Attorneys for Plaintiffs

address the concern, and the date or time period during which the pet used each such medication or remedy.

Objection. The request is facially overbroad based upon the defined term “you” because the Plaintiffs would have to inquire as to a spouse, relatives, employees, etc. to determine whether any of these persons who are not parties to this action actually have any sort of information regarding the Plaintiffs companion cats or dogs health and/or illness. See Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59; Socas, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16683, *3 (“the Court may restrain any discovery requests that are overbroad or would be unduly burdensome to produce”); In re U. S. Financial Sec. Litigation, 74 F.R.D. at 498 (“to avoid oppressiveness, interrogatories must be tailored to discover only what is reasonable and necessary to the litigation at hand”); Aero Holdings, Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19817, at *16-17 (holding that an interrogatory was overbroad because party would have been required to identify many people who had “no relevant knowledge concerning” the case) (emphasis added); Brooks v. S.C. Johnson & Son, Inc., 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19395, at *7 (stating that the prevailing law of the Seventh Circuit is that parties are limited in their interrogatories to the identity and location of “persons having knowledge of relevant facts”) (emphasis added); Colo. Structures Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 63532, at *5 (interrogatory requesting plaintiff to identify all persons “who have any knowledge of any fact relating to the claims Plaintiffs are alleging against any Defendant” is “hopelessly broad” and must be revised); Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. 304, 313 (D.P.R. 1985) (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of “all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit” are overbroad or unduly burdensome) (internal quotations omitted); Pioneer Res. Corp., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38005, at *2 (holding that a request for documents identifying “any persons with knowledge about such offers” to buy or sell the defendant company is irrelevant); Woodford, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22438, at *2 (holding that interrogatories requesting defendant to “identify all witnesses with potential knowledge of the basis of your response” as well as the identity of “all witnesses past and present employees of CDC/CDCR who have personal knowledge of CDCR’s compliance with the [Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act]” are overbroad, unduly burdensome, and vague). While “[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .,” the concept of relevancy “should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in discovery.” Martinez v. Cornell Corrs. of Tex., 229 F.R.D. 215, 218 (D.N.M. 2005)(Browning, J.); Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29159, at *19-20; Wang’s Int’l, Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38701, at *4-5; Haas Co., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11141; GMC, 173 F.R.D.

Notwithstanding the objection, and without waiving it, as to her pets only, Ms. Davis will produce veterinarian records for the time period between May 9, 2003 and May 9, 2007 for all of the companion pets referenced in the response to interrogatory number 1 in lieu of a response per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(d).

4. For each pet identified in response to Interrogatory No. 1, please identify all foods, whether commercially available or not, provided by you to the pet since the date your care of it began and for each such food, state the brand and product name (if any), the name and address of the retail store where it was purchased (if applicable), the date or time period during which it was purchased (if applicable), the date or time period during which it was provided to the pet, and the amount and frequency with which the food was provided to the pet.

Objection. The request is facially overbroad based upon the defined term “you” and “your” because the Plaintiffs would have to inquire as to a spouse, relatives, employees, etc. to determine whether any of these persons who are not parties to this action actually have any sort of information regarding the purchase of food for the Plaintiffs’ companion cats or dogs. See Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59; Socas, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16683, *3 (“the Court may restrain any discovery requests that are overbroad or would be unduly burdensome to produce”); Aero Holdings, Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19817, at *16-17 (holding that an interrogatory was overbroad because party would have been required to identify many people who had “no relevant knowledge concerning” the case) (emphasis added); In re U. S. Financial Sec. Litigation, 74 F.R.D. at 498 (“to avoid oppressiveness, interrogatories must be tailored to discover only what is reasonable and necessary to the litigation at hand”); Woodford, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22438, at *2 (holding that interrogatories requesting defendant to “identify all witnesses with potential knowledge of the basis of your response” as well as the identity of “all witnesses past and present employees of CDC/CDCR who have personal knowledge of CDCR’s compliance with the [Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act]” are overbroad, unduly burdensome, and vague); Brooks, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19395, *7 (stating that the prevailing law of the Seventh Circuit is that parties are limited in their interrogatories to the identity and location of “persons having knowledge of relevant facts”) (emphasis added); Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. at 313 (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of “all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit” are overbroad or unduly burdensome”) (internal quotations omitted). While “[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .,” the concept of relevancy “should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in discovery.” Martinez v. Cornell Corrs. of Tex., 229 F.R.D. 215, 218 (D.N.M. 2005) (Browning, J.); Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29159, at *19-20; Wang’s Int’l, Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38701, at *4-5; Haas Co., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11141; GMC, 173 F.R.D. at 224.

The temporal scope of this interrogatory is also unlimited in time and is therefore overbroad since it encompasses information well beyond the relevant time period of the Fourth Amended Complaint. The relative time period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint is May 9, 2003 through May 9, 2007, which encompasses a four (4) year period of time. Cases in this jurisdiction have held that an appropriate time period for discovery is between 3 and 5 with 5 being the outermost edge of the proper scope of discovery. Ten (10) years well exceeds the outermost bound of the temporal scope of discovery. Avirgan, 116 F.R.D. at 593 (In limiting discovery to approximately four years, the court stated “there is no logical need to permit discovery into predicate acts alleged to have occurred ten or fifteen years ago” when the plaintiff has established that the requisite acts “occurred within a specified time frame”); Cherenfant, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 30458, *8 (in a discrimination case, the court held that a five year discovery time period was appropriate when it sufficiently covered the discriminatory acts in question); Cohen v. Status-One Invs., Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 74365, *2-3 (“if discovery is sought nationwide for a ten-year period, and the responding party objects on the grounds that only a five-year period limited to activities in the state of Florida is appropriate, the responding party shall provide responsive discovery falling within the five-year period as to the State of Florida”); Adkins v. Christie, 488 F.3d at 1330 (finding no abuse of discretion when trial court reduced discovery from a seven to five years to pertain to the relevant time period); Mawulawde v. Bd. of Regents, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 62700, *33-34 (stating that three to f

Notwithstanding the objection, the Plaintiffs will respond to this request for the time period between May 9, 2003 and May 9, 2007, which is the Class Period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint.

The following information applies to Ms. Davis’ pets only during the Class Period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint to the best of her recollection.
