Policy of Terminating Accounts - Update

2011-02-19

Hotfile.com has always maintained a policy of terminating the accounts of users found to have engaged in repeated copyright infringement.

Our Terms of Service, to which all users must agree, prohibit using Hotfile.com to share content to which users do not have intellectual property rights. Recently, we have become concerned that despite these policies, some users persist in attempting to use Hotfile.com to share materials to which they do not have the necessary rights. Therefore, we have implemented a more aggressive policy of terminating the accounts of users who are the subject of repeated complaints of infringement.

Please ensure that you have all necessary rights to any content that you share with others using Hotfile.com.
