Hi Joel,

That is correct. Per our prior correspondence, we are not expecting any production from Suddenlink at this time. I will follow up with you if we don't get what we need from Motorola.

Best regards,
Jill

Jill:

Since the compliance date specified in the subpoena is this Friday, I would like to confirm that 1) Apple needs no information from Suddenlink, and 2) that Suddenlink does not need to respond by the 16th as specified in the subpoena.

Hope all is well,

- Joel

Hi Joel,

Thanks for confirming that Suddenlink has no information responsive to Apple's subpoena with the exception of a handful of technical manuals and a contract with Motorola, which you expect to be produced by Motorola. Based on our conversation and your representation that no one at Suddenlink has knowledge regarding the software loaded on the set top boxes provided to you by Motorola, we will not be pursuing further requests from you at this time. As I mentioned on the phone, however, if it turns out that Motorola does not produce the documents you referenced, we may ask you to produce copies.

Best regards,
Jill

Hi Joel,

The extension you suggest is fine. Here is an amended subpoena that reflects that date and the correct jurisdiction. Please let me know immediately if you are not authorized to receive service on behalf of Suddenlink so we can serve this through formal channels.

Best regards,
Jill

Dear Ms. Ho:

It was a pleasure speaking with you this afternoon. I appreciate your willingness to work with Suddenlink regarding the scope and timeline for Suddenlink's compliance and objections to the subpoena. As we discussed, due to the impending holiday, Suddenlink would appreciate a few weeks extension in order to respond to the subpoena. The client informed me that the responsible members of their IT department will be returning from vacation towards the middle of next week. Accordingly, Suddenlink proposes Friday, December 16, 2011 as the new deadline for responding to Apple's subpoena. Please let me know if this date works for you. As discussed, we will be in contact during the interim period regarding the scope of the subpoena.

I raised the procedural issue regarding the issuing Court with the client. As I indicated on the phone, due to Apple's flexibility, in general, Suddenlink does not view this as a major concern. Nevertheless, should Apple require a deposition, Suddenlink will request that Apple provide a properly issued subpoena. Finally, in the event you decide that you will no longer need any information from Suddenlink, we would appreciate prompt notice.

Thank you again for your consideration. If you have any questions, please call me at 314.726.7509.

Sincerely,

Joel R. Samuels
