2007 PET PRODUCTS TREND REPORT

We pamper them. We bring them wherever we go. We surprise them with something new on special occasions. They even get holiday presents. They are our pets!

From high-end items to high-tech items, products for our companion animals now extend beyond traditional necessities. The American Pet Product Manufacturers Association (APPMA) presents top pet product trends for 2007.

Going to the Dogs

More and more companies traditionally known for human products are going to the dogs, and cats, and reptiles. Big name companies including like Paul Mitchell, Omaha Steaks, Origins, Harley Davidson and Old Navy are now offering lines of pet products ranging from dog shampoo, pet attire, and name-brand toys to gourmet treats and food.

Pets Welcome

Many hotels across the country are adopting pet friendly policies. Several chains have announced new pet-friendly policies that include everything from oversized pet pillows, plush doggie robes, to check-in gift packages that include a pet toy, dog treat, ID tag, bone and turn down treat. Some even have a licensed dog masseuse on staff.

Pet Products Sold Here

Shopping for pet products is becoming easier than ever with an increasing variety of retail outlets now selling pet products. Right along side fertilizer and shovels, shoppers can now find pet products such as doggie doors and yellow lawn spot removers sold at many lawn and garden stores, nurseries, and major home improvement stores including Home Depot.

The Lap of Luxury

High-end items to spoil companion animals are must-haves for pet owners that spare no expense to please their furry, feathered and finned best friends. Items include faux mink coats for cold weather outings, feathered French day beds for afternoon naps, designer bird cages, botanical fragrances and to top it all off, a rhinestone tiara!

Ultra-Clean...

Pet-owners take grooming one step beyond a haircut, a quick bath and a nail trim. Mouthwash and an electric toothbrush for canines are routine steps in a beauty session for some pooches. Birds receive daily pedicures with special cage perches, while others enjoy manicures complete with nail polish. Pet-owning homes stay cleaner with automatic, self-flushing litter boxes, cleaning cloths for muddy paws that mimic traditional baby wipes, and scented gel air fresheners to keep rooms free of pet odors.

Dinner is Served

Today's pet foods include complete and balanced diets that tantalize our pets' taste buds and satisfy their tummies. Formulas for puppies and kittens, specialized meals for reptiles, birds and fish and diets for senior pets ensure a long and healthy life for our beloved companions.

State-of-the-Art

High-tech products including computerized identification tags, digital aquarium kits, automatic doors and feeders, enhanced reptile terrarium lighting systems and touch-activated toys help pet-owners take care of companion animals with ease and precision.

Loosen Up

As pet owners meditate in yoga class, cats relieve stress by frolicking in a toy gym or relaxing in a feline spa before enjoying herbal catnip packaged in a tea bag. Dogs sip fresh water from flowing fountains after a soothing rub with a doggie massager.

Help Yourself!

Products designed with convenience in mind lead this trend. Programmable feeding and drinking systems, automatic and battery-operated toys, self-cleaning litter boxes and self-warming pet mats let pets virtually care for themselves!

Straight from the Catwalk

Faux mink coats, hipster lumberjack vests, designer plaid jackets, matching jeweled and leather collar and leash sets, Halloween costumes, and holiday outfits keep pets in fashion throughout the year. Upscale leather carriers complete with a cell phone and water bottle holder are the perfect accessories to keep the pet owner in style as well.

Keep on Truckin'

Whether it's a quick trip to the supermarket or a long ride to the beach, companion animals are now traveling animals too. Buckled up in a harness, seat belt system or a portable carrier, these pets stay safe and secure while on the road. Food and water along with safety supplies are on hand in all-in-one kits, waste disposal systems make for easy clean-up on quick stops and motion sickness aids are available too.

Hello, My Name Is...

From monogrammed sweaters and personalized food and water bowls to digitized collar tags and hand-made treats, owners embrace their pets as true members of the American family celebrating their fluffy, finned and feathered companions with their very own belongings.

