20 Thereupon:

21 SUSAN PETERS,

22 A witness named in the notice heretofore
23 filed, being a witness of lawful age, and being first 24 duly sworn in the above cause, testified under oath as 25 follows:

1 brands at this time.

2 Q When did you start giving Odie human vitamins?

3 A Recently, over the last six months.

4 Q How long did you use the California Natural
5 Supplements with Odie?

6 A Not very long, she ate the bottle, or the 7 container, and I didn't buy anymore, so a week maybe.

8 Q Do you mean she ate it all at one time?

9 A Yes.

10 Q She got a hold of it and just ate it all?

11 A Yes.

12 Q I see.

13 MR. NIELD: She is very healthy.

14 BY MS. CAVERLY:

15 Q So for the California Natural Supplements you
16 purchased those one time, correct?

17 A That's right.

18 Q And that was sometime in 2006, yes?

19 A Yes.

20 Q From what store did you purchase the 21 California Natural Supplements?

22 A That would have been at PetSmart.

23 Q What location?

24 A I don't remember that. I shop -- that would
25 have been either in Arkansas or in Oklahoma.

1 best dog food in the world or pet food in the world.

2 I don't think that the ingredients are
3 actually as they are advertised to be. I pretty much
4 feel like I could buy a Purina product over-the-counter
5 at a lot less cost and have the same results.

6 Q Has Natura in any fashion ever represented to 7 you what results you would achieve from --

8 A Yes, they talked about it being a healthy
9 product, and when I see the ear infections and all of 10 the allergic reactions in my pet, I don't believe that 11 is the case.

12 Q After you purchased the California Natura
13 supplements from PetSmart, when was the next time that 14 you purchased a Natura product?

15 A It would have been on the cusp of 2006/2007.
16 My mom and I we like to shop as our -- my mother likes
17 to shop, I don't, so when I visit her over the holidays
18 between Christmas and New Year's, then to help get my 19 interest we go pet food shopping.

20 Q So over the Christmas New Year holidays, 2006
21 to 2007, you and your mother went and purchased a Natura
22 product, correct?

23 A Several.

24 Q Where did you go to purchase the products?

25 A We shopped at both PetSmart and PetCo and that

1 would be in Independence, I believe it lists as a Kansas
2 City, address but it's a suburb.

3 Q Kansas City, Kansas or Missouri?

4 A Missouri.

5 Q What products did you and your mother purchase
6 that were manufactured by Natura Pet Products from 7 PetSmart and PetCo at the end of 2006, beginning of 8 2007?

9 A I purchased the -- it's in a yellow bag,
10 Innova, I probably have to look at my responses, but the 11 red meat, the 95 percent, the canned one with chicken
12 and turkey; the reduced fat large breed, I think that
13 there is like seven all together, I am not sure exactly.

14 We will have to look back at my responses to 15 know for sure.

16 Q Which of the seven Natura products that you
17 purchased did you buy from PetSmart?

18 A I don't know.

19 Q Which of the seven products that you purchased
20 did you buy from PetCo?

21 A I don't know.

22 Q Other than PetSmart and PetCo, have you ever
23 purchased a Natura manufactured or distributed product
24 from any other store?

25 A I don't believe so.

1 Q And were your purchases -- Strike that. Other
2 than the purchase of the California Natural Supplements
3 in the fall-ish timeframe of 2006, in this period of 4 time during the holidays of 2006 to 2007, have you ever
5 purchased a Natura Pet Product manufactured or 6 distributed by them?

7 A I don't believe so.

8 Q Was it on a single day that you bought the 9 seven or so products from PetSmart and PetCo?

10 A I can't say that for sure. It was over the 11 holiday period, so I don't know that for sure.

12 Q Either on the same day or within a few days of 13 each other, correct?

14 A Yes.

15 Q What was your purpose in buying so many
16 different Natura Pet Products during that short period
17 of time?

18 A I don't like to shop. I didn't buy -- I was 19 purchasing -- I don't like to shop, I went with my mom,
20 and I bought an array to take home, and should have 21 lasted my dog quite - until I could get back for my 22 mom's birthday and we could do it again.

23 Q How long a period is that?

24 A About four months, three months probably.

25 Q Why did you buy so many different varieties?

1 Q And in your list if we go over to PetCo that
2 starts on page 31. Can you identify for me which of
3 these PetCo stores which you bought the Natura dog food
4 products that you have previously testified to?

