

unless the prisoner is under imminent danger of serious physical injury.

The Eleventh Circuit has upheld the constitutionality of section 1915(g) in concluding the provision does not violate an inmate's right of access to the courts, the doctrine of separation of powers, an inmate's right to due process of law, or an inmate's right to equal protection. Rivera v. Allin, 144 F.3d 719, 721-27 (11th Cir. 1998). Moreover, the prisoner must allege a present danger, as opposed to a past danger, to proceed under the imminent danger exception to section 1915(g). Medberry v. Butler, 185 F.3d 1189, 1193 (11th Cir. 1999).

As Plaintiff is aware from his other federal lawsuits, he is subject to the "three strikes" provision. See Ates v. Deal, 1:16-cv-2696-TWT-JCF (N.D. Ga. July 29, 2016) (listing strikes); Ates v. Arnold, 1:16-cv-604-UNA (D.D.C. Apr. 1, 2016) (same); Ates v. Adams, 6:15-cv-100-JRH-RSB (S.D. Ga. Jan. 12, 2016) (same). Because Plaintiff has more than three strikes, he cannot proceed in forma pauperis in the instant case unless he qualifies for the "imminent danger of serious physical injury" exception to section 1915(g). Plaintiff's allegations patently do not satisfy the "imminent danger of serious physical injury" exception.

Based on the foregoing, Plaintiff's presumed request to proceed in forma pauperis is DENIED and the instant action is DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE. If Plaintiff wishes to bring a new civil rights action, he may do so by submitting a new complaint form and the entire $400.00 filing fee. As the Eleventh Circuit has stated, "a prisoner cannot simply pay the filing fee after being denied in forma pauperis status. He must pay the filing fee at the time he initiates the suit.” Dupree v. Palmer, 284 F.3d 1234, 1236 (11th Cir. 2002).

SO ORDERED, this 16th day of DECEMBER, 2016.