HEALTH BENEFITS

- Pets Help to Lower Blood Pressure A recent study at the State University of New York at Buffalo found that people with hypertension who adopted a cat or dog had lower blood pressure readings in stressful situations than did those who did not own a pet. (Dr. Karen Allen, State University of New York at Buffalo)
- Pets Help to Reduce Stress Walking with a pet helps to sooth nerves and offers instant relaxation. Studies conducted worldwide have shown that the impact of a stressful situation is lesser on pet owners, especially males, than on those who do not own a pet. (Josephine M. Wills, Waltham Centre for Pet Nutrition, United Kingdom)
- Pets Help to Prevent Heart Disease Because pets provide people with faithful companionship, research shows they may also provide their owners with greater psychological stability, thus a measure of protection from heart disease. (National Institute of Health Technology Assessment Workshop: Health Benefits of Pets)
- Pets Help to Lower Health Care Costs People with pets actually make fewer doctor visits, especially for non-serious medical conditions. (National Institute of Health Technology Assessment Workshop: Health Benefits of Pets)
- Pets Help to Fight Depression Pets help fight depression and loneliness, promoting an interest in life. When seniors face adversity or trauma, affection from pets takes on great meaning. Their bonding behavior can foster a sense of security. (Between Pets and People: The Importance of Animal Companionship)

The U.S. pet food market is experiencing healthy growth as marketers continue to convert pet owners to better quality, higher priced, more upscale fare. Premium pet foods cover all bases—natural/organic, fortified/functional, weight control, lifestage, breed-/size-specific, gourmet, etc.—and are increasingly being positioned not just as human style but as human grade. As a result, much of the growth is occurring at the upper-income tier of the pet owner spectrum, with U.S. households earning $70,000 or more now accounting for an impressive 44% of the aggregate pet food expenditure—up from just 15% in 1994.

Top marketers including Nestlé Purina, Mars, Iams, Hill's, Nutro, and S&M NuTec clearly have their fingers on the emotional pulse of American pet owners, as well as some very big advertising guns. During 2005, they spent nearly $300 million on national advertising for pet food, virtually all of it encouraging the deep attachment Americans feel for their pets, while also launching the biggest surge of new products in the history of the market. The high level of interest in all things pet has also spurred a number of high-profile acquisitions, including Mars' recent purchase of S&M NuTec (Greenies) and private-label producer Doane, Del Monte's purchase of Milk-Bone and Meow Mix, Bain Capital's purchase of Nutro, and Central Garden & Pet's purchase of Breeder's Choice.

Bringing to bear more than 20 years of experience in analyzing this market and drawing on Packaged Facts' broad cross-category expertise, Pet Food in the U.S. pinpoints strategic directions for current and prospective marketers, with a particular focus on high-growth product segments such as functional treats. Covering products for all type of companion animals, the report is organized into four main chapters—Dog Food, Cat Food, and Other Pet Food (birds, small animal, fish, and reptiles), plus an in-depth overview chapter covering cross-market trends.

Pegging 2005 sales at $14.5 billion and projecting healthy growth through 2010, the report provides market size estimates for the overall retail universe, while quantifying mass-market sales to the marketer/brand share level using data from Information Resources, Inc. The report fully documents marketing, new product, and retail trends, as well as trends in pet food purchaser demographics, based on Simmons Market Research Bureau data as well as data from the American Pet Products Manufacturers Association's 2005-2006 National Pet Owners Survey.

Packaged Facts' Pet Products and Services Collection

Report Methodology

The information contained in this report was obtained from both primary and secondary research. Primary research entailed attendance at industry trade shows; informal interviews with members of the trade; and an on-site examination of the retail milieu, including mass-market outlets, pet specialty shops, and veterinary clinics. Secondary research included extensive Internet canvassing and research- and data-gathering from relevant trade, business, and government sources; company reports including annual reports, 10Ks, and other financial releases from public companies; company profiles in trade and consumer publications; and other reports by Packaged Facts, which has been reporting on pet-related markets for nearly two decades.

Exhibit 13

Our market size estimates are based on Information Resources, Inc. (IRI) data for tracked mass-market retailers (supermarkets, drugstores, and mass merchandisers other than Wal-Mart), independent pet store sales-tracking surveys, reported revenues of marketers and retailers, and figures appearing in the trade press. Information on new product introductions is derived from reports in the trade press and online, as well as detailed Productscan data from Datamonitor. Our analysis of consumer demographics derives primarily from the Simmons Market Research Bureau (New York, New York) fall 2005 consumer survey, which is based on approximately 28,000 respondents

A recall of contaminated pet-food in North America

Hamish

THE grief cycle describes a common pattern of emotional responses to death, starting with denial, changing to anger and then depression, and ending with acceptance. Pet-owners in North America are adding another stage to the process—litigation. In mid-March Menu Foods, a Canadian contract manufacturer, pulled 95 brands of dog and cat food from shelves in America, Canada and Mexico. The recall came after reports from consumers of contaminated food were confirmed by the company's own "taste" tests, in which nine cats died. Further tests by American government officials identified aminopterin, a type of rat poison, in the food.