5 A No.

6 Q Didn't you tell me it was with your mother in 7 Kansas City, Missouri?

8 A It was with my mother in Missouri. Whether it
9 was Kansas City or Independence, oh, I'm sorry, I should
10 have said better. Then, yes, I can identify it, PetCo,
11 I was looking at PetSmart.

12 Q So for PetCo your testimony is that you bought
13 the Natura products that you fed to your dog Odie at the 14 PetCo located at 4802 Noland Road Kansas City, correct?

15 A That is correct.

16 Q Now, for PetSmart - it sounds like you are a
17 ahead of me already on your answers - can you tell which
18 of the list of PetSmart stores you purchased Natura Pet
19 Products in?

20 A It would be either Independence or Kansas
21 City, but which one I am not sure.

22 Q So it's either the PetSmart store located at 23 4010 South Bolger Drive, Independence or the PetSmart
24 store located at 4802 Noland Road, Kansas City, correct?

25 A Correct.

1 Q PetCo and PetSmart are located at the exact
2 same location?

3 A No, no. Are they? No, that is an error.

4 Q That is a mistake?

5 A Yes.

6 Q Do you know which store, if either of these
7 PetSmart or PetCo, is located on Noland Road?

8 A They both are, but I don't know which store,
9 they are not in the same location.

10 Q But they are located near to each other on the 11 same strip?

12 A Uhm-hum, yes.

13 Q Does the fact that you bought the products
14 close in time to each other and that those two stores
15 are located on the same street refresh your memory that 16 you bought them both on the Noland Road locations?

17 A No.

18 Q Okay. If you turn to page 41 in your
19 interrogatory responses, please.

20 You have a list starting Food Bruno and Meeko
21 Ate about two thirds down the page; do you see that?

22 A Yes.

23 Q Now, when were you testifying earlier I
24 thought you had told me that those two dogs ate only
25 Diamond food while you owned them?

1 A No, I don't.

2 Q And as you look through that list you can't
3 see anything that is on that list that you think
4 shouldn't be on that list, correct?

5 A Nothing is jumping out at me.

6 Q Now, if we look at page 45 there is a list of 7 dog food that you fed to your boarded animals.

8 A Uhm-hum.

9 Q That list does not include any Natura
10 products, correct?

11 A That is correct.

12 Q And is it true that you have never fed any of 13 your boarded animals Natura products?

14 A That is correct.

15 Q How much total did you spend on the Natura
16 products that you purchased?

17 A I don't know.

18 Q Can you estimate it?

19 A No.

20 Q You don't have any receipts or any information
21 that would tell you how much you paid for the Natura
22 products that you bought?

23 A I don't remember.

24 Q You don't remember whether you have anything
25 or you just don't remember the price?

1 A I don't remember the price.

2 (BY Mr. Nield)

3 MS. CAVERLY: Can we go off the record for a
4 minute? How long are we? Right now? Go ahead and 5 take our lunch break now while we are going to 6 change the tapes.

7 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off video record
8 1:15 p.m.

9 (Whereupon, a short recess was had.)

10 THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video
11 record 2:06 p.m. Tape Number 3.

12 (BY Ms. Caverly)

13 BY MS. CAVERLY:

14 Q Ms. Peters, have you ever had any
15 communications either oral or written, even by email
16 with anyone who works for Natura?

17 A I am not sure.

18 Q Do you know of any time that you have had
19 contact with a Natura employee?

20 A Nothing stands out in my mind. I don't 21 recall.

22 Q Before you filed this lawsuit against Natura,
23 did you contact Natura in any way to ask them to change
24 their business practices?

25 A No, I figured that was company standard.

1 taken them to the vet?

2 A No.

3 Q Did the price that you paid for the Natura Pet
4 Products that you purchased have any bearing on your 5 purchase?

6 A No.

7 Q Can you recall whether you spent say $20, $50,
8 $100, $200 or any estimate of what you spent on the 9 Natura products that you bought at the end of 2006,
10 beginning of 2007 at PetSmart or Petco?

11 A I don't know.

12 Q Do you even have any sense in your mind that 13 they were expensive or inexpensive relative to the other
14 foods that you had to choose from?

