d at 729. The 28 Court DENIES the motion on this ground.

1           E. Plaintiffs' Expert Was Properly Excluded

2           Finally, Plaintiffs suggest that “[t]he Court improperly excluded Plaintiffs’ 3 expert on issues solely within the jury’s province and on a purported lack of 4 qualifications also lacking in Defendants’ expert as the Doctors demonstrated at 5 trial.” (Mot. New Trial 3.) This issue has already been addressed, exhaustively, in 6 this Court’s order excluding Plaintiffs’ expert which is incorporated into this order 7 by reference. (Order Granting Defendants’ Motion to Exclude Mr. Pedersen’s 8 Testimony (“Daubert Order”), ECF No. 161.) Mr. Pedersen’s testimony was 9 properly excluded because he failed to support his damage calculations with any 10 sufficient or reliable data. (Id. 12-13.) The Court did not make its decision lightly, 11 but found that it was obligated to exclude the testimony in this particular case. (Id.) 12 The Court will not reiterate all of its analysis here.

13           Plaintiffs continue to suggest that Mr. Pedersen was qualified to opine in this 14 case, notwithstanding his lack of experience with the FDA. (Reply 7 (“The evidence 15 demonstrated that the Defendants’ expert was not any more qualified than the 16 Doctors’ expert and that the jury should have heard from both experts.”).) This 17 argument fails because a plain reading of the Court’s order reveals the Court did not 18 disqualify Plaintiff’s expert based on his lack of FDA experience. (Daubert Order 19 4-5 (“[I]n light of the fact that the parties have not directly challenged Mr. Pedersen’s 20 expertise, the Court finds that it is more helpful to analyze Mr. Pedersen’s actual 21 opinions regarding damages instead of his qualifications.”).) Further, Plaintiffs were 22 within their rights to challenge Defendant’s expert, but never did.

23           Assuming the Court excluded Mr. Pedersen’s testimony in error, which it did 24 not, the error was harmless as he was only testifying to damages. The jury found no 25 liability, so Mr. Pedersen’s testimony was irrelevant. In light of the foregoing, the 26 Court DENIES the motion on this ground.

3 IV. CONCLUSION AND ORDER

4 For the foregoing reasons, the motion for new trial is DENIED.
