

EXHIBIT 2

The Latest In TSA Scandal: Molestation & Porno Pics

By Joe Weber Tuesday, November 23, 2010

Like

7

1

Man strips down to his underwear to avoid being “molested” by airport security agents.

Thanks to “underwear bomber,” and Obama, there are now two options when going through airport security: take some naked snapshots or get molested by TSA agents. Chose option C, neither, and risk getting arrested and/or fined $11,000.

Recently, a San Diego man was arrested for refusing a pat down after stripping down to his underwear.

Sam Wolanyk was on his way to catch a flight to Barbados when he was pulled aside for a full body pat down. Wolanyk refused, but stripped down to his Calvin Kleins to show that he obviously was not hiding anything.

“It was obvious that my underwear left nothing to the imagination,” Wolanyk told the San Diego Examiner. “But that wasn’t enough for the TSA supervisor who was called to the scene and asked me to put my clothes on so I could be properly patted down.”