HOTFILE IS BECOMING SCAM : STAY AWAY

Hello guys,

Just to warn you that now hotfile is deleting any account with files violating copyright.

Here is the mail you'll receive :

Your account has been terminated due to repeated copyright infringement violations.

And that's not it!

All your earnings will go into hotfile's pocket. They won't send you a dime. There will be no warning.

You won't be able to access your account, it'll be deleted, with all your files, instantly.

AdChoices

If your account was a premium one you'll lose it definitely, even if you've just renewed it, you're fucked.

And last but not least, if you own a website your url will be banned for life.

Hotfile was a good site in the days, now it's the worst scam ever, even worst than storage.to was...

So to everyone : go to any other hosting service, Hotfile is ancient history.

Massive account terminations. Lots of people reporting it. It seems they are scared with the recent MPAA lawsuit.

*policy of terminating accounts - update
2011-02-19
hotfile.com has always maintained a policy of terminating the accounts of users found to have engaged in repeated copyright infringement. Our terms of service, to which all users must agree, prohibit using hotfile.com to share content to which users do not have intellectual property rights. Recently, we have become concerned that despite these policies, some users persist in attempting to use hotfile.com to share materials to which they do not have the necessary rights. Therefore, we have implemented a more aggressive policy of terminating the accounts of users who are the subject of repeated complaints of infringement.

Please ensure that you have all necessary rights to any content that you share with others using hotfile.com.*

it's time to say bye bye to hot file...

You thought they would pay first and then terminate your account?

Hotfile owner is getting rich at our expenses. Bastard.

I read a number of post regarding this account suspension. Hotfile is very much popular and the reason was copyright violation then i think in near future Filesonic users will face this same problem(just my opinion).