Menu Foods has confirmed 16 animal deaths so far but that number will rise. Michael Dillon, a pet industry consultant, conservatively estimates a final death toll in the thousands. Local newspapers issue sombre reports on victims such as TJ, a Yorkshire terrier in Missouri who enjoyed the smell of roses. Enter the lawyers. Distressed owners have filed class-action lawsuits against Menu Foods, as well as against a retailer who stocked the items and a manufacturer who used the Canadian firm to make its products.

The depth of response may baffle the petless but comes as no surprise to industry insiders, who identify "humanisation" as a principal feature of the sector. Many owners think of their pets as children—childless consumers accounted for 60% of pet-related expenditure in America in 2005—and treat them more like people than animals. Trends in human food are quickly replicated in pet products, says Bob Vetere, president of the American Pet Products Manufacturers Association.

The recalled pet foods were "cuts and gravy", which are designed to mimic the food people eat (wheat gluten, the probable source of the contamination, is used to thicken the gravy). Health foods are fast spreading from dinner tables to doggie bowls: Wal-Mart and Target, America's two biggest retailers, both introduced natural pet-food lines last year. The recall is likely to reinforce this trend.

Doting owners don't only spend big money on food. Overall, pet-related sales are forecast to hit $40.8 billion in America this year, 6% more than in 2006. Absurdities such as diamond-studded Cartier dog collars and Goyard travelling bowls are out of the reach of most owners but the better-off are happy to splash out on branded carriers and clothing. Pet services are booming too. Speciality retailers already boost sales by offering grooming and boarding. Mr Dillon expects to see "human" retailers such as Wal-Mart branching into pet services over the next couple of years.

The pet-food recall highlights two risks faced by firms using contract manufacturers. One is reputational. Many pet owners have expressed surprise that premium brands were being made with common ingredients and at the same facility as a host of cheaper, own-label brands. Why pay more for branded goods, they ask? The criticism may be unfair—differences between products lie largely in the varying proportions of ingredients used—but the perception of reduced value will be hard to shift.

The second risk relates to extended supply chains. The pet-food industry is more lightly policed than the human-food one and testing procedures were in the hands of Menu Foods. Aminopterin is banned in America but the wheat gluten at the centre of the contamination investigation was imported from China, where the poison is used. There are mutterings about how quickly Menu Foods reacted to reports of pet deaths. Things can go wrong at companies' own facilities too but Mr Vetere predicts that the recall will prompt tougher provisions in agreements with contract manufacturers.

Just as owners come to resemble their dogs so too the human and pet markets are converging. Picky customers and growth in premium products are already familiar features of many consumer landscapes. But pet owners turning to the courts for redress over the loss of a loved one will notice that people and animals are still different in law. Pets are treated as property not as people, severely crimping the opportunity for bumper payouts to the bereft that Americans have become used to.

Our Beliefs

Our History - Quick Facts About The Iams Company

* Animal nutritionist Paul Iams founded The Iams Company in 1946 in a small feed mill near Dayton, Ohio. Clay Mathile joined Iams in 1970 and purchased the company in 1982. Paul Iams established the company's nutritional foundation, and Clay Mathile provided the vision to enable The Iams Company to become a world leader in dog and cat nutrition.

* The Procter & Gamble Company (P&G) acquired Iams in September 1999. Iams joined P&G's Health Care global business unit.

* Paul Iams wanted an unusual, memorable name for his superior product. He called it Eukanuba (you can noo' bah), an expression used in the 1940s to mean "the best." Jazz musician Hoagy Carmichael made the expression popular.

* The Iams Company sells Eukanuba® and Iams® premium dog and cat foods (dry and canned) in 70 countries. Iams employs more than 2500 people.

* Iams makes dry dog and cat food at plants in Lewisburg, Ohio; Aurora, Neb.; Henderson, N.C.; Leipsic, Ohio; and Coevorden, The Netherlands. The Iams Heartland plant in North Sioux City, S.D., makes canned dog and cat food.

