DECLARATION OF JULIE A. SHEPARD IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' JOINT MOTION FOR A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

I, Julie A. Shepard, declare as follows:

- 1. I am an attorney licensed to practice law in the State of California, and I am a partner at Jenner & Block LLP, counsel of record for plaintiffs Fox Television Stations, Inc., Twentieth Century Fox Film Corp., and Fox Broadcasting Company (collectively, "Fox"). I submit this declaration in support of the Plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction against FilmOnX, LLC (f/k/a Aereokiller LLC), FilmOn.TV Networks, Inc., FilmOn.TV, Inc., and FilmOn.com, Inc. (collectively, "FilmOnX" or "Defendants"). As used herein, the term "Plaintiffs" means Fox and the other plaintiffs in this action. I have personal knowledge of the facts set forth in this declaration and, if called as a witness, I could and would testify competently to such facts under oath.
- 2. In August 2012, Defendants launched their unauthorized service through which they stream local Fox, ABC, NBC and CBS broadcasts and programming (among other programming) via their website, originally located at barrydriller.com (a web address that later used to redirect users to the website cbsyousuck.com) which, as of the date of my declaration, is no longer active. Defendants subsequently relocated their unauthorized streaming service to filmonx.com¹, and much later started redirecting to filmon.com.
- 3. At the time of the launch of Defendants' unauthorized service, Defendants limited the cities in which Plaintiffs' local broadcast channels were being made available to Los Angeles, New York, Minneapolis and Chicago. As FilmOnX's infringing activities were taking place in Los Angeles, which is the principle place of business of a number of the Plaintiffs, Plaintiffs filed two related lawsuits against Defendants in the United States District Court for the ¹FilmOnX LLC (f/k/a Aereokiller LLC) moved its Internet streaming service from barrydriller.com to filmonx.com after media mogul, Barry Diller, sued Aereokiller for wrongfully using his name in connection with Aereokiller's services.

Central District of California in August 2012 (Case Nos. 12-6921-GW-JC and 12-6950-GW-JC). In December 2012, Plaintiffs obtained a preliminary injunction against Defendants' service. However, due to comity concerns, the Honorable George Wu limited the injunction to the geographic boundaries of the Ninth Circuit.

- 4. After its initial four-city launch, FilmOnX expanded the areas where its service is available to a number of additional cities, including Washington D.C. Plaintiffs filed a lawsuit against Defendants in this Court on May 23, 2013 seeking to enjoin Defendants' ongoing infringement in the Washington D.C. area and the rest of the nation not encompassed by Judge Wu's order. Indeed, every day, FilmOnX's service streams dozens of Plaintiffs' copyrighted programs without their consent. Within a week of the filing of this lawsuit, Defendants made a public announcement that they were going to stop streaming Plaintiffs' local channels within the Washington D.C. area and they appeared to do so.
- 5. This step by FilmOnX seemed to indicate that Defendants may be willing to stop their infringement more broadly, at least pending the resolution of Defendants' appeal from the preliminary injunction issued by Judge Wu. Thus, I, along with counsel from Arnold & Porter, contacted counsel for Defendants in early June 2013 to determine if Defendants would agree to stop streaming Plaintiffs' local programming in all cities where Defendants were engaged in such streaming. On that call, Defendants' counsel responded that they would get back to us. When they did, Defendants' counsel reported that Defendants would not agree to stop their unauthorized streaming on a broader basis. In addition, shortly thereafter, FilmOnX resumed streaming Plaintiffs' local Washington D.C. broadcast channels in the Washington D.C. area. As a result, Plaintiffs filed a motion for preliminary injunction to stop Defendants' ongoing infringement nationwide, including in the areas where FilmOnX is known to be streaming Plaintiffs' local broadcast channels without authorization, which include Washington D.C., Chicago, Boston, Dallas, Miami, Atlanta, Denver, New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut.

Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a true and correct copy of a collection of screen shots evidencing Defendants' streaming of Plaintiffs' local broadcasts in these cities.

