Case Numbers SC 07 - 80 and 07- 354

JOHN B. THOMPSON,

Respondent.

RESPONDENT'S EMERGENCY MOTION FOR CONTINUANCE OF AUGUST 9 STATUS CONFERENCE

COMES NOW respondent, and moves this court, on an emergency basis, for a continuance of the August 9 status conference/hearings herein, stating:

1. Thompson's wife, Patricia, a partner at the Miami law firm of Carlton, Fields, was admitted Friday to Doctors Hospital with a serious complication of her cancer treatment—a bowel obstruction caused by scarring attendant to the tumor removal.

2. She may require major surgery again, within the next few days. She is this minute on a table in the Radiology Department being tested with a high-tech diagnostic methodology to ascertain how severe the problem is and as to whether surgery is necessary. Thompson will return to her in minutes, after this latest test is done.

3. Thompson asked for a continuance before, and this court denied it, even though his wife was going through arduous ovarian cancer treatment at that time, which treatment has made this complication a reality.

4. The issue is not "how much time Mr. Thompson has," as the always thoughtful and cordial and helpful Ms. Tuma put it, but whether Thompson can concentrate sufficiently on the task at hand on Thursday, given what is the medical danger posed to his wife, the details of which can be verified if the court wants to know, and in light of the fact that Thompson's erstwhile and possibly present lawyer is missing.

5. Because The Bar is more intent upon chasing after Christian activists than punishing unethical lawyers, Thompson finds himself having to split his limited time and energy between running to and from the hospital, taking care of their son, and dealing with the psychosis stunt of The Bar. Add to that the fact that a certain gay lawyer/SLAPP complainant who admits marijuana use in court filings is now running around stating that Thompson is a pornographer, a homosexual, and other lies, all because The Bar has encouraged him to do so, by its patting of this fellow on the back. Ms. Tuma then suggest that Thompson has time to deal with all of this simultaneously. That, of course, is the plan.

6. Ms. Tuma's expertise as a cancer crisis counselor notwithstanding, Thompson does not have either the time or the ability to participate in a three-hour hearing Thursday at which the robotic Ms. Tuma is going to read, as if from a dictionary, Bar Rules that she will explain don't mean what they say. My wife is in trouble, this court couldn't care less, as indicated by its past conduct, and I am simply asking that this referee, for no other reason than what might be its self-centered concern for its own reputation, postpone this status conference set for August 9 until such time as his wife is out of danger.

7. During that time The Florida Bar can deal with its own regulatory bowel obstruction in Tallahassee caused by shredding and ingesting multiple copies of the Bill of Rights.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have provided this to Sheila Tuma, The Florida Bar, 1200 Edgewater Drive, Orlando, Florida, 7th day of August, 2007.

Re: Federal Civil Rights Lawsuit against You Personally and Your Status Conference

Dear Judge Tunis:

Re the above, I'm not attending the latter because of the former. I got a call from Judge Jordan's law clerk just this morning, and he's scheduling a hearing on my preliminary injunction motion.

I would suggest that you might want to hold off on more of your non-hearings in the meantime, especially since you're the target in the federal action, not I.

I hope you find something useful to do at 1 today. I know I will, which is why I shan't be there in your courtroom.

Regards, Jack Thompson