* Eukanuba Dog & Cat Foods are sold in pet specialty stores and veterinary offices and clinics. Iams Dog & Cat Foods are sold in pet specialty stores, veterinary offices and clinics, feed and grain stores, gourmet food stores, and pet boarding & grooming locations. Iams Dog & Cat Foods is also available in grocery stores, mass merchandisers and drug stores in North America. Eukanuba Veterinary Diets — therapeutic foods for dogs and cats — are available exclusively from veterinarians to help manage specific pet health disorders.

* The Paul F. Iams Technical Center is one of the premier companion animal facilities in the world. The Iams team of nutritionists, veterinarians and food scientists conducts controlled feeding studies to enhance the well being of dogs and cats.

* The Iams Pet Professionals offer information on proper pet care and nutrition through a toll-free answer line at 1-800-675-3849.

Product Information | Calories | Ingredients
Guaranteed Analysis | Product Availability

Product Information

Restricted-Calorie formulas are high-quality foods that have been specially developed to help your pet lose excess pounds safely. You can feed a reasonable amount of the Formula and still control fat and calorie intake.

Restricted-Calorie formulas are low-calorie, low-fat diets with high-quality, animal-based proteins. This helps your pet lose fat and keep lean muscle. These protein sources also provide great taste. Instead of using excessive levels of inexpensive fiber, Restricted-Calorie contains normal fiber levels from beet pulp, an excellent source that promotes normal bowel function and small, firm stools. Restricted-Calorie formulas also have an appropriate balance of omega-6 and omega-3 fatty acids for healthy skin and coat.

CERTIFIED MAIL RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

In Reply refer to # CVM-06002V

Mr. Gerald G. May Director, Government and Trade Affairs Product Safety and Regulatory Affairs
The Iams Company
6571 State Route 503 North
P. O. Box 189

Lewisburg, Ohio 45338-0189

WARNING LETTER

Dear Mr. May:

The Center for Veterinary Medicine (CVM) reviewed The Iams Company website with respect to several Eukanuba brand products containing chromium tripicolinate. Chromium tripicolinate when added to food is a food additive as defined in section 201(s) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the Act) [Title 21 United States Cod (U.S.C.) Section 321(s)(21 U.S.C. 321 (s))]. The Iams Company stated in a letter dated January 6, 2006, and on The Iams Company website as recently as November 17, 2006, that Eukanuba Veterinary Diets Optimum Weight Control/Canine dry, Optimum Weight Control/Feline dry, Restricted-Calorie/Canine dry and canned, and Restricted-Calorie/Feline dry an canned contain chromium tripicolinate. Because the food additive chromium tripicolinate is not the subject of a regulation prescribing the conditions under which it maybe safely used, it is unsafe under section 409 [21 U.S.C. 348] of the Act. Foods, including animal feed and the products listed above, that contain food additives that are unsafe within the meaning of section 409 [21 U.S.C.348] of the Act are adulterated under section 402(a)(2)(C)(i) [21 U.S.C. 342(a)(2)(C)(i)] of the Act. The introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of an adulterated food is a prohibited act as specified in section 301(a) [21 U.S.C. 331(a)] of the Act.

On January 11, 1996, CVM indicated it was not likely to take enforcement action with respect to the inclusion of chromium tripicolinate as a source of supplemental chromium in diets for swine at levels of 0.2 ppm (200 parts per billion (ppb)) or less, however, we did not make this statement with respect to the use of chromium tripicolinate in any other animal feed. In a July 9, 2004 letter, CVM denied The Iams Company’s request to extend the exercise of its enforcement discretion to the use of chromium tripicolinate in dog food at amounts up to 150 ppb and in cat food at amounts up to 200 ppb. In a January 6, 2006 letter to CVM, The Iams Company submitted data purporting to demonstrate that chromium tripicolinate is non-genotoxic. CVM responded in an April 25, 2006, letter, informing The Iams Company that the data it submitted are inconclusive and not sufficient to address CVM ’s target animal safety concerns. CVM reminded The Iams Company that we did not intend to exercise enforcement discretion with respect to the use of chromium tripicolinate in any animal feed products other than diets for swine.

This letter is not intended to be an all-inclusive review of the products The Iams Company manufactures and markets. It is The Iams Company’s responsibility to ensure that its over all operation and the products it manufactures and markets are in compliance with the Act.