- 6. Defendants have admitted in a recent filing with the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals that this Court should be allowed to decide whether an injunction should issue against them. See FilmOn X Appellants/Cross-Appellees' Reply Brief on Appeals and Response Brief on Cross-Appeals, Case Nos. 13-55156, 13-55157, 13-55226 & 13-55228, Ninth Circuit, dated 6/25/13, Dkt. No. 99, at p. 38 ("the Networks and others filed a complaint for injunctive relief and damages against FilmOn X in the D.C. Circuit. That case is pending before the Honorable Judge Rosemary M. Collyer. This Court should not prejudge that action, depriving Judge Collyer of the opportunity to adjudicate based on the facts before her.")
- 7. FilmOnX's unauthorized streaming of Plaintiffs' local television broadcasts is available not only on the Internet, but also through various web applications (commonly referred to as "apps") compatible with iPhones, Android phones, Facebook and Microsoft's Window 8. Collectively, FilmOnX's websites and applications will be referred to as the "FilmOnX service." Using the FilmOnX service, Plaintiffs' local broadcasts currently may be accessed by FilmOnX subscribers and users via computers, smartphones, iPads, tablets and other Internet-enabled devices.²

² Upon learning of FilmOnX's deployment of the various apps mentioned above, and prior to the issuance of the injunction by Judge Wu, Fox sent DMCA notices through Apple's, Microsoft's, and Google's websites notifying them of FilmOnX's infringement and asking them to cease and desist their further distribution of FilmOnX's applications. Fox believes that these outlets (many of whom are Fox's partners in other ventures) were unaware of FilmOnX's illegal streaming. While it is my understanding that Apple, Microsoft and Google complied with Fox's request in the United States and removed the FilmOnX applications that existed as of October

8. FilmOnX's service threatens widespread reach:

First, adding the populations of the ten major metropolitan areas outside the Ninth Circuit where FilmOnX is currently available (Washington DC, New York, Chicago, Boston, Miami, Dallas, Atlanta, Denver, Newark, and Bridgeport³), audience numbers exceed 15 million.

Attached to my declaration as Exhibit B are true and correct copies of population estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau reflecting the populations of these ten major metropolitan areas.

- 9. Second, screen captures of various app providers' web pages and app stores exhibiting the increasing numbers of users downloading applications providing FilmOnX's service and the number of users submitting reviews (true and correct copies of which are attached to my declaration as Exhibit C) demonstrate the potential for FilmOnX's unauthorized service to infectiously spread.
- 10. Third, as reflected in a press release between FilmOnX and Lenovo, as of early 2013, FilmOnX and Lenovo planned to commence distribution of "tens of millions" Lenovo computers preloaded with the FilmOnX app -- FilmOn Live Streaming Television App.

 Attached to my declaration as Exhibit D is a true and correct copy of the October 26, 2012

 Lenovo press release announcing this partnership. Based on an investigation conducted at my direction, we have confirmed that a FilmOnX app is preloaded on Lenovo computers available in stores. At present, this application did not appear to be streaming Plaintiffs' broadcasts when tested in Los Angeles. However, as FilmOnX controls the content available on its applications, and November 2012 from their online stores, I have observed that those applications remain on the devices upon which they had already been downloaded and provide access to FilmOnX services. Moreover, I have recently become aware that Defendants launched new applications available in Apple's, Microsoft's, and Google's stores under slightly different names that are streaming Plaintiffs' local broadcasts without Plaintiffs' authorization.

Defendants could at anytime commence streaming Plaintiffs' local broadcast on these millions of Lenovo commuters.

- and due to the pendency of the case in the Central District of California where I am also counsel of record, I have been periodically monitoring the FilmOnX service, either personally or through others who are operating at my direction and under my supervision. Through monitoring the service I have periodically found violations of the preliminary injunction that I, or the other Plaintiffs, have brought to FilmOnX's attention. The availability of Plaintiffs' programming and which websites or apps it is available on has changed on a number of occasions, most frequently with the addition of sites where Defendants' unauthorized streaming is occurring but sometimes with the temporary removal of certain of Plaintiffs' programming as well.
- 12. Paragraphs 13 through 18 below describe what the user sees and how the FilmOnX service operates based on my observation of the service and monitoring of the service performed under my direction and supervision:
- (the "Viewer") appears in the top center of the page. To the left of the Viewer is a list of over 150 television channels. Included within the categories of channels are "Most Watched" channels and "Local TV" channels. Under "Most Watched" channels, NBC WASHINGTON, ABC WASHINGTON, CBS NY and Fox Washington (among others) appear. Under the "Local TV" heading, Fox Washington, CBS Washington, ABC Washington and NBC Washington (among others) appear. When I was in Los Angeles prior to the issuance of the injunction and periodically since then, I have seen the Los Angeles local broadcast channels of the Plaintiffs listed like this and was able to watch them live. Similarly, when I was in Chicago and New York, I saw the Chicago and the New York local broadcast channels of the Plaintiffs listed like this and was able to watch them live. And, FilmOnX operates similarly in the other cities where it retransmits Plaintiffs' local channels. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit E are true and correct copies of screen shots of Defendants' website providing examples of the Most Watched channels and Local TV channels available in various cities where FilmOnX has been streaming them.

