Alan,

I am not certain that anything that I have requested is a "monumental" undertaking, although I always remain willing to try to work things out. However, I am not willing to grant a thirty day extension of time for the Defendants to later file a motion without a single Defendant agreeing to produce at least some documents. I am happy to compromise, but this appears to me to be very much a one way street here. I would request the Defendants to provide me with a list of documents that they have no objection to providing and a list of the specific document requests that are problematic so that I will be able to prepare to discuss same with you next week.

Cathy