The Iams Company should take prompt action to correct the above cited violations, and should establish procedures whereby such violations do not recur. Failure to do so may result in regulatory action without further notice, including seizure and/or injunction.

Please notify this office in writing within fifteen (15) working days of receipt of this letter of the specific steps The Iams Company has taken to correct the noted violations. Include an explanation of each step being taken to identify and to correct any underlying problems necessary to assure similar violations will not recur. You should include in your response copies of documents that support your corrective actions. If corrective action cannot be completed within fifteen (15) working days, state the reason for delay and the time within which the corrections will be completed.

Your written response should be sent to Mr. Kim Young, Deputy Director, Acting Director, Division of Compliance, HFV 230, FDA-Center for Veterinary Medicine, 7519 Standish Place, Rockville, Maryland 20855. If you have any questions about this letter, please contact Dr. Cathie Marshall by telephone at 240-276-9217 or by email at cathie.marshall@fda.hhs.gov.

Sincerely,

/S/

Kim R. Young

Low pH/S™/Feline Dry Formula

Product Information | Calories | Ingredients
Guaranteed Analysis | Feeding Guidelines | Product Availability

Product Information

The Urinary Management System offers two specific formulas for the nutritional management of struvite-associated and calcium oxalate-associated crystals.

The two diets nutritionally manage urine acidity (or pH). For example, there is less chance of struvite crystals forming in urine that is more acidic. So feeding your cat Nutritional Urinary Formula Low pH/S, which delivers a more acidic urine, helps create an environment unfavorable to struvite formation. On the other hand, there is less chance of calcium oxalate crystals forming in urine that is less acidic. Therefore, feeding your cat Nutritional Urinary Formula Moderate pH/O, which delivers a less acidic urine, helps create an environment unfavorable to calcium oxalate formation.

Your veterinarian will discuss with you which formula may be best for your cat's individual needs.

Product Information

How can Nutritional Skin & Coat Formulas help? Response Formula is designed to aid in the nutritional management of skin and coat problems in several ways. First is through fatty acids. Specific types, called omega-6 and omega-3 fatty acids, are important. Response Formula has an optimal balance of these two fatty acid types. Second, Response Formula includes alternate protein and carbohydrate sources which can be important if your veterinarian suspects that your pet's skin condition may have a food allergy component. "I just wanted to let you know that your Iams Hairball formula cat food has rejuvenated our 15-year-old cat, Mitzy, and probably saved her life. Last year, she had been getting terribly bound by hairballs, even though she is a short-haired cat, and also, she walked with a hesitation, like someone with arthritis. Well, the vet recommended Iams Hairball formula, and our geriatric cat is now chasing our Sheltie around the house and pouncing on us from doorways. She no longer walks arthritically, and looks younger. We thought she was at the end of her life, but apparently, she is at the beginning of another one. - Pat, Williamsburg, VA "

"I just wanted to tell you that we have a 15 year old cat, Belvin, who had lost a tremendous amount of weight, and had a problem with throwing up and diarrhea. The Veterinarians tested him for everything under the sun and they found nothing. The poor little guy was skin and bones. We were feeding him another cat food and meat baby food and it still wasn't helping. We could hardly stand watching him get worse and worse, month by month. Then one day while I was doing my grocery shopping, I noticed they had Iams and bought some. He loved it! He has been eating Iams for three weeks now, and has almost entirely put his weight back on. He had a terrible rash around his chin and nose, and that's gone too!! He's almost back to normal and in only 3 weeks. What's in that stuff - magic?? We can't thank you enough. He's a sweet creature, and very dear to us and to see him feeling like his old self again means so much to us. Thank you, -Toni & Lou, Newfoundland, NJ"

"I just wanted to compliment you on the Multicat formula. I cut the coupon out of the paper a few Sundays ago and finally got around to using it. My adult cat is overweight but it is next to impossible to put her on a special diet. This product seems to be a great answer. They ate it right away in fact the second feeding bowl has another kind of food in it and they are eating the Iams first. Cats are so finicky so it is very impressive that they are eating the Iams rather than the kind of food they have been used to. A great product and a new customer. - Gwen "

"Your Iams food for overweight dogs is great. My dog Hannah is twelve years old and had become lethargic. After putting her on your product she lost weight and looks great. She hadn't been interested in playing for years, and now I had to buy her new toys to play with. Her fatty tumors have also shrunk. Thanks for giving me back my best friend. Sincerely, Kent Boise, ID"