15 MR. NIELD: It's vague and ambiguous.

16 THE WITNESS: I don't recall how it was 17 priced.

18 BY MS. CAVERLY:

19 Q Price was not a concern to you, correct?

20 A That is correct.

21 Q Do you feel that you got any benefits at all
22 from the Natura Pet Products that you fed to Odie?

23 A No.

24 Q Odie did stay Aleve for three or four months
25 eating those foods, correct?

PLAINTIFF, SUSAN PETERS' RESPONSES TO
DEFENDANT, MARS' INCORPORATED'S
FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES

PLAINTIFFS' OBJECTIONS TO DEFINITIONS IN DEFENDANT MARS INC.'S FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES

Definition # 1

The Plaintiffs object to the definition of “you” “yours” and “yourselves” because it is overbroad to the extent that it includes a “spouse, relative, officers, employees, agents, investigators, representatives or other persons acting, or purporting to act, on behalf of the Plaintiffs. For example, in the context of interrogatory number 6, Defendant Mars, Inc., requests the Plaintiffs to “identify each website or electronic community (including weblogs, internet bulletin boards, and listservs) which you have maintained or to which you have contributed during the past five (5) years and for each, state the registered name you used, the nature of the website or electronic community, the internet address (URL), and the date or period of time during which you maintained or contributed to it.” See Interrogatory number 6. Thus, based on this definition, as to only one interrogatory, each Plaintiff would have to interview a spouse, relatives, representatives, employees, etc. about whether they maintained or contributed to any sort of electronic internet communication whether or not it was related to this case or even a single issue in this case over a five (5) year period of time.” The definition makes each and every interrogatory overbroad and unduly burdensome for the Plaintiffs to formulate a response. Johnson v. Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59 (D. Kan. 2006) (“[a] request may be overly broad on its face ‘if it is couched in such broad language as to make arduous the task of deciding which of numerous documents may conceivably fall within its scope.’ A request seeking documents ‘pertaining to’ or ‘concerning’ a broad range of items ‘requires the respondent either to guess or move through mental gymnastics . . . to determine which of many pieces of paper may conceivably contain some detail, either obvious or hidden, within the scope of the request.’”). The unnecessary definitional complexity is no less problematic with interrogatories. In re U. S. Financial Sec. Litigation, 74 F.R.D. 497, 498 (S.D. Cal. 1975) (“to avoid oppressiveness, interrogatories must be tailored to discover only what is reasonable and necessary to the litigation at hand”); T&H Landscaping, LLC v. Colo. Structures Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 63532, *5 (D. Colo. 2007) (interrogatory requesting plaintiff to identify all persons “who have any knowledge of any fact relating to the claims Plaintiffs are alleging against any Defendant” is “hopelessly broad” and must be revised); Puerto Rico Aqueduct & Sewer Auth. v. Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. 304, 313 (D.P.R. 1985) (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of “all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit” are overbroad or unduly burdensome) (emphasis added); Alexander v. FBI, 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8859, *9 (D.D.C. 2000) (holding that a plaintiff’s interrogatory request for all documents that “in any way contain information relevant to” interrogatory answers is vague and overly broad because it does not allow the responding party to determine what documents plaintiff considers relevant).

Colo. Structures Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 63532, at *5 (interrogatory requesting plaintiff to identify all persons "who have any knowledge of any fact relating to the claims Plaintiffs are alleging against any Defendant" is "hopelessly broad" and must be revised); Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. 304, 313 (D.P.R. 1985) (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of "all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit" are overbroad or unduly burdensome) (internal quotations omitted); Pioneer Res. Corp., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38005, at *2 (holding that a request for documents identifying "any persons with knowledge about such offers" to buy or sell the defendant company is irrelevant); Woodford, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22438, at *2 (holding that interrogatories requesting defendant to "identify all witnesses with potential knowledge of the basis of your response" as well as the identity of "all witnesses past and present employees of CDC/CDCR who have personal knowledge of CDCR's compliance with the [Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act]" are overbroad, unduly burdensome, and vague). While "[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .," the concept of relevancy "should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in discovery." Martinez v. Cornell Corrs. of Tex., 229 F.R.D. 215, 218 (D.N.M. 2005)(Browning, J.); Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29159, at *19-20; Wang's Int'l, Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38701, at *4-5; Haas Co., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11141; GMC, 173 F.R.D.

Notwithstanding the objection, and without waiving it, as to her pets only, Ms. Peters will produce veterinarian bills for the time period between May 9, 2003 and May 9, 2007 for all of the companion pets referenced in the response to interrogatory number 1 in lieu of a response per Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(d).

4. For each pet identified in response to Interrogatory No. 1, please identify all foods, whether commercially available or not, provided by you to the pet since the date your care of it began and for each such food, state the brand and product name (if any), the name and address of the retail store where it was purchased (if applicable), the date or time period during which it was purchased (if applicable), the date or time period during which it was provided to the pet, and the amount and frequency with which the food was provided to the pet.

