This Web site was developed as a consumer education resource where pet owners can learn about pet nutrition and pet food ingredients, and compare the many pet food brands side by side.

Natura Pet Products does not encourage Internet sales. Therefore we do not keep a separate listing of who sells our products on the Internet. We prefer our customers go to their local independent retail pet food stores where you can review date codes for freshness, get the added knowledge of the store staff about our products, plus make a savings by avoiding the shipping cost. Any product purchased via the Internet is not guaranteed by Natura Pet Products and must be returned to the same Internet sales provider.

While it is possible that you can find an Internet dealer in your area by doing an Internet search, we encourage you to support your local hometown business people.
