The vote for 2012 is coming and, with it, the next four years of our life as a nation bound under one President. Let's make it a President who is speaking for the people and trying to right the wrongs of a Republican run government for the past eight years.

President Obama has gone to great lengths to reach to the middle and lower class who are still feeling the effects of Bush's regime. The 99% speak out against the top paid 1%. Gas prices still are fluctuating from oil deals by underhanded right wing politicians who want to keep the rich richer and the poor less than. And a war that was supposed to be over more than eight years ago finally saw soldiers returning home.

And the fight is still not over. The democratic party still has a bit more house cleaning to do and they can only do it with your vote in November. And here at Demstore, we are your one stop shop for left wing friendly paraphernalia, including larger than life yard signs and Obama buttons.

The fight to elect Obama back into office is just beginning and it is sure to be a rough ride until the election polls open. Show your support with pride and vibrant color here. Encourage the nation to get out there and vote.

Vote Democrat. Vote Obama in 2012.