Objection. The request is facially overbroad based upon the defined term "you" and "your" because the Plaintiffs would have to inquire as to a spouse, relatives, employees, etc. to determine whether any of these persons who are not parties to this action actually have any sort of information regarding the purchase of food for the Plaintiffs' companion cats or dogs. See Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59; Socas, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 16683, *3 ("the Court may restrain any discovery requests that are overbroad or would be unduly burdensome to produce"); Aero Holdings, Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19817, at *16-17 (holding that an interrogatory was overbroad because party would have been required to identify many people who had "no relevant knowledge concerning" the case) (emphasis added); In re U. S. Financial Sec. Litigation, 74 F.R.D. at 498 ("to avoid oppressiveness, interrogatories must be tailored to discover only what is reasonable and necessary to the litigation at hand"); Woodford, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22438, at *2 (holding that interrogatories requesting defendant to "identify all witnesses with potential knowledge of the basis of your response" as well as the identity of "all witnesses past and present employees of CDC/CDCR who have personal knowledge of CDCR's compliance with the [Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act]" are overbroad, unduly burdensome, and vague); Brooks, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19395, *7 (stating that the prevailing law of the Seventh Circuit is that parties are limited in their interrogatories to the identity and location of "persons having knowledge of relevant facts") (emphasis added); Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. at 313 (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of "all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit" are overbroad or unduly burdensome") (internal quotations omitted). While "[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .," the concept of relevancy "should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in discovery." Martinez v. Cornell Corrs. of Tex., 229 F.R.D. 215, 218 (D.N.M. 2005)(Browning, J.); Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29159, at *19-20; Wang's Int'l, Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38701, at *4-5; Haas Co., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11141; GMC, 173 F.R.D. at 224.

The temporal scope of this interrogatory is also unlimited in time and is therefore overbroad since it encompasses information well beyond the relevant time period of the Fourth Amended Complaint. The relative time period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint is May 9, 2003 through May 9, 2007, which encompasses a four (4) year period of time. Cases in this jurisdiction have held that an appropriate time period for discovery is between 3 and 5 with 5 being the outermost edge of the proper scope of discovery. Ten (10) years well exceeds the outermost bound of the temporal scope of discovery. Avirgan, 116 F.R.D. at 593 (In limiting discovery to approximately four years, the court stated "there is no logical need to permit discovery into predicate acts alleged to have occurred ten or fifteen years ago" when the plaintiff has established that the requisite acts "occurred within a specified time frame"); Cherenfant, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 30458, *8 (in a discrimination case, the court held that a five year discovery time period was appropriate when it sufficiently covered the discriminatory acts in question); Cohen v. Status-One Invs., Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 74365, *2-3 ("if discovery is sought nationwide for a ten-year period, and the responding party objects on the grounds that only a five-year period limited to activities in the state of Florida is appropriate, the responding party shall provide responsive discovery falling within the five-year period as to the State of Florida"); Adkins v. Christie, 488 F.3d at 1330 (finding no abuse of discretion when trial court reduced discovery from a seven to five years to pertain to the relevant time period); Mawulawde v. Bd. of Regents, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 62700, *33-34 (stating that three to f

Notwithstanding the objection, the Plaintiffs will respond to this request for the time period between May 9, 2003 and May 9, 2007, which is the Class Period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint.

The following information applies to Ms. Peters' pets only during the Class Period defined in the Fourth Amended Complaint to the best of her recollection.

5. Please identify yourself, including your full name and any prior names used, all electronic identities used at any time during the past five (5) years (including email addresses, user names, or screen names), all addresses at which you have lived for the past ten (10) years, your date of birth, and your driver's license number and state of issuance.

Objection. The Plaintiffs object because the request is facially overbroad based upon the defined term “you” and “your” because the Plaintiffs would have to inquire as to a spouse, relatives, employees, etc. to determine whether any of these persons who are not parties to this action actually have any sort of information regarding electronic identities that they used during the past five (5) years, which is wholly irrelevant. *See Kraft Foods N. LEXIS 19817, at *16-17 (holding that an interrogatory was overbroad because party would have been required to identify many people who had “no relevant knowledge concerning” the case) (emphasis added); Brooks, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19395, at *7 (stating that the prevailing law of the Seventh Circuit is that parties are limited in their interrogatories to the identity and location of “persons having knowledge of relevant facts”) (emphasis added); Rivera v. NIBCO, Inc., 384 F.3d 822, 825 (9th Cir. 2004) (discovery of plaintiff's birthplace is irrelevant); *Myricks v. The definition of “you” and “yours” would also require the Plaintiffs to divulge the date of birth, social security numbers and drivers license information of a spouse, relatives, agents, employees, etc., which is highly confidential and completely irrelevant since these persons are not parties to this lawsuit and such information cannot be obtained without a properly issued subpoena under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45. While “[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .,” the concept of relevancy “should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in

