

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF FLORIDA

JOHN B. THOMPSON,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 07-21256 (Judge Adalberto Jordan)

THE FLORIDA BAR and DAVA J. TUNIS, et alia,

Defendants.

SUPPLEMENT TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO VACATE DISMISSAL ORDER

COMES NOW plaintiff, John B. Thompson, hereinafter Thompson, as an attorney on his own behalf, and moves this court, pursuant to Rule 60 (b), Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to vacate this court's order of dismissal herein on the basis of fraud, stating:

At the very first hearing in this matter, Thompson raised the fact, not the surmise, that The Florida Bar's refusal to remove Bar Governor Ben Kuehne as Thompson's designated reviewer was proof of bad faith.

When Thompson said that, Judge Jordan dismissively waved his hand and said, "I don't want to hear about Ben Kuehne."

This day the entire nation is hearing about Ben Kuehne, as he has just been indicted for money laundering on behalf of an enterprise that has less money than Thompson's Bar complainants. This court has to be the most naïve jurist in America if it thinks that thieves who steal in one setting may not steal in another.

The driving forces behind the Bar assault upon Thompson are two lobbying firms that spend money in order to influence, improperly, government.

This court has no choice—no choice—but to vacate its dismissal order herein. The Bar’s bad faith pigeon—Ben Kuehne—has come home to roost this day: It was fraud, patent fraud, for The Bar to allow this thief to sit as Thompson’s designated reviewer during the period of time The Bar knew that this ideological extremist was about to be indicted by the federal government. The Bar knew of the target letter. The Bar knowingly used this thief to destroy Thompson’s legal career. It is the duty—the duty—of this court to act upon what is now the patently clear bad faith of The Bar in the person of Ben Kuehne.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that this filing has been served upon record counsel herein by the court’s electronic filing system.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'jbt', is written over a horizontal line.

JOHN B. THOMPSON, Plaintiff
Attorney, Florida Bar #231665
1172 South Dixie Hwy., Suite 111
Coral Gables, Florida 33146
Phone: 305-666-4366
amendmentone@comcast.net