OPINION & ORDER

On May 7, 2010, the parties in this case appeared in chambers for a hearing regarding Plaintiff’s motion to seal and Defendants’ motion to seal, both filed with this chambers pursuant to its revised case instructions. The court allowed the parties to seal some documents but not others. A more in depth discussion concerning the court’s decision regarding the motions to seal can be found in the transcript of that hearing, as the transcript serves as the order of the court. On July 1, 2009, the court signed a stipulated protective order, which allowed the parties to designate certain documents as “confidential” or “highly confidential.” Docket Entry [46]. The protective order states that “any party wishing to file documents and other information which has been produced” and designated as “confidential information” or “highly confidential information – attorney’s eyes only” must file a motion