- 14. Defendants charge fees to their subscribers who want to watch the unauthorized retransmissions of Fox, NBC, ABC and CBS programming (and other local channels) live in High Definition, to those who want the ability to skip the commercials that FilmOnX makes users watch before Plaintiffs' broadcast programming (and are discussed more in Paragraph 16, below), and to those who want to record Plaintiffs' programming for later viewing. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit F are true and correct copies of screen shots of Defendants' website exemplifying the characteristics described in this paragraph.
- 15. Defendants do not appear to charge users to watch Plaintiffs' broadcasts in standard definition, however, Defendants commercially capitalize on such retransmissions of Plaintiffs' programming through added advertising and promotions.
- 16. Defendants' Inserted Advertising: When I click on FOX Washington (or on ABC Washington, CBS Washington or NBC Washington) on filmon.com, the Viewer begins by requiring me to watch an approximately 10 to 30 second commercial before I am able to watch the local programming. This 10 to 30 second advertising spot is inserted in the transmission process by FilmOnX, not by Fox, ABC, NBC or CBS. The types of advertisements placed by FilmOnX range from Verizon to Mars candy to Disney resorts to Microsoft products. After watching approximately 10-20 seconds of the commercial, I am able to click a button that says

"skip this ad" and allows me to switch over to the live programming. Sometimes, when I have clicked on the advertising while it is being shown, I have been redirected to a website for the advertised product. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit G are true and correct copies of screen shots with examples of such advertisements that Defendants have inserted before Plaintiffs' programming.

- 17. Defendants' Banner Advertising. Directly above the Viewer, and visible the entire time I am watching a channel (such as a stream of Fox's local channel), is a series of banner advertisements. I have observed two categories of banner advertisements. The first category of banner advertisements promote FilmOnX series and products, such as the World IBO Boxing Championships live exclusively on FilmOn, or Guido, a FilmOn.Com original production airing exclusively on FilmOn and starring Mr. David. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit H are true and correct copies of screen shots of Defendants' website exhibiting these banner ads. The second category of banner advertisements promote a variety of different third-party products and services such as department stores, cars, and banks. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit I are true and correct copies of screen shots of Defendants' website with examples of such banner advertisements.
- channel in the Viewer is the "FilmOn" or "FilmOnX" insignia, also visible the entire time I watch a channel in the Viewer. As noted in Sherry Brennan's declaration, this graphical practice is commonly referred to in the television industry as placing a "bug" over the video display, and is a prominent form of branding employed by virtually all of the Plaintiffs. While it is possible to maximize the screen size so that the banner advertising is not visible while watching programming by using the "Pop Out" feature on filmon.com, the "FilmOn" or "FilmOnX" bug remains visible the entire time one views programming through FilmOnX. To describe this more specifically, on the bottom right hand side of the Viewer is a button that says "Pop Out." When I click on "Pop Out", the Viewer pops out in a new Internet browsing window and continues to show the streaming programming I was watching with the "FilmOn" or "FilmOnX" bug superimposed over it. I can maximize the size of this new window so that the programming fills my entire screen and looks just like a television screen. However, even in this enlarged view, the "FilmOn" or "FilmOnX" bug still appears over whatever programming I am watching. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit J are true and correct copies of screen shots of Defendants' website exemplifying the characteristics described in this paragraph.

