1 they have asked for in discovery, which is what Your Honor
2 ruled at the motion to dismiss that that would be discoverable.
3 They have asked for receipts going back four years. My 4 plaintiffs are doing that now, as we speak. They have asked
5 for every food they have ever purchased, where they purchased
6 it. That will be produced in June. They'll have it well
7 before. I have already with this deposition schedule. They're 8 not being hoodwinked in any way. I'm not trying to do what the 9 defendants are doing right now.

10 I'm saying "I will provide you every food they 11 purchased during that time period, during the relevant time 12 period, where they purchased it, to the best of their 13 memory," and the receipts, I'm giving them the vet records.

14 This is not -- which, by the way, on our part it is 15 not -- they have also asked for every website they have ever
16 looked at. They want to know far more. This is not just a 17 one-sided thing here. The defense has gone way over on the 18 other side as well.

19 We're willing to give them that. We want them to be 20 prepared for the plaintiffs' depositions. All I'm saying is we 21 would like to be able to be prepared as well. My plaintiffs 22 know what they relied on.

23 In the tenor and spirit of the Federal Rules I am
24 entitled to discovery of what their advertising and marketing
25 materials say because I know for a fact that their marketing