NATURA PET PRODUCTS' INTERROGATORIES

PLAINTIFFS' OBJECTIONS TO DEFINITIONS

Definition # 1

The Plaintiffs object to the definition of “you” “yours” and “yourselves” because it is overbroad to the extent that it includes a “spouse, relative, officers, employees, agents, investigators, representatives or other persons acting, or purporting to act, on behalf of the Plaintiffs. For example, in the context of interrogatory number 1, the Defendants request the names, addresses, telephone numbers, place of employment of any person who has, claims to have or who you believe may have knowledge or information regarding any fact alleged in the pleadings ... filed in this action, or any fact underlying the subject matter of this action.” See Interrogatory number 1. Thus, based on this definition, as to only one interrogatory, each Plaintiff would have to interview a spouse, relatives, representatives, etc. about 1,281 paragraphs in six (6) pleadings and “any fact underlying the subject matter of the action.” The definition makes each and every interrogatory overbroad and unduly burdensome for the Plaintiffs to formulate a response. Johnson v. Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59 (D. Kan. 2006) (“[a] request may be overly broad on its face ‘if it is couched in such broad language as to make arduous the task of deciding which of numerous documents may conceivably fall within its scope.’ A request seeking documents ‘pertaining to’ or ‘concerning’ a broad range of items ‘requires the respondent either to guess or move through mental gymnastics . . . to determine which of many pieces of paper may conceivably contain some detail, either obvious or hidden, within the scope of the request.’”); Diversified Products Corp. v. Sports Center Co., 42 F.R.D. 3, 4 (D. Md. 1967) (holding that the use of unreasonable definitions may render an interrogatory overly burdensome); Griffin v. Memphis Sales & Mfg. Co., 38 F.R.D. 54, 57 (N.D. Miss. 1965) (stating that an inquiry into the identity of plaintiff’s relatives, when there is nothing in the pleadings or briefs suggesting that they have a connection with the controversy, is irrelevant and not reasonably calculated to lead to discovery of admissible evidence); City of Wichita v. Aero Holdings, Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19817, *16-17 (D. Kan. 2000) (holding that an interrogatory requesting City to “identify any and all persons the City has contacted or interviewed with” was overbroad because City would have been required to identify many people who had “no relevant knowledge concerning” the case) (emphasis added).

Definition # 2

This definition expands each and every interrogatory such that the singular includes the plural “and vice versa” and the words “and” as well as “or” are both “conjunctive and disjunctive.” If that were not already broad enough, the word “including” is defined to mean “without limitation.” The definition makes each and every interrogatory overbroad and unduly burdensome for the Plaintiffs to formulate a response. Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. at 658-59; Diversified Products Corp., 42 F.R.D. at 4 (holding that the use of unreasonable definitions may render an interrogatory overly burdensome).

(N.D. Ind. 2007) (holding that a request for “all documents...pertaining to” state action over the course of five years is “vague and overbroad”); Wagener, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21190, at *16 (holding that a request for documents that “relate to” anything about the pay amendments or program in question is “tremendously overbroad”); Western Res., Inc., 2001 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24647, at *10 (holding that requests using the “omnibus” phrase “relate to” are “overbroad and unduly burdensome”); Clow Corp., 108 F.R.D. at 313 (holding that interrogatories seeking the identification of “all persons who have knowledge of any facts pertaining to this lawsuit” are overbroad or unduly burdensome) (internal quotations omitted).

Finally, given that the Plaintiffs largely contend that the Defendants have no basis for their marketing representations as alleged in the Fourth Amended Complaint, the Plaintiffs cannot provide information when none exists, as the Defendants are well aware.

Literally thousands of pages of documents were reviewed and analyzed and hundreds of hours went into the preparation of the Fourth Amended Complaint over a period of many months. It would be extremely difficult to impossible isolate “[a]ll” of the documents out of the thousands of pages that were reviewed and analyzed to prepare the pleading and the request that the Plaintiffs do so is improper. Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. at 658-59; Western Resources v. Union Pacific R.R. Co., 2001 U.S. Dist LEXIS 24647 (D. Kan Dec. 5, 2001) (in a breach of contract suit, court found overly broad on its face a request for documents that referred or related to any alleged actual breaches of the contract at issue, the plaintiff’s reasons for breaching the contract at issue and communications between the defendant and any other person regarding termination of the contract).