- 19. As mentioned above, in addition to being able to access FilmOnX's service on my computer, I am also able to access FilmOnX's service through an app on my iPhone. And, at my direction, FilmOnX's service has also been accessed through an app on Android phones; through iPads and other tablets; through an app available on Microsoft's Windows 8; through Facebook; and through other smartphones and other Internet-enabled devices. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit K are true and correct copies of screen shots exemplifying the availability of FilmOnX's service on devices other than my computer at filmonx.com.
- 20. To provide an illustrative example of Defendants' copyright infringement to this Court, I attach Exhibit L which is a true and correct copy of a screen shot reflecting Fox's copyrighted program, The Simpsons, Episode "200 Keys," streaming on filmon.com, as well as the related local television broadcast schedule, that were captured at my direction and under my supervision. Attached to the declaration of Sherry Brennan as Exhibit A are true and correct copies of illustrative examples of Fox's copyright registrations and notices of potential advanced infringement, including the copyright registration for the show displayed in Exhibit L.

- 21. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit M is a true and correct copy of an article entitled "NBC, ABC, And CBS File Their Own Suit Against 'BarryDriller.com' Streaming Site", dated August 13, 2012, in which Mr. David states, with respect to Fox's programming, "We have better things to do than screw around with aging, irrelevant, free to air TV that they can't even give away."
- 22. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit N is a true and correct copy of the stipulated consent judgment and permanent injunction preventing FilmOn.com, Inc. from streaming Fox, ABC, NBC and CBS' programming via www.filmon.com issued in Plaintiffs' case against FilmOn.com, Inc. in the Southern District of New York, Case No. 10-7532, The Honorable Judge Naomi Buchwald presiding.
- 23. Attached to my declaration as Exhibit O is a true and correct copy of an email communication sent by Alki David to my co-counsel at Arnold & Porter LLP on April 30, 2013.

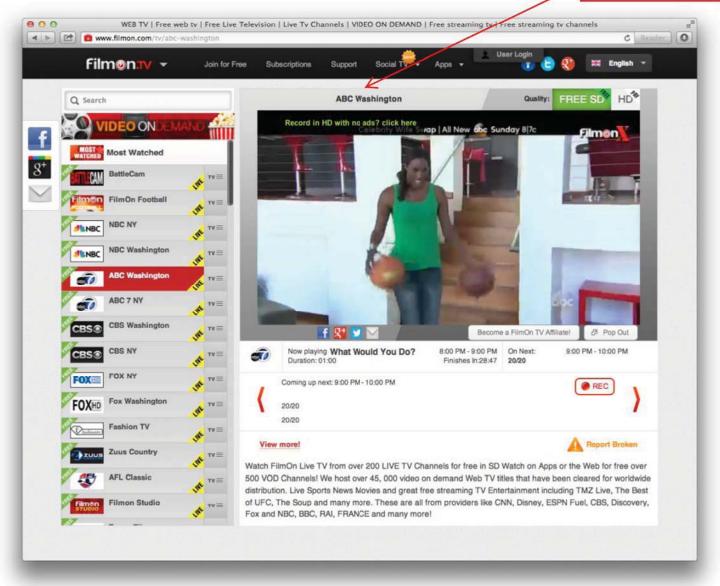

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed this 1st day August, 2013 at Los Angeles, California.

NBC, ABC, And CBS File Their Own Suit Against "BarryDriller.com" Streaming Site

By DAVID LIEBERMAN, Executive Editor | Monday August 13, 2012 @ 6:17pm EDT

The networks' joint copyright infringement claim against digital entrepreneur Alki David's provocative site is similar to the suit that Fox filed on Friday — also at the U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. The action against BarryDriller Content Systems was made "to restrain defendants from exploiting without authorization, and violating plaintiffs' rights in, some of the most valuable intellectual property created in the United States," the networks say. They want unspecified damages as well as an injunction against BarryDriller.com, which beginning last week streamed the broadcasters' over-the-air signals to subscribers in a few cities including Los Angeles and New York. David has claimed that BarryDriller is similar to Aereo, the Barry Diller-backed service that streams local broadcast signals to subscribers in New York. Both companies say that they are simply feeding consumers programming that they can already receive for free. (Broadcasters also are suing Aereo for copyright infringement.) Although David talked tough after the Fox suit, he said today that his company "is temporarily ceasing to retransmit the Network content" — he says because consumers would prefer to receive alternative programming such as Bikini TV. He adds: "We have better things to do than screw around with ageing, irrelevant, free to air TV that they can't even give away. We will reconsider putting them back." Last week David signed an agreement with the networks to pull the plug on a similar streaming site run by another company he runs, FilmOn, and to pay them $1.6M.