Moreover, as the Defendants are well aware, many of the documents are already in the Defendants’ possession. For example, the Defendants already have all of the exhibits attached to all of the Plaintiffs’ pleadings, which obviously constitute documents identified in, referred to, or relied upon to prepare the Fourth Amended Complaint yet the Defendants failed to exclude these documents.

Other publications upon which the Plaintiffs’ counsel relied are lengthy documents such as the American Association of Feed Control Officials 2007 Official Publication (“AAFCO Publication”). The Defendants know that this publication was used to prepare the Fourth Amended Complaint because they have acknowledged same in documents filed with the Court and at hearings.

Notwithstanding the objection, and without waiving it, the Plaintiffs will make the AAFCO Publication and similar lengthy documents available for review and copying at a mutually convenient time, if the Defendants require it.

The Plaintiffs will also produce the documents that they relied upon in framing the issues in the Complaint to the best of the Plaintiff’s counsel’s recollection in lieu of a response pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(d).

5. Please state each item of damage that you claim, whether as an affirmative claim or as a setoff, and include in your answer: the count or defense to which the item of damages relates;

the category into which each item of damages falls, i.e., general damages, special or consequential damages (such as lost profits), interest, and any other relevant categories; the factual basis for each item of damages; and an explanation of how you computed each item of damages, including any mathematical formula used.

Objection. This is a boiler plate interrogatory that is not tailored to the specific facts in this case and is thus intended to harass the Plaintiffs, at least in part. For example, nowhere in the Fourth Amended Complaint do the Plaintiffs ever seek lost profits. The interrogatory is thus overly broad and seeks information that is wholly irrelevant. In re U. S. Financial Sec. Litigation, 74 F.R.D. at 498 (“to avoid oppressiveness, interrogatories must be tailored to discover only what is reasonable and necessary to the litigation at hand”); Phillips v. Irvin, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 64962, *15-16 (S.D. Ala. 2007) (holding that an interrogatory which inquired into fraudulent dealings, when fraud was not an issue in the case, was irrelevant); Anderson v. Hartley, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 74388, *4 (E.D. Cal. 2006) (stating that when an interrogatory propounds general questions not tailored specifically to the case, a specific answer is not required); Nalco Chem. Co. v. Hydro Technologies, 149 F.R.D. 686, 698 (E.D. Wis. 1993) (holding that interrogatories not tailored to the relevant claims are overbroad and may “require the defendants to produce voluminous amounts of information not relevant to the remaining claims in this lawsuit”).

The Plaintiffs object because the request is facially overbroad based upon the defined term “you” because the Plaintiffs would have to inquire as to a spouse, relatives, employees, etc. to determine whether any of these persons who are not a party to this action may actually have any sort of damages, which is an irrelevant inquiry. Kraft Foods N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 648, 658-59. Aero Holdings, Inc., 2000 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19817, at *16-17 (holding that an interrogatory was overbroad because party would have been required to identify many people who had “no relevant knowledge concerning” the case); Woodford, 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22438, at *2 (holding that interrogatories requesting defendant to “identify all witnesses with potential knowledge of the basis of your response” as well as the identity of “all witnesses past and present employees of CDC/CDCR who have personal knowledge of CDCR's compliance with the [Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act]” are overbroad, unduly burdensome, and vague); Brooks, 1990 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19395, at *7 (stating that the prevailing law of the Seventh Circuit is that parties are limited in their interrogatories to the identity and location of “persons having knowledge of relevant facts”) (emphasis added); Hydro Technologies, 149 F.R.D. at 698 (holding that interrogatories not tailored to the relevant claims are overbroad and may “require the defendants to produce voluminous amounts of information not relevant to the remaining claims in this lawsuit”). While “[t]he legal tenet that relevancy in the discovery context is broader than in the context of admissibility . . .,” the concept of relevancy “should not be misapplied so as to allow fishing expeditions in discovery.” Martinez v. Cornell Corrs. of Tex., 229 F.R.D. 215, 218 (D.N.M. 2005)(Browning, J.). Marathon Ashland Petroleum LLC, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29159, at *19-20; Wang's Int'l, Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38701, at *4-5; Haas Co., 1998 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11141; GMC, 173 F.R.D. at 224.
